LANDON'S STRENGTH.

The unforced strength of Gov. Landon is the most significant fact of the pre-convention campaign. In all the polls he has registered over 50 per cent of the Republican votes and this indorsement has come to him without machine effort, without trading or grabbing and without effort to discredit or destroy competitors.

Landon's strength is especially significant because it is a recognition by the rank and file of Republicans that he is a man of their own kind, a typical American. The Tammany boss who sits at Mr. Roosevelt's right hand stumbled upon this fact without knowing its meaning when he sneered at Landon as merely "the governor of a typical prairie state." But the people of a typical prairie state are the same sort of Americans as live in the homes, the farms, the towns and cities of Vermont or New Jersey, Ohio or Oregon, and in fact throughout the nation. They are typical Americans, the stuff of which the nation is made. Sectional differences of custom and tradition and varied interests do not divide them in the fundamentals. In conscience and character, in devotion to their common principles they are one, they understand one another. They are typical Americans and there is no better human stuff in the world.

Of this stuff Gov. Landon is made. He is a typical American and the Americans recognize him as their own kind. The effort to discredit him with whispered charges of reactionary support has petered out. Landon is obviously neither a reactionary of the brand that deserves its unpopularity and which Republican leadership must avoid, nor does he belong to the lunatic fringe which now controls the Democratic machine. He is old enough to be mature in judgment and young enough to feel the spirit of the present and to be vigorous in attack upon the problems before the nation. He has demonstrated his capacity in the affairs of private life, making his way to honorable success without the aid of hereditary wealth or social influence, and he has proved his public spirit by turning from the pursuit of money to the duties of public life.

These are the qualities of typical Americans, in the prairie states and in all the other states. Landon's strength is the strength of the typical American and he shows it in nothing more clearly than in his refusal to make internecine war among his competitors. The supporters of his competitors can more readily and solidly be rallied to him than to one who is supported by only five or ten delegates.

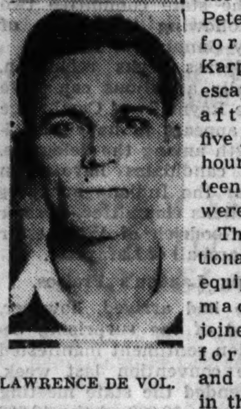
INSANE FELONS LED BY KARPIS EX-AID ESCAPE

16 Rout Guards at Minnesota Prison.

St. Peter, Minn., June 7.—(AP)—Sixteen inmates of the criminal ward of the asylum for the insane at St. Peter, led by a former Barker-Karpis gangster, escaped tonight after slugging five guards. Five hours later fourteen of them still were at large.



LAWRENCE DE VOL.

Thirty-five National Guardsmen equipped with machine guns joined a large force of police and state officers in the search for the fugitives. The hunt centered in the brushy bottomlands of the Minnesota river, which skirts the asylum grounds.

De Vol Given Life Sentence.

Ringleader of the fugitives was Lawrence De Vol, alias George Barton, transferred here from Stillwater state penitentiary last December. De Vol, once an associate of the notorious Alvin Karpis and the Barker brothers, was sentenced to life on Jan. 9, 1933, for aiding in the robbery of the Third Northwestern National bank in Minneapolis, which resulted in the slaying of three persons, including two policemen. De Vol pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced to life. He also is wanted in Kirksville, Mo., for murder.

The alarm sent scores of armed men into action. Residents of the countryside barricaded their homes. They took precautions at the request of authorities, who emphasized that the fleeing men were armed with clubs, knives, and possibly firearms.

Within half an hour of the break two of the inmates were picked up without a struggle by guards. They were Ben Drussell and William O'Neil.

Machine Gun Squad on Guard.

Among the fourteen still at liberty were two other bank robbers—Donald Reader and Tony Smith. Like De Vol, they had been transferred here as dangerous mental defectives. Albert [Scarface] Sareko, sentenced to life in 1931 for the murder of a theater employé during a holdup in Minneapolis in 1930.

A machine gun detail was posted at the entrance to the hospital grounds on the theory that some of the escaped men might try to free others in the criminal ward.

In a carefully conceived plot the sixteen broke for liberty shortly after 7 p. m. Five guards in the criminal ward on the second floor were overpowered. Six of the inmates leaped upon the unarmed attendants, slugged them with chair legs which they had concealed in their clothing.

Lock Guards in Small Room.

Then the prisoners locked the guards in a small room, broke open a supply room, seized tools to pry open a barred window, and took a fire hose which they used to slide to the ground about twenty feet below. Then the convicts scaled a ten foot steel fence and six of them seized a parked coupé in which sat Miss Frieda Marske of Mankato. She was pushed into the road and the fugitives raced away in the machine, while the others fled on foot. One report to authorities was that several of the inmates were picked up by a large automobile near the hospital grounds.

The general alarm of the break sent guards, sheriff officers, and police hurrying to the scene. They were joined by thirty-five members of a machine gun company, commanded by Capt. Clifford Nutter of St. Peter.

Gov. Floyd B. Olson, spending the week-end at his summer camp at Gull lake, 200 miles north of here, ordered out the guardsmen.

Bridegroom Is Unhappy, but Does His Best

When a hundred invited guests arrived yesterday afternoon in Good Fellows' hall at 4458 South Fairfield avenue they found an air of deep solemnity prevailing.

This was strange. The invitations had stated that Paul Zoellner of 4249 South Francisco avenue and Miss June Geisler of 4238 South Francisco avenue were to be married in the Church of the Five Holy Martyrs at 3:30 p. m., and that their wedding reception would be held in the hall at 5 o'clock.

In some respects, it is true, the room seemed normally arranged for such an affair. The afternoon sun glinted upon snowy tablecloths on which were piled good things to eat. Three barrels of beer faced the guests with an air of rotund mellowness. Upstairs an orchestra was playing.

Sad Amid Gay Surroundings.

But the bridegroom did not look happy. Neither did the bride's father, Karl Geisler, nor the two daughters and the four sons who were helping him and Zoellner welcome the guests. The reason they did not look happy was that they were not happy. And they were unhappy because [1] the bride was not present and [2] there had been no wedding.

Slowly the news circulated among the guests. Miss Geisler, who is 22 years old and a former high school student, slipped away from home at 10 a. m. yesterday and was not heard from again until late in the evening.

Nobody, it seemed, knew why she had vanished. She had laid out her wedding gown on a bed, she had discussed the future with Zoellner when he called a little after 9 a. m., she had remarked to her father that she was going out to buy some bread. Then she disappeared.

Everybody Has His Guess.

Some of the guests suggested that she might have been kidnaped. Others thought she might have decided that, after all, she didn't want to be married. A third guess was that she might have suffered a nervous breakdown. Only one guest presented any facts. That was Edward Konkel of 4249 South Francisco avenue.

"I saw June get off an Archer avenue car at Dearborn and Randolph about 10:45 in the morning," he said. "She walked toward the lake."

In view of these strange circumstances the police had been asked to search for Miss Geisler.

About all these things the tongues of the guests wagged until there was a formal interruption: Zoellner, the 26 year old bridegroom who was to have been, made a brief but pointed speech.

"The food's here," he said, "and the beer. You folks haven't made any arrangements for dinner. Why shouldn't we sit down and eat and drink?"

Then the Bride Walks In.

The suggestion was enthusiastically accepted. The victuals were consumed and so was the beer. The weddingless wedding party was in full blast at 10:50 p. m. when the missing bride walked in.

"I was kidnaped at 43d street and Archer avenue when I went for the wedding cake," she said. "Two men kept me a prisoner and took me to Gary. They rode me around all day and dumped me out at State and Lake streets tonight. I came home in a taxicab and right over here."

Miss Geisler declared she didn't know the men, although her brother Edward said privately he believed a former suitor had abducted her.

The guests and Brother Edward wanted to have a midnight wedding, but the bridegroom vetoed this.

"We'll wait a couple of weeks," he said.

MAJOR IRA EAKER FLIES 'BLIND' ACROSS U. S. IN ARMY PLANE

Los Angeles, Cal., June 7.—(AP)—Maj. Ira C. Eaker of the army air corps set his single-seated army pursuit plane down here today after a totally "blind" flight across the country.

Escorted by Maj. William E. Kepner, also from the Montgomery, Ala. base, in a similar Boeing P-12 ship, Maj. Eaker completed a test flight that began unannounced at New York last Wednesday noon.

By easy stages, owing to the limited gasoline supply in the small ships, the two officers flew the 2,600 miles of airway, Maj. Eaker in a hooded cabin relying soley on instruments.

"A," "B," AND "C" TRIPLETS NAMED FOR 3 DOCTORS

Bloomington, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—Babies "A," "B," and "C," triplets born May 30 to Mr. and Mrs. Don Wheeler of Farmer City, finally had names today.

Baby "A" is now John, named for Dr. John H. Zigler of Farmer City, who was in attendance at the birth. Baby "B" is Lester, named for Dr. Lester P. Hulich of Mansfield, who assisted in the delivery. Baby "C" is Geraldine, named for Dr. Gerald M. Cline, Bloomington pediatrician, in whose care the babies have been while at Brokaw hospital here.

Display All but Priceless Gem from Old Peru

New York, June 7.—(AP)—In a lofty, gilded hotel suite, Warren Piper, a Chicago jeweler, today displayed a great, glittering diadem which he described as the storied and all but priceless crown of Our Lady of the Andes.

A group of visitors stood pop-eyed before the magnificence of the crown, which Piper, head of the American syndicate which just has come into possession of the object, had placed in a dull wooden case, flooded by indirect lights.

The gold of the diadem gleamed dully against the green radiance shooting from the stones, which Piper said were emeralds, encrusting and hanging pendant from the crown, as it lay on three tiers of somber red velvet fashioned in the shape of a wedding cake.

Value Above 4 Million Dollars.

Piper said his syndicate, after years of effort, came into full possession of the diadem yesterday. He declined specifically to estimate its value, saying the emeralds it contained were all but priceless, but mentioned $4,500,000 as an approximate figure.

"I have loved this thing for years," he said, "and as to what's going to be done with it, now that I've gotten it, I really just don't give a damn."

He added, however, it might be placed on exhibition and later broken up for sale to private individuals.

The biggest of the 453 stones, Piper said, is 45 carats, which, on the basis of a maximum of $5,000 a carat, would make it worth $225,000. This stone is set in the center of the crown's front arch. Seventeen pear shaped stones hang as pendants from the top; others are encrusted all about.

More Than 400 Years Old.

About the seventeenth floor suite lounged many private detectives.

Here is the story of the diadem as related by Piper: It was completed in 1499 and taken from the Incas by Pizzaro's conquistadores in the conquest of Peru four centuries ago. Negotiations for sale of the diadem, described as the most valuable ever owned by the Catholic church, were begun in 1914, the proceeds to go to charity.

WHOLESALER AND IMPORTER.

Warren J. Piper, head of the syndicate which purchased Our Lady of the Andes crown, is a wholesale jeweler and diamond importer, living at 703 Naperville road, Wheaton. His office, Warren Piper & Co., is at 31 North State street.

FOES FORM UNITED FRONT; SHAPE LIBERAL PLATFORM

State's Rights and Security to Be Main Planks.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Cleveland, O., June 7.—[Special.]—The Republican platform planks now emerging from hotel conferences for submission to the resolutions committee will bear the unmistakable stamp of western liberalism, according to all indications from party leaders today.

The platform seems to be inevitably, in its main features, an expression of the trend of the times in this democracy rather than the will of individuals or of groups. The same wave of popular imagination that has made Landon a symbol of the demands of the Republican voters now seems reflected in the thoughts of the platform builders.

Men and interests who would have stood adamant a few years ago against the concept of social security in a Republican platform, now have agreed to accept that principle as a Republican principle in the coming campaign.

Administration Up to States.

Administration, however, is to be given largely to the states, for the Republicans have been driven into a state rights attitude by the logic of their position against the New Deal administrative waste and burocracy.

In the building of the platform the first consideration is given to the wishes of the Landon group, for this group seems definitly destined to direct the fortunes of the party in the coming campaign.

There has been no effort, however, by Gov. Landon to enforce his views on the delegates or to write the platform. It has been the other way around. With the convention slipping his way, the group leaders have turned to him and to his representatives for advice in the matter of platform planks.

Wage Plank Appears Certain.

It now appears certain that the resolutions committee will adopt a plank calling for a constitutional amendment guaranteeing, or a declaration of rights asserting, the right of states to fix minimum wages and hours and set working condition standards. With Herbert Hoover agreeing to this and with Hamilton Fish, a Borah leader, calling for such an amendment, it may be taken for granted that the Landon people will fall into line, even if they would not initiate such a move.

The proposal to amend the constitution, if necessary, to permit states to regulate wages, hours, and working conditions of labor, without regard to age or sex, had its genesis in the Supreme court's recent decision outlawing the New York minimum wage law.

The suggestion, in effect, reverses the traditional stand on the Republican and Democratic parties on the question of federal versus state rights and in that respect is calculated to embarrass the New Deal.

Snell Backs Proposal.

Republicans repeatedly have denounced the New Deal for its invasion of state sovereignty, and even the most conservative members of the party now are ready to declare for complete state authority to deal with social legislation.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, Republican leader of the house and prospective permanent chairman of the convention, expressed himself as being wholly in accord with the plan to return control of social welfare and labor problems to the states.

"That's where I've always said it ought to be," Snell declared. "They can't be too liberal for me on such questions."

The relief plan under consideration by the Landon forces is identically the substitute offered by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], often mentioned as a presidential possibility, and thus may make for further party harmony.

Vandenberg Plan Rejected.

Senator Vandenberg's plan, which was rejected by the senate in passing the recent 1 billion 425 million dollar relief appropriation, called for state administration, bipartisan boards, with criminal statutes to pre-

Look to Sen. Borah for Final 'Punch' at Governor.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Cleveland, O., June 7.—[Special.]—Battle for the Republican nomination for president was raging on all fronts tonight.

The allied camps of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, Frank M. Knox of Illinois, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, all aspirants to the presidency, dug in for a last concerted attempt to "stop Landon," the Kansas budget balancer whose nomination is regarded generally as a virtual certainty.

Following a statement by Senator Vandenberg that patently was aimed at Landon, it was announced that Senator Borah intends to take the floor in the convention and make a speech designed to annihilate the Kansas governor and swing the nomination to a compromise candidate.

Borah Plans Speech from Floor.

Senator Borah will reach Cleveland tomorrow morning. After talking with the senator on the long distance telephone, Carl Bachmann, his manager, said that Mr. Borah, who is not a delegate, will seek recognition in the convention for his speech, either through a proxy or an invitation which was extended to former President Hoover.

It was darkly intimated that Senator Borah is prepared to make a sensational attack on Gov. Landon, embracing serious reflections on the Kansan's record in business and in public office calculated to ruin him politically and end all chances of his nomination.

Ready to Bolt Ticket.

The speech, whatever its content, will leave no doubt that Senator Borah will not support the ticket if Landon should be nominated.

"Gov. Landon will not be nominated," said Mr. Bachmann, "because the convention will come to realize that he cannot be elected. Father Coughlin will declare against Landon if he is nominated. Townsend will be against him. Senator Borah will be against him. With such opposition, Landon could not be elected."

While these moves against Landon were developing, Pennsylvania leaders were laying plans to start a stampede to Landon tomorrow.

Follows 1928 Strategy.

The Keystone state delegation will caucus tomorrow night. Of its 75 members 20 were presumed to be morally bound to support Borah on the first ballot, although only 15 have declared they intend to abide by the understanding. The other 55 are favorable to Landon.

The plan is to commit the delegation to vote as a unit for Landon on the first ballot. Such action, it is calculated, would start the stampede and assure the choice of Landon on the first ballot precisely as a similar announcement by Boss Vare of Pennsylvania removed all doubt of the nomination of Mr. Hoover at Kansas City in 1928.

Senator Vandenberg reached Cleveland breathing fire against the widespread disposition to whoop it up for Landon without ascertaining where Landon stands on the issues of the hour.

Vandenberg Demands Facts.

"I am not interested in band wagons," snorted the Michigan senator as he sank into an armchair and lighted one of his denicotinized cigars. "I am interested in principles; this is not a circus, it is a crusade.

"It is not a job hunt. It is a battle.

"I continue to want a platform which will deserve the support of the American people, and a leadership which the convention knows to be sound in these respects and knows to be equal to effective and aggressive combat."

Senator Vandenberg declined to be more specific. His utterances, however, were recognized as a blast at Gov. Landon for his silence on questions of inflation, currency, regimentation of industry, and other issues on which his position has not been made clear.

Stand Traced to Questionnaire.

That he was dissatisfied with Landon because of the Kansan's failure to reveal his views more fully has been seeping out in Washington for the last two or three weeks while Senator Vandenberg was being boomed as the governor's running mate. The senator made it known pretty generally that he could not share the ticket with a man whose stand on public questions he did not know.

Senator Vandenberg's state of mind was largely the product of a recent incident. A newspaper chain put ten questions involving current issues to each of the candidates for the Republican nomination. Vandenberg answered all of them. Landon answered six and declined to answer four. That "burned Vandenberg up," as one of his friends put it, and before long all kinds of challenges to Landon to state his views were emanating from the men who reflect the Michigan senator's attitude.

Spikes Second Place Boom.

Finally Senator Vandenberg issued a statement removing himself from consideration for the nomination for Vice President, which automatically put him definitly back in the running as a rival of Gov. Landon for head of the ticket.

The virtual challenge to the Kansas governor to come out in the open with his views on public questions was widely accepted as evidence that Senator Vandenberg is here to make an aggressive fight for the nomination and to take a hand in shaping the platform. It had been expected that Michigan would start the stampede to Landon on the first roll call in the convention, and that the nomination of Vandenberg for Vice President would follow as a matter of course. As a result of the aggressive action of the Michigan senator, however, Michigan now will vote for Vandenberg so long as there is any chance of his nomination.

Hope Grows in Knox Camp.

New hope of beating Landon bubbled up at the headquarters of Col. Frank Knox, the Chicago publisher, and of Senator Borah, when the tenor of Senator Vandenberg's utterances became known. The Knox and Borah leaders are prepared to coöperate with Senators Vandenberg and Dickinson in the effort to prolong the balloting, deadlock the convention, and swing the nomination away from Landon to a compromise candidate. If they succeed in deadlocking the convention, Vandenberg will loom large as a possible compromise.

Senator Dickinson spent the day at Iowa headquarters, but declined to unburden his mind for publication beyond what he said in Chicago yesterday, which harmonized with Senator Vandenberg's remarks. Senator Dickinson is giving moral encouragement to the movement to "stop Landon," his friends believing that he has even a better chance than Mr. Vandenberg to capture the prize, if the "stop" effort succeeds.

Dickinson Eyes Second Place.

The Dickinson group also has its eye on the Vice President nomination.

The main hope of the coalition against Landon, however, reposes in Borah.

Senator Borah is said to have stated on numerous occasions that he has enough information on Landon's record to blow the governor out of the water. What the information is he never would say, but the senator was supposed to have in mind Gov. Landon's record as an oil operator and the Kansan's present relations with the oil barons.

The closest the senator ever came to revealing his secret was when he accused the Standard Oil men of Oklahoma of pernicious political activity. Oklahoma oil men figured in the instruction of the delegation from that state for Landon.

Doesn't Want Dickinson.

The Idaho senator entertains no illusions regarding his own chances of being nominated. Knox and Dickinson impress him no more favorably than Landon. At one time he believed the old guard was going to sidetrack Landon and put over Dickinson. It was at about the time he had said he knew enough about Landon to blow him out of the water. When asked if he intended to do it, he demanded, it is said, why he should knock out Landon only to get Dickinson.

Vandenberg has been, from the start, the only one of the field of candidates acceptable to Borah, though recently there has been evidence that the lion of Idaho was weakening on Vandenberg. Farm organization leaders had been peppering Borah with objections to Vandenberg, chiefly on the score of the Michigan senator's opposition to inflation.

Landon Considers Running Mate.

Discussion of candidates for Vice President still is predicated on the probable selection of Gov. Landon to head the ticket. If nominated, Mr. Landon will be asked for his preference in the matter of a running mate, and the matter is receiving much consideration in the Landon camp.

It was perfectly apparent that the Landon managers favored Vandenberg for the governor's running mate, and they were visibly cast down when the Michigan senator took himself out of consideration with such an air of finality. Some of the Landon group were disposed to ignore the senator's action, professing confidence that if drafted by the convention he would not refuse the honor, as Frank Lowden did in this very city 12 years ago.

Look Elsewhere for Mate.

It was noticeable, however, that the men standing closest to Landon felt that Vandenberg had closed the door definitly and that it would be necessary to look for another running mate. By some of the Landon counselors, Knox has been urged for second place on the ticket, while by others Dickinson has been put forward.

There is a disposition in the Landon group to eliminate Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, for geographical reasons. Landon would carry the agricultural west, it is argued, and the running mate he will need is a man who can help swing the industrial centers of the east to the Republican ticket.

Seek Honor for Wadsworth.

The New York and Connecticut delegations are maneuvering to land second place on the ticket for Congressman James W. Wadsworth of New York, but the Landon forces are indubitably cold to the proposition. Wadsworth is viewed as too closely identified with the American Liberty league, which is anathema to liberals. Also, he antagonized women by opposition to the equal suffrage amendment.

Of all the easterners suggested, Gov. H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire appeals most strongly to the men around Landon.

Social Security Concept Accepted by Leaders.

vent political, religious, or racial discrimination. The federal government would make contributions to the state administrative boards and the states would be required to put up 25 per cent. This is the relief plan being put forward by the Landon group.

The federal relief allocations would be made on the basis of population and need, the financial resources of the states, and their relative costs of living.

Kansas Session Called.

The principle of social security legislation, including old age pensions and unemployment insurance, is favored by the Landon forces and all others participating in the platform discussions, but they believe that the funds for these purposes, like relief funds, should be administered by the states. States adopting their own social security laws would receive contributions on a matching basis from the federal government, but they would administer the funds. Landon has called a special session in Kansas for July to consider this problem in his state.

A tentative proposal of the Landon group to indorse the reciprocal tarif principle, but on the basis of bilateral agreements, without the most favored nation clause and each agreement subject to specific ratification by the senate, was first proposed by George N. Peek, former AAA administrator and later President Roosevelt's foreign trade adviser. Mr. Peek, whose ideas are shared in the senate by Senator Vandenberg, has severely criticized the New Deal policy of opening the floodgates to foreign agricultural products while paying bounties to American farmers to curtail domestic production.

Farm Plank Studied.

On the farm question, the prospective platform writers generally join in condemnation of compulsory crop production control, but there is some disagreement as to whether there should be any production control at all. The farm plank now under consideration by the Landon forces was introduced in the house of representatives by Representative Clifford Hope of Kansas immediately after the Supreme court demolished the AAA, and it was generally regarded at the time as the Landon plan.

In effect this plan calls for subsidies to the farmers to make the tarif on agricultural products effective. The federal tarif commission would make a study of the articles purchased by the farmer and determine that portion of the cost contributable to the tarif. The tentative figure is 25 per cent. The farmer would receive this differential, in the form of a subsidy, out of the treasury's general funds, without any processing taxes or compulsory production control.

Representative Hope was in frequent conferences with Mr. Peek before coming here from Washington and the farm plank now is undergoing certain refinements during his discussions with the agricultural and party leaders.

Sponsors of this farm program indorse the principle of soil conservation, but it would be a separate program, with state administration and federal grants in aid, and not tied up with any production control scheme such as the New Deal attempted as a substitute for the AAA. They favor the purchase of submarginal lands, and this activity would be integrated with the soil conservation program.

Committee hearings on the platform will begin on Tuesday. One of the planks to be submitted has been forwarded to Senator Vandenberg by Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond of New Orleans.

Mrs. Hammond Offers Plank.

Mrs. Hammond, who is chairman of the women's committee for Louisiana, which has consistently fought against the Long machine in that state, has the following plank:

"We insist that the constitutional right to 'petition the government for a redress of grievances' be rigorously maintained. We condemn the present policy of congressional investigation which ignores and suppresses charges of fraud and corruption against members of congress while investigating freely private citizens.

"We insist that the constitutional power and duty of congress to judge the qualifications of its own members be exercised diligently and impartially in respect to all members of congress from all states—not solely to Republican candidates in Republican primaries but to Democratic candidates in Democratic primaries as well; not solely to Republican primaries in Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Illinois, but also to the Democratic primary in Louisiana."

Mrs. Hammond calls attention to the fact that a year ago the women's committee presented to the United States senate a petition asking for redress of grievances in connection with Louisiana elections—specifically the seating of Senator Overton. This petition has been buried, she says, and therefore the rights of petition destroyed.

Differ on Money Question.

The easterners are in hearty accord with the Landon group in all these proposals, but on the money question wide differences of opinion have arisen. Delegates from the agrarian states are clamoring for a so-called managed currency or the commodity dollar, and, like Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, look with horror upon any suggestion of a gold standard.

The eastern representatives prefer an early return to the gold standard and will insist particularly upon a dollar stabilized at a specific value. This would mean repeal of the authority now vested in the President to devalue the dollar another 10 per cent.

The Landon plan, evolved after consultations with Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, calls for repeal of the dollar devaluation and silver purchase acts, which are construed as inflationary in character and eventual return to a modified gold standard arrived at through international agreements. The suggested plank would call for a monetary commission to coöperate with similar commissions of other nations with a view of international currency stabilization.

For "Sound Currency."

Representatives of the east and spokesmen for the Landon group are confident that an accord will be reached on this basis. While it does not commit the party to restoration of the gold standard at any specific time, nor specify the exact nature that standard ultimately will assume, the suggested plank would denounce inflation and declare for "a sound currency system."

On the question of balancing the budget there also are differences of opinion, but merely as to the matter of time. The easterners would favor a declaration for immediate balancing, while there is a disposition in other quarters to approach this question in more general terms. A balanced budget would be the end, but responsibility for unemployment insurance and social legislation still would be stressed.

WATSON OR BALL LIKELY TO HEAD HOOSIER GROUP

Goodrich May Get Place on Resolutions Body.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Cleveland, O., June 7.—[Special.]—Early arrivals among the Indiana delegates to the Republican convention today found much sentiment for chairmanship of the delegation behind two men—George A. Ball of Muncie, national committeeman, and former Senator James E. Watson.

As he moved through the hotel lobbies greeting friends made in a lifetime of politics, Mr. Watson stopped long enough to say that he felt he would be named to preside over the twenty-eight delegates at the caucus tomorrow night.

Mr. Ball was inclined to the same belief, but many of his friends feel differently. Although the national committeeman appeared to feel that the chairmanship was not a post worth fighting over, there was no indication that his name would be withdrawn if it is placed in nomination at the caucus.

Hot Contest Among Women.

More of an out and out contest will attend selection of the national committeewoman, the delegates predicted. The incumbent is Mrs. Eleanor Snodgrass of Nashville, who was named by the state committee two years ago following the death of Miss Dorothy Cunningham.

Mrs. Snodgrass seeks reëlection, and an equally ambitious candidate is Mrs. Grace Reynolds of Cambridge City. Each appears to have considerable strength among the delegates.

Only two candidates have been mentioned for the Indiana members of the resolutions committee—former Gov. James Goodrich of Winchester and Henry Marshall of Lafayette.

Many Sing Landon's Praises.

Those who had arrived, however, brought word of the surprising degree of Landon sentiment manifested at the state convention last week. One who attended the state meeting dclared that fully 10,000 of the 12,000 present at that gathering were enthusiastic for the Kansas governor.

"So far as I know," this delegate added, "Gov. Landon never has spoken in Indiana. Certainly few people in the state have seen him. But they seem to regard him as a sort of homey individual who would give them a square deal."

The state convention instructed its four delegates at large for Landon, and he also has six district delegates, making ten votes of the state's twenty-eight who will be with him on the first ballot.

LANDON BACKERS PONDER RUMORS AND STRATEGIES

Find Convention World Is a Strange Place.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Cleveland, O., June 7.—[Special.]—Convention town on Sunday! It was a strange time for many delegates, particularly those from the small Kansas towns who had come here to nominate Gov. Alf Landon with a whoop and go home. The sunflowers, blooming so bravely in the morning, were drooping on coat lapels this evening, and while the spirit was still there, the flesh was weakening.

"The trouble with this convention is that you can't turn it off," said one foot-weary delegate who had been visiting around in hotels and smoke filled rooms all day. They did not know it, perhaps, but they had missed the sound of church bells down quiet streets, the shade and peace of home, the smell of the wild wind over the wheat fields, and the morning dew.

Pictures Changing.

Life for a delegate begins and ends in the hotel lobbies on these hectic pre-convention days. They seem to encompass all the harrowing emotions of a long campaign. The enthusiasm, the rumors and fears, the whispers and doubts, the struggle—all but the climax. Nothing seems to be happening that one can put a finger on. It is a series of changing pictures. A face, a word, a flash of camera, a burst of music, a perfume.

"There is something wrong with this convention—what is it?" said an old timer from Washington as he looked over the hotel lobbies and the grill rooms.

"Perhaps it is cut and dried," said another experienced observer.

"Who has cut it out for us?" was the next question.

"The people. They have said they want Landon and every politician knows the appetite that must be satisfied in the platform."

The Kansas delegate would agree with that, but soon he was overhearing another commentator.

Kansans Spread Word.

"They will never nominate Landon," this commentator said. "The delegates would not know him if they saw him. Landon enthusiasm has come to a head too quickly. The delegates, facing the actual task of nomination, will pick a man they know something about."

The Kansas delegates were instructed by their state strategists to go out among the sheep and try to tell them the story of the Kansas shepherd in convincing terms. By the end of the day some of them began to doubt their own convictions.

"It is too good to be true," is what they told each other on the question of Landon's nomination.

That this mighty nation should reach into their state and pick out modest Alf Landon whom everybody knew, a fellow who was as easy to get along with as an old shoe, a neighbor and friend, was really too much to expect. They were still afraid of the invisible masters somewhere in the background, the old crowd that bossed the Republican party for years and who woud never dream of taking Landon and his Kansas progressives into the bosom of power.

A Strange Atmosphere.

They were in a strange atmosphere. Crowded into small hotel rooms, with an outlook on courts where the sounds of tinkling glasses and loud laughter came into their windows day and night. The sky was a patch of blue only to be seen by leaning out of the window. Hard cots crowded into rows. Life resolved into a strange, uneasy sleep and awakening. They were in a sort of political fermenting vat. The simplicity of the problem began to fade before doubts and rumors.

A crowd of delegates stood in front of the hotel lobbies all day watching the taxicabs disgorge important looking men. When Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and Senator Arthur Capper arrived there was a rush for an old Kansas friend, but the Michigan senator was reported as "on the warpath" and there was much speculation as to the strategy behind his refusal to run as vice president on a Landon ticket.

Strategists at Work.

The wiser strategists sensed in this that Vandenberg wanted to save himself for the 1940 race.

High up in secret rooms the Landon strategists drew their plans and sent out their wires, remote from the delegates. The delegates were given the handshaking job. The thinking was being done upstairs. It was surmised shrewdly that at the other end of the telephone wire Gov. Landon sat in Topeka and advised on each step to be taken.

The question that was left in the minds of the delegates as they cooled their heels at evening was whether the "mandate of the people" was to be obeyed or whether the strategists of the party were ready to sink it in order to gain their own ends.

Things did not seem so simple. They would have felt more at home if there had been a row of chairs on the sidewalk in front of the hotel where they could sit and think. The only thing that really looked familiar was a man and a boy going in the direction of the lake carrying fishpoles.

LINCOLN DEBATE SCENE IS MADE HISTORIC SHRINE

Washington, D. C., June 7.—(AP)—The college building at Galesburg, Ill., where Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas held one of their joint debates, was designated by Secretary Ickes today as a national historic site.

The main hall of Knox college, now used for classrooms, is the only building still in existence where Lincoln and Douglas debated the issue of slavery before the civil war.

TINKHAM SEEKS PLANK TO SEVER RED RELATIONS

Washington, D. C., June 7.—(AP)—The Republican party was called upon by Representative George H. Tinkham [Rep., Mass.] to include in its convention platform a "solemn promise" to sever diplomatic relations with the soviet union.

Asserting that the communist government now and at the time of recognition by the United States was "in the hands of homicidal terrorists," Tinkham criticized the state department for failure to insist that pledges made by the soviet be kept, and added a charge that the United States government was "saturated with communists."

"When the United States recognized the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics," Tinkham said, "it offered the hand of friendship and of fellowship to communism. Communism then was introduced into the United States as an acceptable doctrin. Since that time it has made rapid progress in this country. Today the government itself is saturated with communists."

209,000 ON WPA N.Y. PAY ROLL FOR LAST 10 MONTHS

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—From August, 1935, through May, 1936, the WPA in this city gave employment to an average of 209,000 persons. Approximately $200,000,000 was spent in wages, according to figures published today. The average earning per worker was about $90 a month. The sum spent on materials used on projects was $50,000,000.

In May there were 161,290 employed on construction work and 45,130 in the service division.

MRS. LONGWORTH PROVES SILENCE REALLY 'GOLDEN'

Wins $1 from Mrs. Simms to Latter's Surprise.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Cleveland, O., June 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth won a dollar here today. She won it by not uttering a single word during a half hour political discussion.

Mrs. Longworth's great friend and political ally, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, was a little surprised. She had thought Alice, the tall, pale widow of Nicholas Longworth and the cousin of Eleanor Roosevelt, would be unable to keep quiet when the subject was women in politics.

Mrs. Simms talked—vivaciously and brilliantly. She told about her first convention in 1892, and of this one in 1936. Of how women weren't allowed in the caucuses then because "they liked to go out and tell what happened." And of how "any intelligent woman" can find a political berth nowadays.

Dislike for Radio Is Cause.

But Mrs. Longworth, now on her tenth set of political conventions—not counting the "rump" convention of 1912, when she watched her father, Theodore Roosevelt, bolt the party—just smiled and smiled, laughed her deep, throaty laugh, and lit another cigaret.

It all occurred during a radio interview between the three brilliant feminine figures of this convention—Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, director of Republican women's activity; Mrs. Simms and Mrs. Longworth—only Mrs. Longworth wasn't interviewed. Questions were asked her, and remarks were directed at her, but Alice said nothing.

"Well," commented Mrs. Simms, as she watched silent Alice pocket her dollar, "it's a new experience for me. It's the first time I've ever been able to talk for 30 minutes and not be interrupted by Alice."

And Alice still said nothing.

Lifts Her Voice in Song.

Her silence was not, however, extended to song, for later, away from the radio she hates, she lifted her voice merrily in the chorus of the "Oh, Susanna" ballad, which has been converted into a Landon campaign song—

"Landon, O Landon, will lead to victory—
"With the dear old constitution, and it's good enough for me."

Alice, Ruth and Wilma, as this triumvirate is known, are unified in their belief that women are to play an outstanding part in this convention. Certainly the outstanding women are here, but convention statistics don't seem to uphold the belief that their presence is much more than ornamental.

Only 52 Women Delegates.

So far, for instance, out of some 1,000 delegates, there are only 52 women delegates and 167 women alternates. Mrs. Hoyal passes this off lightly. "Republican women aren't talking about themselves as women, but as Republicans."

Perhaps so; perhaps not. When the preliminary platform committee met Saturday, there were eight women to seven men. But will they have a voice, a telling voice, in the remainder of the convention? Wait and see, say the women. After all, this is Sunday.

And so they have been a-Sundaying with luncheons and teas and garden parties and dinners for the "wives of men who are doing something for the nation."

4 Women Mentioned for Illinois Committee Post

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Cleveland, O., June 7.—[Special.]—"You don't swap horses in the middle of the stream, do you?"

With this remark, Mrs. Jacob Baur, the "Battling Bertha" of Chicago's gold coast, today came out in the open in her fight for reëlection as national committeewoman for Illinois.

Until today Mrs. Baur had only one prominent opponent for the post which she has held for the last eight years. That opponent is Mrs. George R. [Emily Washburne] Dean, also of the gold coast, and concerning this opponent Mrs. Baur has kept silent.

The Picture Changes.

All she would say was that in the depths of the Baur pocketbook lie two mysterious documents—a letterhead and a newspaper clipping purporting to show that Mrs. Dean not always has been the loyal Republican she now is.

But today, as members of the Illinois delegation roll in for their important caucus tomorrow night, the picture changes, and two other feminine names are being mumbled in the crowded corridors and lobby of the Hotel Cleveland. For, with Cook county split over its two gold coast candidates, how about a downstater?

The first of these is Mrs. Helen C. [Lettie] Griffin of Grant Park, sister of the late Senator Edward C. [Gumboil] Curtis and at one time a strong worker for Len Small. Mrs. Griffin, tall, rangy and buoyantly noisy, was found posing with a 10 foot portrait of Frank Knox, whose women's division she is directing.

"Never a Candidate," She Says.

"Never a candidate for anything," she remarked briskly. "I'm an alternate for my district right now, but that's the only thing I ever ran for. I've been hearing those rumors. I understand people are putting my name up, but I haven't announced—don't intend to—just a puller for the party—that's all I am.

"Want to know why people call me Lettie? Just watch me step over a davenport some time. It's my long legs. . . . No indeed, Mrs. Baur and Mrs. Dean are both my friends. I have no desire to do anything. Oh, well," as a cameraman approached, "if you insist," and back she went to the Knox picture.

Mrs. Baur Awaits Caucus.

Mrs. Baur is saving her important documents for the caucus. Mrs. Dean—who says Mrs. Baur, already a congressional candidate, shouldn't try to hog two position—isn't here yet. Mrs. Griffin denies that she wants the position. And so, late today, up comes a fourth name, that of Mrs. Mary Silvis of Rock Island.

Mrs. Silvis recently was appointed state Republican chairwoman, but that post, the beseiged delegates contend, easily could be dropped. Mrs. Silvis now is supporting Mrs. Dean, but perhaps she will drop that, too.

The deciding factor seems to be—how does Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms stand? For the slender, dark-eyed former Illinois congresswoman is back again, is delegate by proxy from New Mexico, and again is exerting a powerful influence.

Now Mrs. Simms Is Silent.

At first she supported Mrs. Dean. "Bertha," she said, "should retire right now." Later she told Mrs. Baur, "I'll come and campaign for you in August for congress," but Mrs. Baur said, "I'd rather have a speech Monday night." And now Mrs. Simms is silent. She is busy attending teas.

"There's a tea for every day, but the only tea is liber-tee," singsongs Mrs. Baur. "I'm not worrying."

LANDON'S FATHER AND DAUGHTER GO TO BATTLE FRONT

Kansas City, Mo., June 7.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon's 79 year old father and his 19 year old daughter traveled together by train tonight toward the Republican national convention at Cleveland, where Landon's political supporters seek his nomination for the presidency.

"I don't know anything about politics or how dad will come out," said the daughter, Peggy Anne, "I'm just going for the fun of it."

"I'm just going as a spectator," said the governor's father, John Landon. "This is my fifth convention and I don't see anything to lose my head over."

A veteran political figure—"but never a candidate"—John Landon recalled that he had been a delegate to the 1912 Republican convention.

"I stuck right down the line for Theodore Roosevelt over Taft in 1912. All but two from Kansas stuck."

HOOVER EXPECTS G. O. P. TO OFFER A UNITED FRONT

Grand Island, Neb., June 7.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said in an interview during a brief train stop here today he preferred to withhold comment on the Republican national convention until his address before the convention "in which case such views as I have can be more deliberately expressed."

"There appears to every prospect, however," he added, "that the Republican party will this year present a united front. As to details, I would prefer not to be quoted, especially since I expect to address the convention."

The former President, en route from California to the Cleveland convention, said main points of the convention appeared to have been tentatively formulated and to be "fairly satisfactory" in the general synopsis already published.

LANDON IS CHOICE OF 55 PCT. OF HIS PARTY IN ILLINOIS

Leads 2d Candidate 3 to 1, Tribune Straw Shows.

Final returns in THE TRIBUNE pre-convention poll give Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas 55.8 per cent of all straws cast for Republican candidates seeking nomination for President at the G. O. P. national convention which opens tomorrow at Cleveland. Democrats assemble at Philadelphia a fortnight later.

In Chicago and in 81 downstate communities, a total of 77,548 straws was gathered in the poll, and of these 34,792 were cast for Republicans. The sole object of the poll was to learn in advance of the conventions just what Illinois citizens are thinking on the question "Whom Do You Favor for Nomination for President?" by the two great parties.

Final results of the poll, which has run for nine days, are as follows:

The final results of the poll are:

REPUBLICAN.

In the last three or four days of the poll Gov. Landon's percentage of the G. O. P. straws steadily increased. On Wednesday he had 51.7 per cent, and today in the finals this has advanced to 55.8. It is possible this rise is a reaction to the advance reports from Cleveland and elsewhere that a Landon bandwagon seems to be on its way in Cleveland.

Thorough Cross-Section of Views.

Whatever the reason may be, the straws have shown a growing tendency toward Landon. The 81 downstate cities and villages in which polls were taken indicate a wide dispersion of Landon sentiment. Four squads of picked canvassers, mostly college students, each in charge of an experienced TRIBUNE newspaper man, traveled into every section of the state by automobile to get a cross-section of opinion.

No candidate was mentioned by name by the canvassers, the sole invitation to the voters has been "Vote for the man of your choice," Republican or Democrat, for nomination at the conventions."

In 77 of the 81 downstate cities and villages Landon got more votes than any other Republican candidate. Borah is the straw vote favorite in Danville, Milford and Fairfield, his birthplace.

Represent Every Part of State.

The 81 cities and villages are scattered across the northern counties, strong G. O. P. territory, down the east side into the Wabash river areas, through the central sections of the state, the great corn belt, the sections along the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, and throughout southern Illinois—Egypt with its fruit, crops, cattle and coal mines.

An analysis shows the three leading Republican candidates—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, Frank Knox of Chicago and Gov. Landon—to have been given in the straw votes, the following percentages of the G. O. P. straws.

Other Republican candidates have trailed and are not put in this table:

	Percentage of Republican Straws.
	Borah.	Knox.	Landon.
East and Central—16 cities	22.8	19.9	50.0
West and Central—20 cities	19.6	20.8	53.0
Northern counties—23 cities	13.9	18.1	55.7
Southern Illinois—22 cities	20.7	23.0	50.5
Total Downstate—81 cities	18.9	20.2	52.6

In Chicago straws from thirteen downtown office buildings in the final day's compilation gave Gov. Landon 66 per cent of their Republican straws, following the trend in the previous day's polls of office buildings and downtown street corners.

Polls in five factories and shops gave Landon 59 per cent of their G. O. P. straws.

At the conclusion of THE TRIBUNE poll, Landon has 57.4 per cent of all Republican straws cast in Chicago; 52.6 downstate; 55.8 of total. Knox has 18.4 per cent of Chicago G. O. P. straws; 20.2 downstate; 19 per cent of total. Borah has 12.8 per cent in Chicago; 18.9 downstate; 14.7 all told.

President Roosevelt has 54.7 per cent of all the straws gathered, Republican and Democrat, in the final compilation. In Chicago he has 55.8 per cent of all straws, which is somewhat of a fall from the 72 per cent he had in April of all votes cast in Chicago in the presidential primaries. Downstate he has 52 per cent, which is approximately what he had in April.

Final Nine Days' Results of Tribune Pre-Convention Straw Vote

At the end of THE TRIBUNE poll, 77,548 straw ballots collected in Chicago and 81 downstate cities and villages for the sole purpose of gauging the sentiment of the citizens on the question, "Whom Do You Favor for Nomination for President?" by the Republican and Democratic national conventions, yield the following results:

LOWDEN WAVES ASIDE POLITICAL TOPICS TO TALK ABOUT WEATHER

Oregon, Ill., June 7.—(AP)—Frank O. Lowden, the Illinois "dark horse" in the Republican national convention, did not choose to talk today about politics.

Asked whether he would consent to be the standard bearer of a "stop Landon" coalition reported to be gathering at Cleveland, the farm veteran replied: "I'm afraid it's going to rain."

Would he accept the presidential nomination if it were offered to him?

"I hope it doesn't rain, for that would spoil my afternoon ride."

Would he say anything about politics?

"No."

And, while leaders of his party speculated over what he would do, the "Sage of Sinissippi," who ran once unsuccessfully for the presidential nomination and once refused an offer to be the vice presidential candidate, rode his favorite horse about his Rock River valley farm. He reiterated his intention to stay away from the convention.

BORAH OPPOSES G. O. P. DRIVE FOR MINIMUM WAGE

Washington, D. C., June 7.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said tonight he was not in favor of committing his party to a constitutional amendment to give states express authority to fix minimum wage laws.

In a statement just before leaving for the Cleveland convention, he asserted that "we are getting unduly excited over this question" and urged that the party attempt to work out a solution without a constitutional amendment.

The Idahoan yesterday spoke out strongly against adoption of a party platform calling for a return to the gold standard.

His opposition to a constitutional amendment covering minimum wage laws conflicted with a statement made last night by former President Herbert Hoover, who said the states should be given authority to enact such legislation if necessary by an amendment.

School Chief in Capital to Ask More WPA Cash

Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson departed for Washington, D. C., yesterday for a conference with Works Progress administration officials. "I intend," he said, "to get the appropriation increased for WPA educational projects in Chicago schools."

LOOK TO CUSTER TO KEEP PEACE IN ILLINOIS CAUCUS

Delegates Hope to Avoid Sectional Split.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Cleveland, O., June 7.—[Special.]—When Omer N. Custer of Galesburg, Ill., Illinois delegate at large to the Republican national convention, arrives here late tonight or early tomorrow morning it's likely he will be hailed as an angel of peace.

So far as Mr. Custer's personal political future is concerned everything is rosy. Everybody seems to be agreed that he should be elected chairman of the Illinois delegation at the state caucus tomorrow evening. But just beyond that point is where his troubles begin.

In reality they will begin before that—even at the moment he reaches here, for a definite hope has developed among the Illinoisans already on the scene that he will perform a real miracle of diplomacy and avert a looming split along sectional lines.

Custer Aims at Harmony.

It's altogether too early for an open breach between Chicago and downstate, but one is pictured in the offing unless Custer can iron out the difficulties between the two sections.

The question of sectionalism has been raised in the major contest impending before the 57 Illinois delegates—what now seems to have taken on the appearance of a tug of war between the present national committeeman, Frank L. Smith of Dwight, and George F. Harding of Chicago, who is given much of the credit for the successful campaign waged for Wayland Brooks and candidates associated with him.

The Harding people are unfalteringly confident. They say there are at least forty votes "in the bag" for the Chicago man. The Smith people limit their utterances to saying that it will be a cose fight.

Downstaters Have Say.

If the sectionalism stopped there Custer's task wouldn't be so big as it appears now. With the issue injected by the fight, however, it has begun to slop over into the other contests to be settled by the state caucus. Just as the Smith people are saying that Cook county should not have both the governorship nominee and the national committeeman, downstaters are beginning to argue that if Harding is to win, the national committeewoman, for example, should come from downstate.

The woman question has been left to a reporter of that sex to describe, as all of the men, reporters as well as delegates, show a tendency to sidestep it. But just as clear an example of sectionalism creeping into the situation is found in the attitude of the delegates concerning Illinois' part in platform building. Already there are at least five aspirants mentioned for membership on the convention committee on resolutions, three of them from Cook county and two of them from downstate.

Three Hopeful Chicagoans.

The fact that three hopeful Chicagoans were mentioned in the pre-convention talk back home has encouraged the downstaters to feel that such a split gives them an excellent chance to bring forward one of their own number with the argument that Illinois should have as its platform spokesman the man among its delegates best fitted to speak on the farm plank.

So far as is known, the one Chicagoan whose backers say is qualified in this field, is Chauncey McCormick of the Ninth congressional district, who owns and runs a successful 800 acre farm in Du Page county. The other Chicago aspirants are A. D. Lasker, well known advertising man, and Julius H. Miner, an attorney.

Now come the downstaters with quiet but persistent arguments that if Illinois wants a real farm spokesman it should choose B. M. Chiperfield of Canton, or H. C. Horneman of Danville.

FILES VOTE FRAUD FIGURES IN FIGHT WITH SERRITELLA

Sharpe Opens Contest for Convention Seat.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Cleveland, O., June 7.—[Special.]—Samples of alleged vote fraud, in which the charge is made that in certain precincts in Chicago's First congressional district the Republican vote was tallied as twice the number of ballots actually cast, are included in the tabulation filed with the national committee by Horace M. Sharpe, who is contesting the delegate seat claimed by State Senator Daniel A. Serritella.

Sharpe, former assistant state's attorney of Cook county, will declare before the credentials committee that he was defrauded out of more than 500 votes in the primary race which was decided in Serritella's favor by a margin of 181 votes.

The national committee held that Serritella will be seated pending the action of the credentials group, which will meet Tuesday after the convention organizes.

Tabulations Set Forth.

Sharpe's tabulation contains returns alleged to have been counted in ten precincts of the congressional district which includes all of the 1st and parts of the 2d and 11th wards. As a sample of the fraud he alleges, Sharpe today cited the returns of the 12th precinct of the 1st ward as, Serritella, 98, and Sharpe, 1; whereas only 49 Republican votes were cast in the entire precinct, according to the poll books.

Other "returns" cited by Sharpe as evidence of fraud are:

Eleventh precinct of the 1st ward—97 Republican ballots cast; the vote for delegate, Serritella, 97; other candidates, 0.

Thirty-second precinct of the 1st ward—67 Republican ballots cast; tally sheets credit Serritella with 89 votes; other candidates, 0.

Thirty-third precinct of the 1st ward— 91 Republican ballots cast; Serritella, 87; Sharpe, 1; Roscoe Conklin Simmons, 1; Junius C. Austin, 1.

Thirty-fourth precinct of the 1st ward—160 Republican ballots cast; Serritella, 160; other candidates, 0.

Twenty-first precinct of the 11th ward—98 Republican votes cast; Serritella, 98; Austin, 1.

Twenty-fourth precinct of the 11th ward—94 Republican ballots cast; Serritella, 93; other candidates, 0.

Twenty-ninth precinct of the 11th ward—104 Republican ballots cast; Serritella, 107; Austin, 2; Simmons, 19; Sharpe, 3.

Twenty-sixth precinct of the 11th ward—71 Republican ballots cast; Serritella, 69; other candidates, 0.

Boundaries of District.

The first congressional district comprises all of the 40 precincts of the 1st ward, all of the 94 precincts of the 2d ward, seven precincts of the 4th ward, and 15 precincts of the 11th ward. The district has the Chicago river as the northern boundary and as the western boundary, excepting only for a few precincts where it extends west to Halsted street; the southern boundary is 43d street, and the eastern boundary is Lake Michigan.

A considerable part of the district is inhabited by colored persons. The vote, as shown by the canvass in Chicago, gave Simmons, colored orator, 10,277; Serritella, 5,232; Sharpe, 5,051. The voters had the opportunity of voting for two delegates. If the contested returns were correct, Serritella's supporters were shown to have failed to avail themselves of voting for two candidates, but voted only for Serritella.

If, as was reported, he had working alliances with colored leaders he failed to "deliver" for Simmons. Simmons, naturally, carried the colored district, and Austin, the other contestant, who is colored, received a portion of the vote in the second ward. According to claims made here, Serritella had to pad his votes in the 1st and 11th wards to make any kind of a showing.

Deputy sherifs in Chicago sought unsuccessfully to serve Serritella with notices of a suit contesting his election but failed, even though Sharpe, who lives in the same building at 2127 Prairie avenue told of hearing the senator moving about upstairs.

Inquiry Demanded.

Serritella is a member of the clique of first ward politicians reported as aiding the presidential drive of Frank Knox. Serritella and Ald. William V. Pacelli of the 20th ward are leaders of this group and in Pacelli's ward the primary vote was so lopsided for Knox that Edgar J. Cooke, Senator William E. Borah's Illinois manager, demanded an investigation by State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney.

The Sharpe-Serritella contest will be one of several which are expected to come before the credentials committee Tuesday. One of the others it is anticipated, will renew the fight wages in 1932 at Chicago between J. C. Hambright, national committeeman of South Carolina, and Joseph [Tieless Joe] T. Tolbert, picturesque character whose high collar is without adornment. Each brought a delegation to Cleveland and urged that it be seated. The national committee decided in Hambright's favor, but Tolbert is expected to appeal.

Taxi Driver's Motto: 'Spare the Republicans at All Cost'

Cleveland, O.,—June 7.—[Special.]—A taxicab driver in avoiding running down a jaywalker near the convention hall today, throwing his passenger off the seat, defended his abrupt halt with the remark:

"Sorry, Boss, but we got to be careful this week; can't afford to kill any Republicans, we need them too much."

ROBBER TAKEN BY POLICEMAN IN GUN BATTLE

One of two robbers who had just held up the Green Lantern tavern at 3217 West Lake street was captured late last night by Policeman William Gall of the Fillmore street station after a sharp exchange of pistol fire.

Gall was at Lake street and Kedzie avenue when a patron ran from the tavern shouting news of the holdup. The bandits, who had taken $33 from the proprietor, James Petty, emerged and opened fire on Gall.

When the men separated Gall pursued one and caught him. He said that he is Thomas Madimore, 22 years old, and added that he had no home. The money taken in the holdup was found in his possession.

PRESIDENT BURNS MIDNIGHT OIL ON DRAFTS OF TALKS

First Address on Tour to Be at Little Rock.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt worked late into this morning on the three major "nonpolitical" speeches he will deliver in the next week.

Work was begun on the addresses after his participation in the funeral services for Speaker Joseph W. Byrns at Nashville, Tenn., yesterday afternoon. Aboard his train last night and early this morning Mr. Roosevelt completed rough drafts of his speeches.

The drafts were taken to the White House on the arrival of his special train here at 1:05 p. m. today. There he pored over histories of Texas and Arkansas and biographies of George Rogers Clark, borrowed from the Congressional library.

Plans Platform Speeches.

Mr. Roosevelt repeatedly has announced his speeches will be of a purely historical nature and for that reason he will not compete with the Republican convention at Cleveland. Along the route he will make several platform appearances during which, it is said, he will guard against references to the political situation.

The tour, which will begin at midnight tomorrow, will carry Mr. Roosevelt more than 2,500 miles, along which he will show himself at every favorable opportunity to the electorate. His train will swing along the same route he took to the Byrns burial and on to Little Rock, Ark., where he speaks Wednesday, and south into the major cities of Texas, with an address scheduled at Dallas for Friday.

Train Will Head North.

His train then will head north from Texas and Arkansas Centennial country to Vincennes, Ind., where he will dedicate a memorial next Sunday to the pioneers of the northwest. He will return to the White House next Monday morning.

Mr. Roosevelt will not remain long in the capital. Before the opening of the Democratic convention at Philadelphia he will go to New London, Conn., to see his son, Franklin Jr., pull an oar for Harvard in the Yale-Harvard regatta. He probably will continue on to his family estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., and go from there to Philadelphia to accept the Democratic nomination. After the convention he plans to take a cruise with two of his sons along the coast of Maine.

11 ARKANSANS PAUSE HERE; SEE NAMING OF LANDON BY 4TH VOTE

Leaders of Arkansas' 11 uninstructed delegates to the Republican national convention predicted here yesterday that Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas would be nominated not later than the fourth ballot. The delegates saw the Chicago-Brooklyn National league baseball game and then went on to Cleveland where they will caucus this morning.

"After favorite son ballots are cast, the convention, in my opinion, will nominate Gov. Landon," said Osro Cobb of Little Rock, chairman of the state Republican committee and candidate for governor. "I believe the platform will be a more serious problem than the nomination."

Martin A. Eislle, 82 years old, of Hot Springs, who has attended every Republican convention since 1888, said the party has a grand opportunity this year to elect a president. E. E. Hudspeth of Texarkana predicted an early bandwagon movement for Landon.

URGES A PLANK TO LET FARMER SAVE HIMSELF

A plank in the Republican platform which will permit the farmer to "save himself" was advocated by former Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie of Nebraska, who was a member of the farm board under President Hoover and who is a member of the Nebraska delegation which passed through Chicago to the Cleveland convention yesterday. He declared "crop control" is impractical and the soil conservation act merely pays the farmer for common sense practices.

"The first considerations in any farm plank should be reduction of taxes and enforcement of the antitrust laws to keep both organized business and organzied labor off the backs of the farmers," Mr. McKelvie declared. "If they give the farmer a chance he'll take care of himself. The home markets should be protected against imports of foreign agricultural products. The Canadian reciprocal treaty crippled the American cattle market and it should receive attention."

Ten, and possibly twelve, of the fourteen Nebraska votes will go to Landon on the first ballot, the former governor declared. Dwight Griswold of Gordon, Neb., Republican nominee for governor, declared that the nomination of Landon will help the Nebraska state ticket.

TAX CONFEREES FACE BATTLE IN WEEK OF RECESS

Deadlock on Measure Is Held Likely.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Secret but feverish activity will feature the legislative program in the capital this week. Both senate and house will hold perfunctory sessions tomorrow and adjourn for a week. Then, behind locked doors, conferences will be held to determine the final shape of two of the most important measures of the session and a number of minor bills.

An almost certain deadlock was predicted in the conference on the administration's tax bill. House conferees, headed by Representatives Robert L. Doughton [Dem., N. C.], chairman of the ways and means committee, and Samuel B. Hill [Dem., Wash.] will be appointed tomorrow. They declared today they would fight for the house version of the bill which applied drastic rates ranging as high as 42 per cent against the undistributed income of corporations and refuse to yield to the senate's bill which imposes an undivided profits tax of only 7 per cent.

Senate Split Predicted.

The eight senate conferees are likely to split, four to four, with Senators Hugo M. Black [Dem., Ala.] and Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.] insisting upon a sharp increase in the corporation undivided income tax.

After two or three days of bickering, the conferees may find themselves hopelessly involved in arguments with no prospect of either side giving in, it was conceded. The usual proceeding under such circumstances is for President Roosevelt to call in the Democratic conferees and put pressure upon them to agree upon his suggestions which, in this case, are towards a higher tax upon corporations than is included in the senate bill.

But the President will be absent from Washington all next week on his speaking tour through Texas, Arkansas and Indiana, and the legislators will, for once, be free to dispute to their hearts' content without White House interference. It is possible, however, that Mr. Roosevelt before he departs may call in the Democratic conferees tomorrow for some straightforward statements on what the administration wants.

Deficiency Measure on List.

The second major bill left in conference is the huge deficiency appropriation measure carrying approximately 2 billion 431 million dollars for relief and other governmental activities. Agreement on differences between the senate and house probably will be reached this week.

Other bills in conference are the measure providing for registration of lobbyists; the so-called "chain store bill," and a new liquor tax law. Even if the senate and house conferees agree on compromises on these bills, no action will be possible until congress meets again on June 15. House Democrats have pledged themselves to take no action on important legislation tomorrow and Minority Leader Charles L. McNary in the senate served notice that he would object to any action on bills with so many Republican senators absent because of the Republican convention at Cleveland.

POSSE OF 500 FAILS TO FIND MISSING GIRL

Pekin, Ill., June 7.—(AP)—A posse of 500 friends and neighbors of missing Dorothy Blumenshine, 14, trudged despairingly home tonight after seeking her for miles throughout this flat countryside. The disappearance of the pretty schoolgirl after a party early last Sunday was as much a mystery as ever.

Fields and woods on every side of her home town of Washington were covered by the searching party, made up of folk from farms and villages within a 25 mile radius.

Split into three groups the posse spent three hours on the hunt. Sherif Ralph Goar of Tazewell county confessed himself baffled. He said his next step would await a conference with State's Attorney Nathan Elliff.

Kills Woman and Injures Rival in Quarrel in Home

In a quarrel over his housekeeper, Miss Roseling Liger, 30 years old, Peter Lampel, 50 years old, 1624 Clybourn avenue, a watchman, last night killed the woman and critically injured his rival, Tony Wille, 36 years old, 1641 Vine street. Lampel told Hudson avenue police he used a baseball bat and a butcher knife. Wille was taken to the County hospital.

CRUISER CATCHES FIRE IN HARBOR; 15 ARE RESCUED

The crews of a Sea Scout cutter and several pleasure craft helped coast guardsmen rescue 15 men, women and children yesterday when the Jonoca, a 45 foot Fairform cabin cruiser, caught fire in the Jackson park harbor.

One of the passengers was reported to have been burned slightly in fighting the fire in the gasoline engine. The blaze was preceded by an explosion. Damage was confined to the engine pit.

The boat, owned by Dr. Joseph P. Graf, 806 West 77th street, a physician, and members of the Jackson Park Yacht club, was carrying a party of his friends. It was outward bound at the edge of the harbor when the explosion occurred. Small boats immediately put out from shore and removed all the passengers.

Coast guardsmen under Chief Boatswain's Mate Frank P. Petoski towed the burning craft to their dock and Chicago firemen put out the fire with hand extinguishers.

FASCISTS PILE UP HEAVY VOTE FOR BELGIAN SENATE

BRUSSELS, June 7.—(AP)—Belgium's new Rexist party repeated its general election successes today in the voting for 690 provincial councillors who will elect 44 senators. The Rexists—called by the Socialists a "fascist danger"—obtained 78 seats. The Catholic party secured 224 places for provincial councillors while the Socialists obtained 221.

Compared to their previous standings, the Catholics lost 94 seats and the Socialists 20. The Liberals took 89 places, losing six; the Flemish extremists 50, gaining 20, and the communists 27, gaining 20.

HEAD-ON CRASH KILLS 2 YOUTHS ON MOTORCYCLE

Swerve Into Path of Auto; 2 Hurt on Ashland.

Harry Fairchild Jr., 19 years old, of 379 Hill avenue, Elmhurst, and William J. Homuth Jr., 22 years old, of Plato Center, Kane county, were killed early yesterday when the motorcycle on which they were riding crashed head-on into an automobile in Irving Park boulevard, four miles east of Elgin in Cook county.

Fairchild, the cyclist, was dead when picked up, and Homuth, who was riding behind him, died a few hours later in the Sherman hospital in Elgin.

Alvin Christiansen, 29 years old, of Bloomingdale, Du Page county, the driver of the automobile, was uninjured. He told the state highway police that he was driving west when he saw the headlight of the motorcycle on its own side of the road. As the cycle approached, he said, it swerved and crashed into his car. Keith Fernald, 489 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago, a passenger in Christiansen's car, was bruised and slashed in the crash.

Apparently Confused by Glare.

Fairchild was taking Homuth to a farm two miles north of Ontarioville, eight miles east of Elgin, where he was employed. Fairchild apparently was blinded by the lights of the car, the police said. An inquest into the deaths will be held at 11 a. m. today in Barrington.

Fairchild, who lived with an aunt at 608 South Francisco avenue, while attending high school, had just received the motorcycle as a birthday present from his father.

Cook county trafic fatalities yesterday:

Joseph Whitura, 40 years old, 1611 Ohio street, in County hospital from injuries incurred May 9 at Ohio street and Ashland avenue when he was struck by a hit and run automobile driver. Police traced and arrested the driver, Nicholas Werenchuk, 35 years old, 1842 West 13th street, the next day. He was rearrested last night.

Mrs. Sara Pecker, 65 years old, 2103 West Roosevelt road, in County hospital of injuries incurred on May 24, when she was struck at Roosevelt road and Hoyne avenue by the automobile of Eugene Belmonte, 31 years old, 1125 Newberry avenue.

Mrs. Violet McClain, 24 years old, 7024 South Western avenue, was critically injured, and Howard McClain, 25 years old, her husband, was lacerated and bruised when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another car at 119th street and Ashland avenue. They were taken to the Roseland Community hospital. Loren W. Anderson, 39 years old, colored, 315 East 57th street, driver of the other car, was held by the Morgan Park police on McClain's charge that he failed to stop for a trafic signal.

Squad Car Hits Fire Plug.

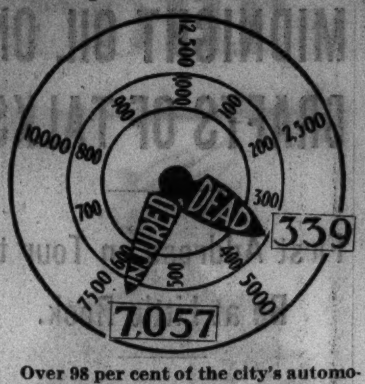
Policemen Edwin Strubling, 35 years old, of 1527 North Central avenue, and Thomas Jamieson, 28, of 1141 North Kedvale avenue, both of the Cragin station, and Strubling's wife, Ellen, were injured yesterday when the squad car in which they were riding struck a fire plug and a light post at Kilbourn and North avenues.

Strubling said they were taking his wife home from church and persued a speeding car.

From Jan. 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday 432 persons were killed by automobiles in Cook county. During the same period 339 were killed and 7,057 injured in trafic accidents in Chicago.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1936 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

SAVED WHEN CAR DROPS IN CANAL, SHOCK IS FATAL

Saved from drowning by the heroic action of a Stateville penitentiary guard when his automobile plunged into the Illinois-Michigan canal early yesterday morning, Axel A. Carlson, 50 years old, a farmer residing south of Joliet, died of his injuries last night in St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet.

Carlson was driving alone on the Brandon road, two miles south of Joliet, and failed to notice that the guard rails of a bridge over the canal were missing. His car dropped into six feet of water.

H. F. Murphy, the guard, saw the plunge. He dived into the water, opened the doors of the car and dragged Carlson ashore. He was unconscious, but revived with the aid of an inhalator squad. Physicians held that the shock caused his death later.

FUGITIVE KILLER, FREE 14 YEARS, BACK IN JOLIET

After 14 years of freedom Sam Ramankavich, 40 years old, an escaped murderer, was back in a cell at the Joliet penitentiary last night. He was returned there yesterday following his capture Saturday in Milwaukee where he had lived for 13 years under an assumed name.

A year ago Ramankavich married a widow with five children and his own child by a previous marriage lived with them. Ramankavich has provided for this family of eight as a factory worker and more recently on a WPA job.

POLICE CAPTAIN TAKES POST OF SCHWARZKOPF

Trenton, N. J., June 7.—[Special.]—On orders of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, Capt. William G. Carter succeeds Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf as head of the New Jersey state police with the expiration of the latter's term at midnight tonight.

Gov. Hoffman had refused to reappoint Schwarzkopf, charging that he had "bungled" the investigation of the Lindbergh-Hauptmann case.

Capt. Carter will be in command until a successor to Schwarzkopf is duly qualified.

The order from the governor came unexpectedly late this afternoon and was immediately flashed on the teletype to the various troop headquarters. Up to the time the order was issued there was some apprehension as to how the department would carry on.

Gov. Hoffman has nominated Col. Mark O. Kimberling, warden of the state prison, for Schwarzkopf's post, but Kimberling cannot take office unless the state senate confirms his appointment.

Philippine Labor Plans March on Legislature

MANILA, June 7.—(AP)—Labor leaders seeking higher wages for workers announced tonight they would demand a "new deal" for labor from the national assembly. They disclosed plans for a huge mass meeting of workers in Manila during the national assembly session opening June 16 and said the workers would march on the legislature to demand "not social justice but common justice."

NINE CONVICTED IN VICE CASE IN NEW YORK CITY

Defendants Are Liable to 1,865 Years.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—As the sequel to a trial lasting more than four weeks, Charles ["Lucky"] Luciano, reputed overlord of a $12,000,000 New York vice syndicate, and eight of his lieutenants were convicted early today of compulsory prostitution on 62 separate counts each.

Under the law the mobsters are liable to spend an aggregate of 1,865 years, in effect the remainder of their lives, in prison, the provided penalty being from two to twenty years on each count. Sentence will be fixed by Justice Philip J. McCook, in whose part of the Supreme court the trial was held, next Thursday morning.

The verdict was returned at 5:05 a. m. today after the jury had deliberated all night.

After hearing Jury Foreman Edwin Aderer announce the finding that sealed their fates, the nine sullen defendants were marched under heavy guard and locked in cells to be held pending their sentence.

Names of Defendants.

Besides Luciano those convicted were:

David Betillo, known as Little Dave, called Luciano's chief lieutenant.

Thomas Pennochio, alias Tommy the Bull, listed as the treasurer of the vice syndicate.

Abraham Wahrman, called Little Able, accused as Luciano's contact man with the underlings.

James Frederico, alias Jimmie Fredericks, called Luciano's general manager.

Benny Spiller, alleged to have invested money in the racket.

Ralph Liguori, cited as the syndicate's stickup man.

Jesse Jacobs, unlicensed bondsman.

Meyer Berkman, assistant to Jacobs.

Jury Sleepy-Eyed.

The conclusion of the trial which has been replete with sensational revelations regarding the sordid operations of the ring, and its tremendous annual intake from "organized" prostitutes and disorderly houses was drab and prosaic in the extreme. The courtroom audience as the sleepy-eyed jury filed in to announce its verdict was confined to the lawyers, a few newspaper reporters, and a sprinkling of plain clothes men in addition to the emergency force of uniformed police and courtroom attendants.

It was just four weeks ago yesterday morning that the case was called and the work of selecting the jury begun. In these four weeks the trial had bared to an amazed city a tale of organized vice, bludgeoned into a $12,000,000 racket by "Lucky" and his aids.

Prostitutes Testify.

A procession of underlings and alleged prostitutes, many of them facing threats of gang vengeance and other defying bribes, told how within the last three years the gang leader drove the "independents" into his vast network of carefully organized brothel chains, how the earnings of women in the illicit trafic of flesh were split with the gang, and how the elaborate system of spies and collectors functioned to pour wealth upon the "boss," who at one period recently resided in a de luxe suite at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Prosecutor Dewey in his address listed Luciano as the city's public enemy No. 1, and accused him of perpetrating on the stand "a shocking, disgusting display of contumacious perjury."

Mr. Dewey, former United States attorney, was named to head a special investigation into vice, crime, racketeering, and law enforcement by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman on June 29, 1935. With the city paying the expenses of his work, Mr. Dewey virtually superseded District Attorney William C. Dodge in the work.

Turns to Luciano.

The special prosecutor first tackled the loan shark or shylock racket and sent a batch of men to prison. Then he turned his investigation eye on Luciano, said to be one of the city's foremost racketeers in many lines, and decided that exploiting of prostitutes would be the best field in which to "try" to catch him. Meanwhile, however, Dutch Schultz was killed and Luciano disappeared. He turned up later in Florida.

Luciano finally was apprehended in Hot Springs, Ark., last April and brought back for trial after he had made a violent fight against extradition. The trial opened on May 11 and the jury had no sooner been chosen than three of the defendants—Peter Balitzer, David Marcus, and Al Weiner, all bookers of women—pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence. When the state closed its case, another booker defendant, Jack Allenstein, also admitted his guilt.

Then Mr. Dewey began his parade of prostitutes, madams, and procurers. In all, he produced sixty-six witnesses, most of whom had been taken into custody in wholesale raids on brothels on the night of Feb. 1. He had had 120 prisoners under his care since those raids, but he deemed it unnecessary to bring them all forward to tell of the way in which the vice syndicate leaders allegedly took $10 a week from each prostitute.

The $10, said Mr. Dewey's witnesses, who received immunity, was demanded by the mob in return for "protection" in the event of arrest. The prosecutor showed that a madam who refused to pay this "bonding" fee was forced to do so under threat that her place would be held up by gunmen.

Next in line in Dewey's plans, it was said today, is an offensive on industrial rackets. The chief objectives, reports said, will be Jacob Shapiro and Louis Buckhouse, alleged to be almost as efficient in extorting money from industry and labor as Luciano was in his line.

Vice Lord Guilty

Charles (Lucky) Luciano, New York vice lord, found guilty yesterday on 62 counts involving his leadership of prostitution syndicate.

Goiter Specialists to Open Convention Here Today

Several hundred physicians, members of the American Association for the Study of Goiter, will open their three day annual convention today in the Drake hotel. Dr. Nelson M. Percy of Chicago, president elect, who will welcome the specialists, says more cases of goiter are reported in the Great Lakes region than in any other part of the country.

MERRIAM URGES CITY TO DEVELOP CULTURAL LIFE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 7.—"The problem of cultural activity is one of the most interesting and most important subjects to be discussed at the sixth international congress of local authorities," Prof. Charles E. Merriam, chairman of the department of political science of the University of Chicago, said tonight. The convention opens in Berlin tomorrow.

Prof. Merriam stressed that vast fields still are open to local authorities in developing the cultural life of their people. He described the International Union of Local Authorities as the "most powerful agency in the world for the improvement of local government."

More than a score of nations will take part in this week's deliberations. The United States sent fifteen delegates, some coming from Chicago. Besides Prof. Merriam, the American delegation includes Louis Brownlow, chairman of the delegation; Clifford W. Ham, Henry W. Toll, John A. Fairlie, Samuel C. May, C. Lyle Belsley, Fred K. Hoehler, and Carl H. Chattern.

CANTON TO SEND ARMY AGAINST JAPAN ON JUNE 15

Troops to Begin Advance North on That Day.

BULLETIN.

HONGKONG, June 8 (Monday).—(AP)—Fifteen warships of the Nanking (north) Chinese government were reported to have arrived at Amoy, Fukien province, today as the Canton (south) government speeded its plans to fight "Japanese aggression." A fund for "air defense" was established in Canton after officials approved a ten million dollar bond issue. A report from Nanking said the Japanese navy ordered warships at Formosa to be in readiness to move toward Shatow, coast city of Kwantung province.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 7.—Another political and military unheaval in China involving international complications and possibly eclipsing the nationalist revolution of nine years ago loomed today. An official announcement from Canton said the southwestern government has selected a date for an oath taking ceremony which is equivalent to a declaration of war against Japan.

The date is June 15. On that day orders will be issued at Canton and in Kwangsi province for the "anti-Japanese salvation army" to advance northward. The oath taking ceremony will be accompanied by a grand review of Canton's army, navy, and air force. Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, the chief commander of the allied Kwangsi and Kwangtung province forces, is an outstanding general. He led a southern regiment that captured Shanghai in the nationalist revolution of 1927. Vice commanders of the present expedition are Gen. Liao Tao and Gen. Chang Ta.

Ridicules Idea of Revolt.

Gen. Li Chung-jen, commander of the Kwangsi army and provincial dictator, scouted the possibility of a Chinese civil war. He said it would be absolute lunacy for Chinese to fight Chinese while they are menaced by a powerful foreign aggressor.

Li admitted the concentration of Kwangsi troops on the border of Hunan province, which was confirmed by Hankow reports. But Canton, while admitting that the southern Chinese troops occupied the town of Yungchow, fifteen miles inside Hunan, said they would not interfere with the territory held by the central government troops pending clarification of the issues.

A Canton spokesman said efforts are proceeding to compromise the differences between Canton and Nanking. Liu Yu-yin, a member of the Canton Kuomintang party's central executive committee, said:

"Canton does not intend to invade the north with the intention of overthrowing the central government. The southwest government's political and military moves are intended purely to bring armed resistance against Japan. The southerners, least of all desire at this hour of national crisis that a civil war should break out. Our military preparations are aimed at Japan. Canton is fully prepared to resist the Japanese and to proceed to the front, awaiting Nanking's orders to begin to advance.

Urge Nanking to Fight.

"Actually it is unnecessary for China to declare war on Japan, and the southerners are merely urging Nanking to offer armed resistance to the Japanese who invaded Manchuria without regard for international treaties or obligations and also sent large forces to Peiping and Tientsin."

Meanwhile there were wild rumors in Canton, which could not be confirmed here, that Japan has sent an ultimatum to Nanking ordering suppression of the anti-Japanese movement at Canton.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent at Hong Kong confirmed a report that the Japanese had threatened to send gunboats and said Cantonese officers were recalling their families from the frontier to Canton.

30,000 Stage Rally.

A total of 30,000 citizens of Kwangsi province in a monster demonstration at the city of Nanning demanded resistance of Japan and that the Nanking government immediately abrogate the Tangku and other secret Chinese-Japanese military agreements.

Nanking denied it had concentrated troops in Changsha, Hunan province. The financial and economic crisis at Canton is growing worse. Provincial banknotes slumped in relation to Hong Kong and Nanking dollars. The abnormal rise in the prices of rice and foods is seriously affecting the poorer classes.

SEMINOLES FORSWEAR NATIVE 'PURLKE' FOR GOD OF WHITE MAN

Dania, Fla., June 7.—(AP)—The Seminoles gathered in the Sawgrass country on the edge of the Everglades today and forswore their native "purlke" for the white man's god in a day of feasting, singing and sermons in their native tongue.

The occasion was the dedication of the first Seminole church of modern times—an unpainted frame structure the Indians erected on the reservation themselves.

A delegation of 27 Seminoles and nine Creeks came from Oklahoma to participate. They were headed by Roly Canard of Wetumka, Okla., who holds a formal commission from President Franklin D. Roosevelt as "principal chief of the Creek nation."

The scriptures were read and the hymns were sung in the Seminole and Creek languages.

FEDERAL REPORT REVEALS INCOME TAX RETURN GAIN

New York State in Lead; Illinois Near Top.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering today announced that 4,201,859 individual income tax returns were filed for the calendar year 1934, as compared with 3,900,004 for the preceding year. The report covered the period through Dec. 31, 1935.

New York state had by far the greater number of returns, with 829,123 as compared with 789,678 the year before.

9 States Give Half of Total.

A total of 2,770,042 returns, or more than half for the country as a whole, came from the nine states of New York, Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, Michigan, and Texas.

From New Jersey there were 215,123 returns for the 1934 calendar year as compared with 206,515 for 1933. Connecticut reported 93,009 returns for 1934 as compared with 83,962 the year before.

Commissioner Helvering pointed out that fiscal and other economic data relating to these returns were summarized in the preliminary report of "statistics of income," issued last December.

Total Gross Near 15 Billions.

The preliminary report, which covered 3,988,269 returns filed for 1934 up to Aug. 31, 1935, showed total gross income of $14,708,558,000 and net income of $12,456,262,000. From the gross income, taxpayers deducted $2,252,296,000 as losses, contributions, and for other reasons.

The report covered cities and towns of a population of 1,000 or more. The number of returns filed in New York City was given as 573,008.

Schenectady Block Burns with Loss of $300,000

Schenectady, N. Y., June 7.—(AP)—A three alarm fire burned through nearly a city block just outside the business section today, injuring two firemen and causing damage estimated at "between $300,000 and $400,000." The estimate was made by John E. Rudd Jr., a member of the firm owning most of the property.

800 FELONS AT SAN QUENTIN TO GET VETS' BONUS

San Quentin, Cal., June 7.—(AP)—Nearly $500,000 will fall into the hands of more than 800 felons in populous San Quentin prison next week but the beneficiaries will be unable to spend it in pursuit of their foremost desire—freedom.

This sudden wealth, to come through payment of the soldiers' bonus, will be credited to the individual accounts of the convicts. They will be allowed to part with it only a few dollars at a time except in special cases.

Warden Court Smith announced today about 1,200 convicts, one of them in condemned row, were eligible to receive the compensation payments but at least 400 had not applied.

The 400 expressed a desire to let their little fortunes lie in the United States treasury until they are released from prison.

Arosemena and Diaz Run Close Race in Panama Poll

PANAMA CITY, Panama, June 7.—(AP)—Early returns in Panama's presidential election indicated tonight Dr. Juan Demostenes Arosemena, candidate of the National Revolutionary Coalition party, and Domingo Diaz, nominee of the Doctrinary Liberal party, were running a close race. Dr. Belisario Porras, Union Liberal, appeared to be a close third. Fourth was Higinio Arauz, a Socialist.

FRENCH WORKERS WIN STRIKE AS BLUM STEPS IN

Employers Bow to NRA of Socialist Premier.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 8 [Monday].—Premier Leon Blum early today won his initial victory in the struggle to lead France to socialism without going through a revolution. Representatives of the nation's employers, following a conference with labor leaders in Blum's offices, accepted the French NRA as outlined by the premier in the chamber of deputies Saturday.

While the agreement does not necessarily imply a settlement of the strikes in which nearly 1,000,000 workers quit work, it is expected to lead rapidly to their settlement, thus saving France from chaos and possible bloodshed. It is presumed that in return for the employers' concessions, trade union officials will agree to use their influence to have workers evacuate the factories which they occupied during the strikes and return to their jobs.

Meet Strikers' Demands.

The concessions granted by the employers should make the task of the labor officials and the government relatively easy, for they include most of the demands of the strikers. These terms are as follows:

Pay increases of 7 per cent on higher wages and 15 per cent on lower wages, a forty hour week, collective labor contracts, and vacations with pay will be granted.

Workers are given the right to organize.

Employers will recognize the workers' delegations.

No workers will be punished for participation in the strikes.

The employers' General Confederation of Production agreed to these terms on the condition that the government passes legislation making them uniform throughout the country so that all industries will be compelled to conform. The agreement also included a modality for settling the strikes. The strike in each individual factory is to end as soon as the management accepts the above terms.

Promises New Labor Code.

Premier Blum pledged himself, in return for the employers' concessions, to get legislation adopted for uniform application of a new labor code.

The employers' confederation has no legal standing and it is impossible to tell how completely it expresses the will of French industry, but the general impression is the agreement in principle will bring about an end of the strikes, not instantaneously, but soon.

French capital has taken an irretraceable step in sacrificing important interests and rewarding illegal agitation of workers in a fashion which is bound to sharpen their appetites for future conquests. On the other hand, capital probably has averted a bloody revolution. It also has taken a step which economic observers have long considered inevitable, even from the point of view of capitalists, because salaries had reached such a miserable level in France following five years of depression that it was impossible to continue production under such conditions.

Danger of Food Shortage Passes.

As a result of the strike agreement leftist newspapers said the next 24 hours will see the practical end of the strike, at least in the Paris region. The distribution of gasoline will return to normal. The danger of a cessation of taxicab and bus service was escaped. The danger of a food shortage also seemed to be over.

The strikes had extended yesterday and red flags were hoisted on factories in the north.

In Valenciennes there were no sales of meat and street cars did not operate.

In Paris there were clashes between strikers and strike breakers. Fist fights between militant strikers and workers who opposed the strike within the occupied stores and factories likewise were reported. Foreigners fled the capital as fast as possible.

The Cabinet Steps In.

When it appeared that the strike situation was getting out of hand Blum decided to step in.

The government's intervention took a dramatic form. The administrative council of the general confederation of Labor was deliberating at the trade union headquarters at 11 o'clock yesterday morning when an official limousine pulled up to the curb and Roger Salengro, the minister of the interior, jumped out. He sent in his card and asked to see Leon Jouhaux, general secretary of the confederation, immediately.

Jouhaux came out of the council room. In a whispered conversation in an anteroom Salengro explained to Jouhaux that Blum had just seen the representatives of the general confederation of production, and that they were ready to negotiate with the union chiefs for a settlement of the strikes.

Salengro said that now or never was the moment for such negotiations and demanded the union leaders agree to start them at once. Jouhaux asked Salengro to wait a minute and went back and consulted with his colleagues. He returned with an affirmative answer.

Meet at Premier's Residence.

Salengro told him to appoint delegates to appear at the Hotel Matignon, which is Blum's official residence, to meet the employers at 3 o'clock. At that time the negotiations presided over by Blum got under way.

To appreciate the drama in this development it is necessary to understand the mental conflict Blum had been going through in the last three days. Whatever revolutionary advantages the communists hoped to gain from the strikes, the premier realized that unless they were quickly settled his governmental experiment was doomed. And Blum further realized that if he were swept out of power in such circumstances a Fascist and not a communist government most likely would succeed him.

Accordingly, everybody expected Blum on his first day in power to broadcast an appeal to the workers to evacuate the factories and return to work pending the legislation he is drafting to better their conditions.

Instead he only made a vague appeal for order and dignity. Again on Saturday it was persumed he would embody an appeal to workers in his ministerial declaration and get the chamber of deputies to incorporate it in a motion of confidence during the closing debate. Again he carefully avoided a direct, specizc appeal to workers to evacuate the factories.

"If I appeal to workers to drop the strikes and they follow me, I will be a great statesman," Blum was reported to have said. "If they do not respond, I will be just another ex-premier."

Blum did not feel he could afford to run such a risk. But yesterday he decided to stake the prestige of his cabinet on bringing labor leaders and employers together. It is believed the decision largely was motivated by a conviction that it was unsafe to wait any longer.

Blum addressed 60,000 proletarians in Jeff Dickson's fight arena last night and appealed for an expression of confidence in his government.

"Have you confidence in Blum?" shouted a man from the crowd.

"Yes, yes, yes," roared the throng.

BRITISH TROOPS KILL 5 ARABS IN TRENCH BATTLE

Fight with Machine Guns on Jerusalem Road.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 7.—(AP)—Five Arabs were reported killed today in a five hour battle with British soldiers, one of whom was wounded, on the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv road. The surviving Arabs, numbering about 50, escaped with the bodies of their dead companions, according to reports reaching here.

The troops fired machine guns at the Arabs to dislodge them from wartime Turkish trenches, the reports said, and the Arabs replied with sharp rifle fire.

Refuse to End Strike.

JERUSALEM, June 7.—(AP)—The Arab general strike appeared deadlocked tonight when strike leaders flatly turned down the latest attempt at mediation, made by Emir Abdullah of Transjordan. The Emir requested that the strike and violence be ended pending an inquiry by a royal British commission which has been ordered to come here.

The Palestine government earlier had hurled a bombshell into the camp of Arab nationalists when it ordered Auni Bey Abdul Hadi, Assem Bey El Said and Fakhri Nashashibi removed to a concentration camp. They are regarded as three of the six most important Arabs in the country.

Auni Bey Abdul Hadi is general secretary of the supreme Arab committee which has been directing the Arabs' general strike. He is aso president of the Arab Lawyers' association of Jerusalem, of the Arab Bar associ- Istaqlal independence party. Auni Bey is regarded as the symbol of the present Arab drive against British policy in Palestine.

Assem Bey Is Jaffa Mayor.

Assem Bey El Said is mayor of the Arab town of Jaffa, where the Arab-Jewish disturbances started April 19. Fakhri Nashashibi, a cousin and lieutenant of Ragheb Bey Nashashibi, former mayor of Jerusalem, was expelled from Jaffa and sent to Jerusalem several weeks ago. He was ordered to appear before the police three times a day.

The exile of the three men caused consternation among all Arabs. Jewish leaders saw in it an indication the government is at last beginning to deal drastically with men who are allegedly responsible for continuation of the demonstrations and disorders.

Bombs exploded outside an Arab house in Haifa today and near government offices in Beisan, causing slight damage. Telephone and telegraph lines were cut, a police patrol was fired on near Acre, and a British soldier was seriously wounded in the leg by snipers.

The sixth British battalion to be brought here from Egypt since the Jewish-Arab trouble started arrived today.

FRENCH PREMIER SEEKS DEAL WITH BRITISH ON EUROPEAN PROBLEMS

PARIS, June 7.—(AP)—Negotiations with Great Britain to fix a common attitude toward European problems were decided upon today by France's new premier, Socialist Leon Blum.

After conferring with Charles Corbin, ambassador to London, Blum instructed him to seek an immediate consultation with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain. It is possible Blum and Eden will confer here later.

The premier said he was anxious to find a joint policy before the question of sanctions against Italy comes up at the meeting of the league of nations assembly June 30. Unsettled conditions in central Europe also are worrying the government.

MISS MINTER AND MOTHER SILENT ON $750,000 SUIT

Refuse to Confirm Report of Settlement.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 7.—(AP)—Mary Miles Minter, a star of the silent screen days, and her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, refused to comment today on published reports that their $750,000 civil suit against Blyth & Co., a brokerage firm, had been settled out of court.

Norman Sterry, attorney for the brokerage firm, tacitly admitted a settlement had been or was being made. He said he did not know whether the projected agreement had been signed.

"But I am sure I should have been notified if it had not been," he added.

Dismissal Predicted.

The Los Angeles Examiner and the Los Angeles Times both said the suit is expected to be dismissed when the court hearing is resumed tomorrow.

The Examiner said the brokerage company had agreed to pay the plaintifs between $100,000 and $125,000.

The suit was an outgrowth of admitted defalcations of Leslie B. Henry, former resident partner of the brokerage concern and one-time president of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses association. He now is serving a term in San Quentin prison.

Defalcations Admitted.

In 1932, Henry confessed he had absconded with large amounts of securities originally the property of Miss Minter and her mother.

Trial of the suit was enlivened by references to the mystery death of Director William Desmond Taylor, a close friend of Miss Minter. For a time, two detectives studying the case attended the trial sessions.

French Premier Ma;' Send New Ambassador to U. S.

PARIS, June 7.—(AP)—Premier Leon Blum, officials said today, is considering naming Georges Bonnet as ambassador to the United States to succeed André L. De Laboulaye. They said Blum is planning "wholesale" changes in France's foreign representatives. Bonnet is former minister of commerce and the French negotiator of the Franco-American trade treaty. He is a member of the Radical Socialist party and the leftist "Popular Front." Laboulaye is now in Paris on vacation.

HEROES OF WAR IN AFRICA CHEERED IN ROMAN PARADE

King Reviews Troops; Duce Stays at Home.

ROME, June 7.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel III., newly declared emperor of Ethiopia, reviewed today thousands of bronzed troops who won him that title, in a monster empire celebration of victory.

At his side at the victory arch of Constantine stood Marshal Pietro Badoglio, who commanded the conquering legions in Africa.

The welcome to the homecoming troops was staged to coincide with Italy's "Constitution Day," commemorating the charter of Italian unity drawn up under King Charles Albert of Sardinia in 1848.

One familiar figure was missing from the latest Fascist spectacle, for Premier Mussolini remained at his summer home at Rocca Del Caminate.

Badoglio Cheered by Crowd.

Marshal Badoglio, wearing a plume and a khaki uniform, was loudly cheered as he reviewed the troops, who marched to the arch of Constantine but did not pass under it.

Italy's new "artillery-ized infantry" drew the attention of military experts. It consisted of field pieces carried by infantrymen.

Imposing in the files were scores of tanks, trailer-mounted artillery, barking motorcycles and trucks of flame-throwers manned by fantastic appearing, asbestos-clad soldiers of the chemical battalions. Toward the end of the processions the tiring multitudes were treated to the spectacle of a huge captive balloon, towed by a corps of perspiring air corps ground men.

Vision Further Conquests.

The marching troops, cheered by 100,000 people, swung proudly past the ruins of the Basilica of the Emperor Maxentius, whose defeat by Constantine was the occasion for erecting the triumphal arch.

The thoughts of thousands of jaunty young Fascists marching by were directed toward still further conquests. The words of Mussolini's congratulatory telegram to Marshal Badoglio shortly after the occupation of Addis Ababa intrigued them. Il Duce had said:

"We have reached one station on our road."

The long lines of fighting men marched to the tunes of the official Fascist hymn, "Giovinezza" ["Youth"] and the "Hymn of the Piava," commemorating Italy's world war victory.

For hours there filed past broad files of black shirt militia, plumed bersaglieri on the run, jaunty Fascist youth battalions, wind-tanned sailors, regular soldiers in gray, Red Cross units with stretchers and ambulances, and innumerable others in a variety of uniforms.

Balbo Marched Same Route.

It was the second time that the triumphal arch of the first Christian emperor of Rome had been used to link Fascist achievements with the ancient glories of the eternal city. Marshal Italo Balbo, returning from his flight across the Atlantic in 1933, marched his daring squadron along the same route to salute Il Duce.

No bit of symbolism which characterizes all Fascist displays of power was omitted today. Stands for the review were erected along the broad new empire way, running from the Colosseum past the excavated remains of Trajan's forum to the massive Victor Emmanuel monument where lies Italy's unknown soldier of the world war.

Swiss Socialists Vote to Fight Big Defense Outlay

ZURICH, Switzerland, June 7.—(AP)—The Swiss Socialist party voted today to oppose the government's request for a huge appropriation to reinforce national defense. The close vote of 263 to 255 pledged the party's parliamentary representatives to oppose the defense bill.

Warring Tribes Harass Italian Army Near Ethiopian Capital

[Edward J. Neil, Associated Press correspondent who accompanied the northern Italian army on its victorious drive to Addis Ababa, in the following uncensored delayed dispatch tells of conditions today in the annexed empire].

BY EDWARD J. NEIL.

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, June 6.—(AP)—Ethiopian troops, despite the fight of their emperor, are still under arms and at least 11,500 of them are within 50 miles of Addis Ababa itself.

With heavy rains due late this month, the fact is Italian troops are making no serious effort to penetrate the country beyond Addis Ababa with the sole exception of the province of Gojjam.

In addition to the warriors, thousands of bandits are roaming about looting, burning and murdering farmers.

Tribesmen Harass Italians.

A troublesome situation around Addis Ababa is discloced by Italian general staf maps showing the location and strength of unsubdued and warring tribesmen. This information has not heretofore come from Addis Ababa, where there is a military censorship.

The following Ethiopian concentrations, the military maps show, are still afield:

A group of 5,000 under Blata Tacle, former police chief at Addis Ababa, is just west of Addis Alam, 45 miles west of Addis Ababa; 1,500 under Ras Immiru at Adgille, northwest of Addis Ababa; 1,500 under Baskia Uoldit, near Ankober on the road to Dessye; 2,000 under Gulama Tessema, southwest of the capital; 500 under Ailu Gabre at Zuduaca, to the south; 500 under Auerria Cassa at Salale, north of Addis Ababa; 300 under Ligabau Tessau, in the mountains northwest of Addis Ababa; 200 under Grasnacs Chefle, at Verer, only 25 miles east of Addis Ababa.

Ethiopians in exile here insist the Ethiopian forces will be extremely troublesome during the heavy rains.

Italian forces at Addis Ababa were greatly weakened when two brigades of Askaris were sent to riotous Gojjam province. Troops in the capital scarcely outnumber the surrounding Ethiopian forces.

There is much guerrilla warfare outside the capital, with Italian trucks being raided and their drivers killed. In reprisal the Italians have executed many.

Native runners are spreading the wildest rumors from tribe to tribe in efforts to keep up morale, such as ones that Emperor Haile Selassie is returning and weird stories the Askaris are killing white officers and will give Addis Ababa back to the Ethiopians.

50 Shot by Machine Guns.

Executions of Ethiopians in Addis Ababa numbered at least 150. One group of fifty was shot down by machine guns under beam lights as they stood roped together on the edge of a gully near the aviation field. The officer in command of the firing squad was almost caught in the Italian fire when the guns opened up prematurely.

One hundred other Ethiopians, arrested on charges of looting and withholding arms, were forced to witness the mass execution.

Marshal Rudolfo Graziani, who is acting as viceroy, is enforcing an iron handed regime. His latest edict is that when his car passes other automobiles all persons in the other cars, including foreigners, must stop, get out and give him the Fascist salute.

Italians discovered 4,000 pounds of dynamite under the supports of a big railroad bridge over the Auwash river recently just in time to prevent its destruction, which would have stopped the Addis Ababa-Djibouti line for months.

LITTLE ENTENTE WARNS AUSTRIA, 'NO MONARCHY!'

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 7.—(AP)—Leaders of the little entente again warned Austria today against restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy and union with Germany. The admonition came after a four hour conference at Screviste castle of diplomats of the entente—Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania.

The participants included Prince Paul, regent of Jugo-Slavia; President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia; King Carol of Rumania; George Tatarescu, premier of Rumania; Nicholas Titulescu, Rumania foreign minister, and Dr. Emil Krofta, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia.

Their communique said they had examined problems of the little entente with a unified viewpoint, and agreed Austria should remain independent.

Extreme police precautions were taken to prevent any trouble along the be-flagged Bucharest streets through which the diplomats had to travel on the trip to the castle.

CLAIMS GERMANS DEFEND EUROPE FROM PARIS REDS

KREFELD, Germany, June 7.—"In view of certain events taking place to the west of us, perhaps foreigners will better understand what I have earlier said: 'On the Rhine today Germany defends European culture against bolshevism,'" said Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party, in a speech here today. The address was delivered as Hess opened a new bridge across the Rhine. The bridge—the third Rhine bridge built since Reichsfuehrer Hitler assumed power—is intended more for long distance trafic than for local needs. Hess gave the bridge the name: "Adolf Hitler."

Haile to Quit London for Swiss Villa Next Week

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 7.—Haile Selassie, exiled emperor of Ethiopia, plans to leave London for Switzerland at the end of next week. It is understood he will reside at his villa at Vevey on Lake Geneva.

WIDOW AND SON BURN TO DEATH AT FUNERAL RITE

TAIYUAN, Shansi Province, China, June 7.—(AP)—The performance of an ancient Chinese ritual of mourning today cost the life of the widow and son of a general one week after he was assassinated.

Buddhist monks were burning in effigy the household utensils and money of Gen. Li Sheng Ta in front of his coffin. A draft carried the flames to hundreds of paper wreaths and silk scrolls hanging before the coffin in honor of the dead.

A roaring fire developed and the widow and son rushed in to save the coffin from the flames. A mass of flaming scrolls and wreaths fell on them, burning them fatally.

SECRETARIES TO CONVENE.

Executives of sixty Illinois chambers of commerce will meet Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in Waukegan for the annual convention of the Illinois Commercial Secretaries' association.

Italian Army to Maneuver in August in Naples Area

ROME, June 7.—(AP)—Italy's annual army maneuvers will be held between Naples and Bari, in southern Italy, it was officially announced today. They probably will be in August.

[Previous reports said the maneuvers would be held on the northern frontier at the time the league of nations meets to consider the Italo-Ethiopian problem.]

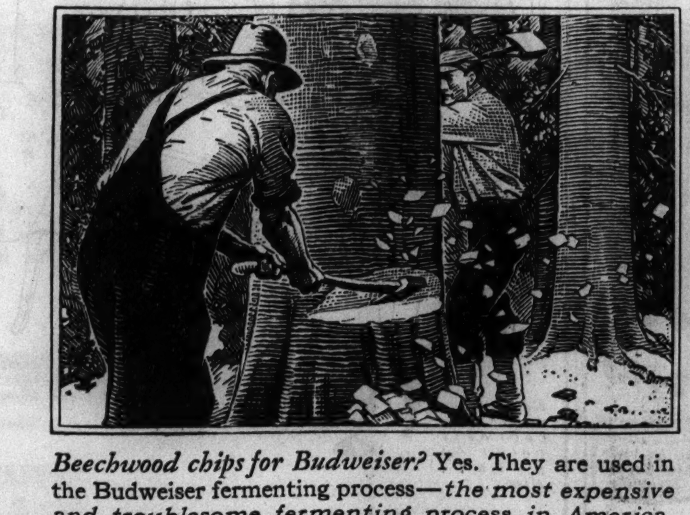
It's always fair weather—even springtime—in the Home of Budweiser. It has to be to make the kind of barley malt that the Budweiser formula demands. So with gusts of warm air forced through a man-made rainstorm we create the kind of spring weather that best coaxes the barley to sprout—the first big step in malting. We make all our own malt ... controlling every step ... never buying in the open market.



Beechwood chips for Budweiser? Yes. They are used in the Budweiser fermenting process—the most expensive and troublesome fermenting process in America. The yeast-covered chips constantly rise and fall, giving thorough, evenly distributed fermentation. And, this goes on for months. No wonder Budweiser is smooth and mellow!

Mustang? Shetland pony? Wild horse? No! Only a pure-strain Arabian horse for the sheik. Similarly, only a uniformly pure culture yeast for brewing Budweiser! There are 500 yeast varieties known to science ... but none has the characteristics of the Budweiser strain. Its ancestry goes back into the centuries—unchanged for millions upon millions of yeast generations.

1,510 TO RECEIVE DEGREES FROM N. U. SATURDAY

Other Schools Will Hold Graduation This Week.

Commencement exercises and festivities will be held at nearly every major college and university in and near Chicago during the week. Several colleges held their graduating exercises last Saturday.

Northwestern university campus will be a busy place during the week when the graduating classes of the various schools of the university hold their farewell ceremonies. The festivities will close Saturday afternoon when a total of 1,510 degrees and diplomas will be awarded at the 78th annual commencement exercises at Dyche stadium.

Alumni Parade at Noon.

A meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa society will open Saturday's program at 9 a. m. The annual alumni parade will start at noon from University hall, ending on the lake front opposite the fraternity quadrangles. In the afternoon the commencement play, "Russet Mantle," by Linn Riggs, will be given in the university theater.

The final exercises will be held at the stadium at 5:30 p. m., preceded by a memorial service in tribute to the late William A. Dyche, for many years business manager of the university. Dr. Walter A. Jessup, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, will deliver the baccalaureate address.

The law school will hold its annual alumni meeting and senior class day exercises on McKinlock campus on Thursday. Federal Judge William H. Holly will be principal speaker at the noon luncheon when a portrait of Dean Emeritus John H. Wigmore will be unveiled.

Medical School Clinics.

The medical school will arrange clinics for the alumni and members of the graduating class on Thursday at the Passavant, Memorial, St. Luke's, Wesley Memorial, Cook county, and Evanston hospitals. Open house and a luncheon will be held in the school on Friday.

Loyola university will hold its final commencement exercises on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the stadium at the lake shore campus when 613 degrees and certificates will be conferred. Of the diplomas awarded 191 will be conferred on seniors in the school of medicine, 177 in the college of arts and sciences, 100 in the school of nursing, 71 in the school of dentistry, 26 in law and seven in commerce.

Baccalaureate services for the graduates were held at St. Ignatius church, 6559 Glenwood avenue, yesterday. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. T. V. Shannon, LL. D., pastor of St. Thomas Apostle church, gave the sermon. John J. Burns, legal counsel for the Securities and Exchange commission, Washington, D. C., will give the commencement address Wednesday.

Art Institute Commencement.

The school of the Art institute will hold its commencement exercises Friday at 3 p. m. in the Kenneth Sawyer Goodman Memorial theater when degrees of bachelor of fine arts, bachelor of art education, and bachelor of dramatic arts will be presented. The commencement address will be given by James D. Cunningham, president of the board of trustees of Armour institute, former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and member of the advisory board of the school of industrial art of the Art Institute.

Miss Charlotte Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Wilcox, 7536 Parkhurst avenue, and great-great-granddaughter of the late Roger Brooks Taney, former chief justice of the United States Supreme court, will be among those to receive diplomas at commencement exercises at Mundelein college, 6363 Sheridan road, today. She will receive the degree of bachelor of arts, magna cum laude.

Urbana, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—Life is not an adjustment into which we fit, but a cosmic battle, declared Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, president of Union Theological seminary, New York City, in his baccalaureate address before 1,800 graduating seniors at the University of Illinois this afternoon. "The theory of education," he said, "has been to fit the student to the world. Schools were training wrestlers, but adapters.

"That educational theory has been rudely smashed. Our world shook us all as in an earthquake. Men must wrestle with adverse circumstances to keep on their feet. Malignant forces, surviving from brute heritage, must be combated."

Four hundred and forty Chicago and Cook county seniors are among the 1,758 who will receive degrees at the 65th annual commencement exercises tomorrow morning. Prof. James Wilford Garner, professor of political science and head of the department at the university since 1904, will deliver the address and Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard, president, will confer the degrees.

Notre Dame Commencement.

Notre Dame, Ind., June 7.—[Special.]—Four hundred and twenty-six seniors received degrees here today at the 92d annual commencement exercises of the University of Notre Dame. Dr. William J. Mayo, Rochester, Minn., delivered the commencement oration.

Archbishop Edward Mooney, Rochester, N. Y., gave the baccalaureate address this morning. The baccalaureate mass was followed by raising the flag presented to the university last Washington's birthday by the senior class, and blessed this morning.

Dr. Mayo, his brother, Dr. Charles Mayo, Archbishop Mooney and Francis P. Garvan, New York, president and founder of the chemical foundation, received honorary doctorates of law this afternoon.

Illinois Wesleyan Program.

Bloomington, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—More than 100 degrees, including several honorary ones, will be conferred by Illinois Wesleyan university at the 77th commencement exercises tomorrow. President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston university will deliver the commencement address. Miss Martha Dexheimer of Chicago, a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, was chosen prom queen of the university. Jack Horenberger of Grayslake won the annual alumni association award, a gold watch, given to the ranking graduating senior on a basis of scholarship and participation in school activities.

CITIZENSHIP DAY OF YOUTH NOTED AT 2 ACADEMIES

Ceremonies at Marmion and Morgan Park.

Students of Marmion Military academy in Aurora and of Morgan Park Military academy, 111th street and South Hoyne avenue, marked American Youth Citizenship day with impressive demonstrations yesterday. Civil and military officials and patriotic organizations in the Chicago area joined in the ceremonies.

Nearly 5,000 persons attended the celebration at the Marmion academy and heard Gov. Horner, who flew to Aurora for the occasion, urge preparedness in America.

Lauds Patriotic Youth.

"America does not require a great standing army because she has a magnificent army of citizens, but she should be prepared for any eventuality," the governor said. He paid tribute to the patriotism of American youth.

The Marmion cadets were reviewed by Maj. Gen. Charles E. Kilbourne, new commander of the 6th corps army area, and Col. Charles A. Thuis, in charge of the R. O. T. C. for the area. Bishop Karl J. Atler of Toledo celebrated pontifical military field mass on the parade grounds.

Following the ceremonies there was a military and civic parade in which the cadets and patriotic organizations of Aurora participated. Outdoor commencement exercises were held in the evening. Bishop Edward F. Hoban of Rockford gave the commencement address.

At Morgan Park academy, Judge Donald S. McKinlay of the Superior court presided, and James G. Skinner, first assistant attorney general of Illinois, gave the principal address.

Honor Ranking Graduates.

The Illinois Society of Sons of the American Revolution presented citizenship certificates to six outstanding graduates of suburban schools. They were Carol Rauhoff and William Lockhart of Greenwood school, Blue Island; Barbara Kaiser and Arthur Watt of Seymour schoo, Blue Island, and Priscilla Alden and Richard Peterson of Emerson school, Maywood.

David B. Miller, Walter Hinkle, Victor Leatzow and Robert Katzman of Morgan Park academy were presented with R. O. T. C. medals.

Sidney Holzman, commander of the Cook county council of the American Legion, presented four year Legion scholarships to Morgan Park academy, valued at $4,000 each, to Loren D. Sexauer, 8433 Crandon avenue, and John C. Corrigan Jr., 5133 Potomac avenue.

There was a parade of the Morgan Park cadets and a concert by the academy band, which will appear in Soldiers' field on Aug. 15 in the seventh annual Chicagoland Musical Festival which will be sponsored by THE TRIBUNE.

Seeks Dinner in Garden and Catches 2 Fine Trout

Santa Fe, N. M., June 7.—(AP)—You don't have to believe Mrs. J. D. McComb's fish story because she's satisfied. A trout dinner did that. Faced with the problem of "what for dinner?" Mrs. McComb went out to her vegetable garden by the side of an irrigation ditch to solve the problem. Her answer was two fine trout—flopping in the cabbage bed.

Million New Yorkers Go to Beaches for Holiday

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Despite a fairly cool day, more than 1,000,000 persons left the city today to spend the day at the beaches and resorts in the metropolitan area. Virtually all of the beaches were crowded, with Coney Island and Palisade amusement park reporting new highs for the season of 500,000 and 100,000 respectively.

FIRE SWEEPS HOTEL IN SAN FRANCISCO; SEVEN DIE TRAPPED

San Francisco, Cal., June 7.—(AP)—Seven persons died and eighteen were injured today in a fire which swept a four story frame hotel in the south of Market street rooming house district.

The Rev. F. C. Clark, 56, of Cheyenne, Wyo., a delegate to the Seventh Day Adventist international convention in session here, died in the smoke and flames, but his bride of two months was rescued, seriously burned.

Mrs. Clara Roland, 60, a seamstress, suffocated in her room. The other five dead were not immediately identified. Five firemen were among the injured. C. K. Fisher, the proprietor, speculated that incendiarism might have figured in the blaze.

Her Auto Stalls on Track; Jumps Out; Pushes It Off

Pasadena, Cal., June 7.—[Special.]—When her car stalled in the path of the onrushing Santa Fe Diesel-powered limited here yesterday, an unidentified 100 pound woman leaped to the pavement, pushed her sedan from the tracks and held it from sliding back down a slight grade until the train passed. "I was so scared of what my husband would think, that I forgot about the starter when I saw the train," she explained to horrified spectators.

Foes of Germs and Bugs Open Parley Here Today

The National Association of Insecticide and Disinfectant Manufacturers will open a two day convention in the Edgewater Beach hotel today. New methods of combating germs and insect pests will be discussed by bacteriologists and entomologists during the meeting. Dr. E. A. Bach, chief entomologist of the United States bureau of plant quarantine, is scheduled to speak on carpet beetles as a menace.

HUNT MANIAC IN WAKE OF 6 MORE INCENDIARY FIRES

New York, June 7.—(AP)—An "alcoholic pyromanic" whose operations have brought recurrent terror for several weeks, was sought today as six more incendiary fires, in which one person died and nine were injured, were chalked up against him.

First reported were two fires in the crowded Bronx. Trapped in one of the burning buildings, Mrs. Sarah Siegel, 62 years old, dropped her 13 year old granddaughter from a third floor window and then herself plunged to the ground, her night clothing aflame. The grandmother died; the child, Rhoda Fiber, was injured seriously.

Scarcely had more than 100 policemen started beating through the Bronx than the search was extended to Manhattan, where four fires occurred, resulting in injuries to Mrs. Pauline Stricker, 30; her daughter Dorothy, 11, and Peter Statako, 15.

FLAG SCORNERS SEEKING CONVERT JUMP A COLONEL

Frank Wasick, 53 years old, 1139 North Dearborn street, leader of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect, invaded Wheaton yesterday with nine of his flock to sell tracts urging pacificism and, specifically opposing salutes to the American flag.

Wasick tried to proselyte Harry C. Weaver a member of the law firm of Hadley & Weaver, who is a lieutenant colonel of reserves, adjutant of Laverne T. Perotte post of the American Legion, and a member of the Wheaton chapter of the Paul Reveres. Col. Weaver swore out a complaint against Wasick for peddling without a license, and he was released on his own recognizance to appear Wednesday before City Magistrate Frank E. Herrick of Wheaton.

POWERFUL BASE AT SINGAPORE READY TO FIGHT

Finish Main Work on British Fortress.

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlement, June 7.—(AP)—Great Britain's mighty $75,000,000 naval base here at the crossroads of the world is now an effective and active unit in the empire's powerful chain of defenses. The main parts of this gigantic citadel, whose primary purpose is to protect Australia and New Zealand against Japan, were completed this month and the British admiralty has taken over the subsidiary work from the constructors, Sir John Jackson & Co.

Additional work on the world's strongest naval base will require another year or two, but in an emergency the present fortifications, airplane bases, anti-aircraft equipment, and graving docks can be put into immediate operation.

May Be Aid to U. S.

While the main purpose of the base is to keep Japan "within bounds," naval constructors say it will indirectly afford protection to the United States, as it is believed that in a far eastern war England might permit the United States to use the base. Britain is pledged to allow the Netherlands to use the base to protect the Dutch East Indies in case of attack.

Virtual completion of the Singapore naval base, coupled with the expiration of the Washington naval agreement, raises the question whether the British intend to refortify Hongkong, which they own, and whether the United States expects to fortify Guam and the Philippine Islands.

The defunct Washington naval treaty leaves Britain and the United States a free hand in the fortification of their Pacific possessions. It is known Britain has decided to build a new airbase at Hongkong and to strengthen the local garrison and defensive works.

Study Guam Fortification.

With the contemplated withdrawal of the United States from the Philippines, it is considered doubtful here that they will be further strengthened. However, the question of fortifying Guam, which is 1,500 miles west of Manila in mid-Pacific, is still open.

The heaviest fortifications at Singapore are a series of 18 inch guns, said to be larger and more powerful than any guns at the United States' tremendous naval base at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu. These 18 inch cannon are said to have been originally on the British super dreadnaughts, Furious, Glorious, and Courageous, but were removed because firing them almost broke the backs of those ships. Their range is said to be 40 to 50 miles and they are accurate against a moving target 30 miles away.

Also Use 12 and 16 inch Guns.

Other modern 12 to 16 inch guns have been erected on Singapore Island, on Pulau Tekon, Pulau Brani, and Blakang Mati Islands, all in the Straits of Johore, and forming a part of the defensive works of the Singapore naval base. Tekon Island is generally regarded as the "key" fortress.

Singapore city, as distinct from the Island of Singapore and the Seletai coastline, is defended by several fortified islands, notably Blakang Mati, where 15 inch guns guard the entrance to Singapore harbor from the west. An elaborate network of underground batteries has been constructed on Singapore Island. In comparison with these, experts say, world war fortifications like those at Verdun, Douamont, Liege, Cambrai, and the Hindenburg line, would be obsolete.

TWIN GUNMEN ROB TEN OF CAR AND $730 LOOT

Two gunmen, apparently twins, obtained an automobile, $670 worth of jewelry, and $62 in seven robberies on the north side Saturday night and early yesterday morning. First the men held up Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Berglund, 7155 East End avenue, at California and Foster avenue, taking Berglund's car and $10. Using the car, they cruised about the north side, robbing Mrs. Hilda Hanren, 6212 North Claremont avenue; Mrs. Frank Joyce, 448 St. James place; Edward Goyke, 4826 North Leavitt street; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Nordling, 5017 North Lincoln street; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meir, 1945 Winnemac avenue, and Miss Bernice Kern, 4726 North Artesian avenue.

David Shanahan Reported Holding His Own in Illness

David E. Shanahan, dean of the Illinois legislature and its speaker for five terms, was reported as holding his own yesterday at Mercy hospital, where he is critically ill. Early in the day his physician, Dr. C. F. Sawyer, said that he was "very low." He entered the hospital a week ago after a heart attack.

SHOWERS COME AS STATE PRAYS IN DROUTH CRISIS

Bismarck, N. D., June 7.—(AP)—Showers fell on drouth parched North Dakota fields today as the state knelt en masse to pray for rain.

Answering the supplications in advance, the heavens dropped moisture before the sabbath dawn.

Almost an inch of rain had fallen at Williston by sunrise, the weatherman reported. Devil's Lake had .16 of an inch. Only a trace was recorded at Bismarck.

Thunderstorms were forecast for tonight and tomorrow, but much water was still needed to revive stricken crops and the farmers prayed fervently that it would come.

No Relief in Southeast.

Atlanta, Ga., June 7.—(AP)—The drouth seared southeast prayed today for crop saving rain but forecasters said none was in sight.

Worshippers in Georgia and South Carolina offered prayers for a break in the two month dry spell extending from Maryland to Alabama.

The atlanta weather bureau said the best to be hoped for was possible thundershowers in mountainous North Georgia, the Carolinas and Alabama early in the week.

200 LEFT HOMELESS AFTER WINDSTORMS HIT OKLAHOMA AREA

Lawton, Okla., June 7.—(AP)—Red Cross, state, and private relief agencies rushed aid into the windswept western part of Comanche county today to more than 200 persons, left homeless by four smashing winds.

The storm was one of a series which howled across Oklahoma in the last three days, killing seven persons in widely scattered parts of the state Thursday, Friday, and yesterday, and sending property damage into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Two were killed in Kansas.

In a Comanche area fifteen miles long and ten miles wide gales wrecked 26 farm homes and flattened a "squatter's camp" of tents and flimsy dwellings.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Early Harvest.

June 7, 1936.

HAY harvest began on the Tribune Yorkville Experimental farm yesterday when the mowers were started in one of the alfalfa fields on the north side of Fox river. The first cutting of alfalfa is normally delayed in this region until near the middle of June, but the meadows are maturing earlier than usual this year. Several alfalfa fields on neighboring farms were cut early last week.

The meadows have not made such rank growth this spring as last and are not expected to yield as high a tonnage of hay, although the farm manager thinks the quality of the first cutting will be better than last year. The stems of the alfalfa plants are smaller and less fiberous than those grown under more favorable weather conditions last season and are expected to be more easily cured into good quality hay. Dry weather during the last few weeks has checked the growth of the alfalfa and hastened its maturity.

Corn Coming Ahead.

Corn on the Yorkville farm still is making fair growth despite a lack of moisture. Some of it is turning yellow. The cultivators were kept going most of last week. About 400 of the 462 acres of corn planted on the farm this spring has been cultivated at least once. Some of the fields have been cultivated a second time to clean out the morning glories and other weeds and to check the work of cutworms and ants. All these pests are more prevalent in the fields where sod was turned under than in those where cultivated crops grew last year.

The last of the corn planted on the place now is coming up. Some of it was slow about sprouting in the late planted fields, but the tender shoots are beginning to push through the dry soil. The planters were set so as to plant the corn in these fields deeper than usual to get the kernels down to moist earth.

War Against Worms.

About half of a ten acre field of silage corn on the Yorkville farm had to be disked up and replanted last week. This was a field of alfalfa sod land and was badly infested with cutworms. The pests cut down enough of the young corn plants on one side of the field to make a "ragged" stand and it was thought best to disk this part of the field and replant it. Except for this one small plot, there is a good stand in all of the fields.

Test Crops Labeled.

All the test crops at the Wheaton farm have been planted and most of them are up. Signs have been placed by each crop, giving the name of the crop, the variety, and other information for the benefit of visitors.

FORTIFIED STRAIT FOR PROTECTION, PLEA OF TURKEY

Will Argue Case Before World War Enemies.

MONTREUX, Switzerland, June 7.—(AP)—Turkey, contending her national security is imperiled, will plead her case for refortification of the Dardanelles before her world war foes at a conference beginning here June 22.

These world war enemies, now considered in the class of friendly powers, are expected to grant the request. They are Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan—guaranteeing states of the straits convention.

This conference, in sharp contrast to the methods by which Germany is achieving her ends, may mark the launching of an extensive movement for revision of treaties by mutual agreement and negotiation in southeastern Europe.

Three May Follow Suit.

Hungary, Bulgaria and Austria may follow in the footsteps of Turkey. All three are dissatisfied with post-war treaty limitations upon them.

The revision of the post-war treaties has been a burning subject for many years. Germany has been criticized for unilaterally releasing herself from the stipulations of the treaty of Versailles—first by proclaiming general conscription and increasing her armaments and, second, by occupying the demilitarized Rhine zone.

Germany justified her conscription and remilitarization by claiming the war allies refused to fulfill their pledge of reducing their own armaments. She justified the reoccupation of her own territory on the Rhine by contending that the Franco-soviet pact of mutual assistance nullified the famous treaty of Locarno whereby Germany was stopped from occupying the Rhine while Britain and Italy guaranteed to aid her or France or Belgium if any one of the three was attacked.

Says Security Is Menaced.

Now comes Turkey which asserts its security is endangered by the straits convention signed at Lausanne in 1923. That convention fixes demilitarized zones on Turkish territory where defensive fortifications are absolutely forbidden. While throwing out a hint that she may refortify anyway, Turkey has nevertheless begun by requesting a revision of the treaty of Lausanne.

Turkey has officially announced that to her mind the guaranteeing states are no longer in a position to assure peace in the Turkish water possessions which connect the Mediterranean and the Black sea. The guarantee is to be carried out "by all the means the league of nations council may decide for this purpose."

In a note to the signatory powers Turkey declared that "it is amply proved today that the most delicate stage of danger from without is the stage of a threat of war in which a state of war may arise unexpectedly and without any formality."

CATHOLIC YOUTH PLEDGE FAITH AT RITE IN GERMANY

BERLIN, June 7.—(AP)—Catholic youths attended special services in all Catholic churches of Germany today.

They made an "open and solemn expression of faith" at an important juncture in negotiations between the church and Nazis over the curbing of Catholic youth organizations.

The manifestation was interpreted in Catholic circles as an indication the church intends to maintain the youth groups despite Nazi objections.

Only 149 days remain in which to save your country.
What are you doing to save it?

WILL YOU SIGN A DEATH SENTENCE?

Within a few days the state legislature will vote on a measure designed to prevent Chicago, or any other Illinois municipality for that matter, from designating its own standard of time, chosen in the interest of the health, wealth and safety of its citizens. Representatives from East St. Louis, Cairo, Danville, Springfield will vote on a subject that is admittedly of no concern to them or to their constituents.

It will be represented that the measure is objectionable even to Chicago, and therefore no harm can be done, but as politicians they will know that such statements cannot be sustained without a referendum. They also know that a noisy minority can produce the semblance of public opinion. The city ordinance has justified itself in the saving of a score of lives alone. Opponents have styled this incontrovertible result as "merely luck" despite nation-wide statistics which, over a period of years, have proved that motor fatalities go up as the sun goes down.

Is party regularity so strong that even the stigma of murderer will fail to prevent legislators from combatting honest efforts to improve the ghastly conditions on Chicago streets? Public officials, the trafic courts and motor clubs, whose duty it is to know, have certified to the effectiveness of eastern time as a life saving device. Opponents seize straws to controvert facts with a ferocity that suggests an ulterior motive.

Chicago has its own machinery for testing public opinion. The disinterested votes of other sections of the state are neither relevant nor necessary. Constitutional or not, the representatives of half of the population of the state should not attempt to control so personal a matter as the comings and goings of the other half, and such interference will merely invite reprisals. What will be the state of mind when the boot is on the other foot?

Chicago has a life and death trafic problem in its congested streets. It overshadows every other municipal responsibility. Honest efforts are being made by the trafic courts, the motor clubs and the press to alleviate the condition. Is the state to interfere and nullify such progress as has been made? Strangely enough, the interests that are opposing daylight saving time are identical with those who are opposing the construction of elevated highways and safety motor roads, which offer the only perfect solution to a terrible condition.

THE SOUTH IN THE SADDLE.

The selection of William Bankhead of Alabama to succeed Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee as speaker of the house offers additional evidence of the extent to which the south is in the saddle in Washington. The south retains the speakership and, with one or two exceptions, the chairmanship of every important committee. It is because of that fact that the mendicant states of the south have been particularly favored in the distribution of federal easy money.

When Harry Hopkins, commissar for relief, was cracking down on northern states with the ultimatum that they had to provide substantial sums from local taxation if they expected federal help, he was singing a different tune in the south. The duty of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois to care for their own poor was of one sort; the duty of Mississippi, Alabama, and Texas was of quite another. The sales tax in Illinois had to be raised from 2 to 3 per cent to meet his demands, but cotton states have been permitted to pass almost the whole burden to the federal taxpayers. This is doubly unjust because the cotton south contributes almost nothing to the federal treasury in income taxes, while the northern and eastern states contribute almost the whole amount. We are thus paying for the support of our own poor and for the southern poor as well.

In this connection the distinction which has just been conferred on Mr. Bankhead is of great significance. Mr. Bankhead was instrumental in creating more poverty in the south than was created by the depression. It is thanks in no small part to his efforts that hundreds of thousands of poor Negroes and poor whites, share croppers and tenant farmers, have been thrown off the land, deprived of any opportunity to earn an honest living. They were always poor, but he helped kick them still farther down the economic ladder. They are today homeless and helpless, except for the relief which comes to them from northern taxpayers.

That result was deliberately achieved, despite clear forecasts of what would issue from the Bankhead cotton act. [The act was named for Senator Bankhead, the congressman's kinsman, and was strongly supported in the house by Representative Bankhead.] The law was calculated to benefit the plantation owners by forcibly restricting the production of cotton. There was nothing optional about it; it was compulsory and it could only result in reducing the demand for labor in the cotton fields. Mr. Bankhead—Speaker Bankhead, as he must now be called—was not deterred by any thought of the misery he was helping to create. His friends were the landowners in the plantation houses. The families living in share croppers' shanties could look out for themselves.

No more pitiless a law has been enacted in this country since the fugitive slave code was repealed at the point of the bayonet. A man who was largely responsible for all this unnecessary misery is the man whom, today, the Democrats delight to honor.

THE MINIMUM WAGE DECISION.

The constitutionality of minimum wage legislation has been considered by the United States Supreme court in important cases on three occasions. In 1917 the court passed upon an Oregon statute. Judge Brandeis, who had just taken his seat on the bench, had written an ingenious brief for the statute in the Oregon courts. He was by reason of this previous activity disqualified to sit when the case came to the United States Supreme court. The court divided 4 to 4 and the statute remained in effect. The Supreme court had a minimum wage act before it again in 1923, when the court voided an act of congress establishing a minimum wage statute for women in the District of Columbia. It was a 5 to 3 decision. Judge Brandeis again did not participate because his daughter was at that time an official of the district minimum wage commission. In the New York case decided Monday the law was voided by the vote of 5 judges, 4 believing that the law was within the constitution. Thus in the three cases a total of 14 votes were cast against the statutes and a total of 11 votes in favor. The constitutionality of minimum wage legislation is thus seen to be a very close question.

The practical effect of minimum wage legislation is less questionable. Minimum wage legislation was one of the planks in the old Progressive party platform, along with the initiative, referendum and recall. Although a number of states rushed to put these reforms into effect, in none have they proved to be of any lasting importance. Following the decision in the Oregon case, several states passed minimum wage laws, but it would be difficult to establish any connection between the legislation and the subsequent course of wages. It has been said that the New York law brought about an increase in the average wage of laundry workers from $10.41 to $13.42. And there are few except laundry employers who would not commend that. However, the rise came during a period of rising wages for domestic workers and there is a strong probability that the advance would have been quite as much if the law had not been in effect. Indeed, Ted Blend, manager of THE TRIBUNE classified advertising department, advises us that there has been a substantial increase in wages of laundresses here. And the Illinois minimum wage law—yes, there is a minimum wage law in Illinois—has had nothing to do with it. For, although the minimum wage law has been in effect since 1933, no mandatory order carrying penalties has ever been issued under it.

THEY DON'T WANT LANDON.

Democratic newspapers and other apologists for the New Deal are unable to conceal their hope that Gov. Landon will not be the Republican nominee. Taking their cue from Boss Farley, who sought to belittle him by calling him only a governor of a prairie state, they are seizing upon every pretext to throw doubt upon his popularity, his ability, and his prospects.

Obviously they are afraid of him. He appears to be the only one of the leading candidates whom they do greatly fear. A stronger argument for his selection would be difficult to make.

Editorial of the Day

EASY MONEY MEANS HARD PAYING.

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

The majority of persons, who pay no income tax and never buy government bonds, may imagine that they have no direct concern with the dull details of the treasury's latest scheme for borrowing, which involves a couple of billions, half of the amount for refunding old loans and the remainder for helping to pay the soldiers' bonus.

If, according to report, Secretary Morgenthau is "elated" at the prospect of obtaining this huge sum at the cheapest cost on record—interest rates 2¾ and 1⅜ per cent—why should they worry?

The government's credit must be excellent when it can command such "easy money," so let's leave treasury high finance to those who understand it. Thus some may argue as they turn to more exciting news in the paper.

But "easy come, easy go" is as true of governments as of individuals. And in the case of both "easy money" is a powerful temptation to extravagance and waste. More than any administration in American history the New Deal has exemplified this fact.

This June borrowing will boost the national debt to a new high of $32,600,000,000. This represents an addition of about $12,000,000,000 since the New Deal took office. Just after the world war it was $26,000,000,000. In ten years of Republican administrations before the depression struck us, it was cut to $16,000,000,000. With this new borrowing it will have been more than doubled.

Such figures ought to be shocking to the American people, but they seem largely to have lost their power to shock. A complacent President now seeks to give assurance that the government could stand a much bigger debt before getting into serious straits and that accumulating deficits are nothing to worry about, although on March 10, 1933, he told congress that "for three long years the federal government has been on the road toward bankruptcy."

Mr. Roosevelt was then looking back on the deficits of the preceding administration to which a Democratic congress had contributed. He was horror stricken at the thought of a cumulative five billion dollar deficit in four years. But for this present fiscal year alone a deficit of nearly six billions is indicated.

From the time of the first congress in 1789 to the beginning of President Wilson's administration in 1913 federal appropriations aggregated $24,521,000,000. Since the advent of the New Deal they will have amounted to $32,432,000,000 when this congress ends.

Thus the burden of spending amounts to $260 for every man, woman, and child in the country, or an average of $1,118 per family. And, as has so frequently been shown, nobody can escape paying until it hurts, while the load falls most heavily upon the poor and those of modest means.

Borrowing comes easy to the New Deal. But the day of reckoning inevitably is on the way.

"ANOTHER 4 to 5 Per Cent Tire Price Boost Predicted."—La Trib. Gosh! if it isn't a motor cop coming up and asking where the fire is or somebody slamming your doors shut (it's a wonder that every window in the car isn't shattered), up jumps an increase in tires of 4 to 5 per cent. And try to drive as carefully as I may, I was almost binged right on Delaware place yesterday afternoon by a careening driver over in the wrong lane and speeding through heavy traffic at forty to fifty miles an hour. If it isn't one thing when you own a car it's something else. As dear old Gaar Williams used to say: "Wot a life! Wot a life!"

AT LAST, hay fever sneezers, you get a break. Nobody less than Dr. Buenaventura Jiminez of the University of Michigan clinic announces the discovery of evidence that hay fever might be a mark of superior intelligence. Up to date the only superior intelligence a hay feverer was supposed to have was not to go over and play in a hayfield. I don't have hay fever, but I do have winter itch. I wonder if winter itch is a sign of mental superiority or arrested development?

LESSON FROM HELLAS.

When I remember Hellas
  My heart is sick for woe
To think of Grecian battles
  And Grecian boys brought low;
What lips and eyes of laughter
  Cut lifeless at a blow!

Yet still we learn of Sparta
  —Though Spartan swords be rust—
That these our sons and brothers
  Tomorrow, if they must,
Should lay without a quaver
  Their beauty in the dust.

WE'RE A QUEER PEOPLE! We do not permit a citizen to carry concealed weapons. Yet anybody at all can drive a much bigger weapon, an automobile, without having to secure a driver's license or pass any sort of examination as to whether he is physically fit or knows how to drive a car. The automobile is not to blame; that is, the kind that is bought at a responsible dealer's. But the old junk that is picked up for five dollars or two and a half or what have you should not be permitted on the street. But we do permit it. If a policeman detects a man with a suspicious bulge in his pocket and finds out it is a revolver that man is snapped up at once and hustled off to jail. Now, I would rather be hit by a cute little bullet weighing a few ounces than by a three thousand pound piece of junk traveling sixty miles an hour with a drunken driver at the wheel. As my faithful hound, Tommy Atkins, remarked the other day, "Dogs seems to have lots more sense than humans, don't they?" And I had to agree with him.

‡

AND I FEEL that I've just got to revive at this moment my ancient favorite:

"The black bass dived to the center of the pool,
  And he said to the wall-eyed pike,
"'There'll be hell to pay in the lake today,
  For I've seen your Uncle Ike.'"

I don't like to make people unhappy, but how the fishermen puttering around on office stools are going to writhe as they read that lovely poem. It upsets me, too. "The black bass dived to the center of the pool." You'll have to wait, boy; I can't send down any copy right now; I'm thinking of that poem, "There'll be hell to pay in the lake today, for I've seen your Uncle Ike." Oh, gosh!

‡

A WOMAN has been sent to jail for reckless driving. Which spikes the women's argument that they are better drivers than men, because none of them is sent to jail. The moral is that cocktails are just as befuddling to the female mind as to the male. And maybe more, because the ladies do order such weird things put into their cocktails. As the indignant bartender said when a woman ordered grenadine, orange juice, gin, crême de menthe, maple sirup, Chartreuse, vermouth, apricot brandy, and an olive and a cherry into her cocktail: "Say, that hain't no cocktail; that's a New England boiled dinner."

FROM ATTAR OF YEARS.

LEAF MOULD.

Be with me while I go this half
  Forgotten way. A thorn-tree grove
Looms as this little winding path
  Becomes familiar, hear the old
Leaves crackle as we pass.
  The shade here almost rivals dusk.
Look! Violets bloom again for us,
  About the edges, mid the grass.
Let us rest where the cool leaf mould
  Is deepest, where the shadows mass.
Breathe now, my friend, and fill the soul.
  Cool, dank and musty, sweet and past.

SUNDAY MORNING.

My dear one, breathing leisurely,
  Half-opened eyes still filled with sleep,
So intimately near to me
  The very breeze across your cheek
Sweeps also mine. The peonies
  Outside our window send bouquets
Of scent to wish a happy day.
  Your nostrils very soon shall be
Beguiled by more than flower-sweet.
  The smell of orange juice and coffee
Will bring you to your lazy feet,
  And bacon sizzling temptingly.

P. S. McDONALD.

THIS CHANGING WORLD! One of the best laughs in our childhood days was about the man who stole a red hot stove. But a day or two ago a man in Chicago stole an airplane. Our sense of humor has been so changed these days we wouldn't be surprised a bit to read any time that some despicable fiends in human form had purloined the Washington monument or Al Smith's 101 story Empire State building.

How to Keep Well
By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

BURNING TONGUE.

AMONG the many thousands of letters received by this column, a considerable number will mention the symptom of a "burning tongue." This may be described as "tingling," "smarting," or "soreness." The writer will usually state that the pain comes and goes, varying in severity. Sometimes when the mind is occupied completely with other matters the sensation will disappear, only to return. Most patients will state that hot drinks and highly seasoned foods aggravate the condition.

If one may judge from the number of inquiries, this is not an uncommon state of affairs. Nevertheless medical writings upon the subject are not numerous, and those who mention it are quite likely to conclude that in many cases it is a nervous manifestation, possibly with the individual a bit below par physically and inclined to be somewhat neurotic.

First of all, care must be taken to rule out actual disease of the tongue or the mucous membrane of the mouth. A careful search must be made for tiny pinpoint ulcers and foci of infection around the teeth and on the gum margins, as well as systemic disease such as tuberculosis, anemia, or fungus infections. It is well known that the symptom occurs in connection with sprue, pellagra, mild scurvy, and whenever the blood drops below normal in the number of cells or hemoglobin. If patches of ulceration appear or the tongue exhibits sharply reddened areas, a blood examination should be made, and more often than not some form of anemia will be found to be responsible. The absence of hydrochloric acid in the stomach is a common accompaniment.

Many patients will indicate that on reading an article about cancer, in which attention was called to the dangers of mouth and tongue malignancy, they immediately became conscious of a tingling or burning in the mouth. Certainly fear of cancer is mentioned many times as a possible cause. The patient becomes apprehensive and the slightest twinge or ache anywhere in the body is interpreted as the beginning of this dread disease. This, of course, is purely the result of suggestion, and while we should not be blind to the onset of the disease, we need not harbor cancer phobias. Examination will probably disclose no ulcer, tumor, or growth, in which event the possibility of cancer may be dismissed.

Sometimes the symptom will arise because of excessive smoking, or more commonly because of bridge work or false teeth. This is not unusual during the first few weeks after the installation of dental work. A rough, jagged tooth is often answerable, and attention to the offending object which the tongue naturally touches and feels thousands of times a day will relieve the annoyance.

Trench mouth [Vincent's angina] and infection of the tonsils, particularly the lymph tissue at the base of the tongue, must be thought of. Again, other cases will be brought on by a true neuritis or neuralgia, which is frequently characterized by intermittent pain, stabbing in character, and affecting but half the tongue.

What to do is the question. Obviously anemia in most instances can be corrected easily and infections within the mouth and about the teeth removed. If the symptom appears as the result of a true neurosis, reëducation is important, plus the use of some mild sedative. Certainly no patient should be dismissed with a wave of the hand and the statement, "It is just your nerves; forget it."

One of our valued correspondents, a woman of 38, wrote that for some months her tongue had felt stiff, with a slight burning sensation at the tip and along the sides. She stated that otherwise she was in excellent health. In our reply she was advised to consult her physician, with the suggestion that a blood and stomach examination be made. Gastric analysis revealed the absence of free hydrochloric acid and the blood showed some anemia. Her physician prescribed dilute hydrochloric acid and iron, and after a month she reported that her mouth sensations had entirely disappeared. While away on a visit she was unable to take the acid regularly for approximately one week and noticed a return of the symptom, which again disappeared with the resumption of the medication.

ERYSIPELAS.

P. O. E. writes: What causes erysipelas? Is it dangerous? What is the cure?

REPLY.

Erysipelas is a contagious and infectious disease of the skin, the site of infection being a wound, a slight scratch, or an unrecognized abrasion of the skin or mucous membrane. Bad hygiene and defective sanitation contribute largely to the occurrence of the disease. It is essential to eliminate the source of the streptococcus on the skin—and this means strict cleanliness. Keep the resistance high with good food and plenty of rest. Sometimes anemia is present and this may invite the infection.

The element of danger is not great in young adults but in infants and elderly persons the mortality is high. Convalescent serum and antitoxin are used. X-ray is of value as is ultraviolet light. We must not regard the infection lightly.

HAVE LUNGS EXAMINED.

J. R. S. writes: For several years I have been very susceptible to colds and I have great difficulty in recovering from them. This spring I developed a wheezing in the throat, a bad cough, and expectoration of mucus. With the least exertion I breathe fast and hard and my face has a bluish cast. At times, especially at night, my feet and legs get very cold. Are these symptoms of tuberculosis? If so, what precautions are necessary?

REPLY.

Have an examination for both lung and heart disease. Your symptoms are more suggestive of heart trouble than of tuberculosis. Either condition may be remedied if skilled advice is secured without delay.

METALLIC TASTE.

G. E. M. writes: What is the cause of a metallic taste in the mouth? I have gold and silver fillings in my mouth, but the dentist claims this is not the cause.

REPLY.

Metals used in dental work are often responsible, especially if they are of different polarities. This may result in the setting up of a feeble electric current. Sometimes drugs [medicines] contain iodides, bromides, copper, arsenic, or mercury. Any one of these can produce the symptoms. Mouth breathing at night or excessive smoking should be considered.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 8, 1787.—[In committee of the whole.]—Mr. Pinckney of South Carolina moved that the national legislature should have the power to negative all state laws judged to be improper. Mr. Madison seconded the motion. Experience had evinced a constant tendency in the states to encroach on the federal authority. A veto was the mildest expedient which could be devised for preventing these mischiefs. Was coercion eligible as a remedy? Was it practical? Could the national resources if exerted to the utmost enforce a national decree against Massachusetts abetted perhaps by several of her neighbors? It was not possible.

How Shall the States Be Controled?

Mr. Sherman of Connecticut thought the cases in which the veto should be used might be defined. Mr. Gerry of Massachusetts could not see the extent of such a power and was against every power which was not necessary. He thought a remonstrance against unreasonable acts of the states would reclaim them. A national legislature with such power may enslave the state. Such an idea as this will never be acceded to.

Mr. Bedford of Delaware in answer to the question where would be the danger to the states from this power would refer to the smallness of his own state which may be injured at pleasure without redress. It was meant, he found, to strip the small states of their equal rights of suffrage. Is there no difference of interests, no rivalry of commerce, of manufactures? Will not these large states crush the small ones whenever they stand in the way of their ambitious or interested views? And after all if a state does not obey the law of the new system must not force be resorted to as in any other system?

The motion to extend the veto to all cases was defeated, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Virginia being in the affirmative. For Virginia Mr. Randolph and Mr. Mason were no, Mr. Blair, Dr. McClurg, and Mr. Madison were ay, and Gen. Washington was not consulted.

RIGHT TO VOTE.

Chicago, May 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I was convicted of a felony in 1927 in another state. I have paid my debt and have been out and in this state [Illinois] for six years. Can I now vote?

W. T. D.

The criminal code, in providing that conviction of certain crimes deemed infamous shall disqualify the person from voting, adopts the test as to larceny "if the punishment for said larceny is by imprisonment in the penitentiary." This reference to the Illinois penitentiary as distinguished from a penitentiary in general implies that conviction under Illinois law is what is meant. But we find no cases squarely on this point. The best way to ascertain the attitude of the board of election commissioners is to take the matter up with them.

ABANDONED AUTO.

Chicago, June 1.—[Friend of the People.]—Will you please have the abandoned automobile removed from in front of our residence? This auto has been standing there since 1933 without being moved. I hope you can do something to aid us in getting it removed.

A. R.

Officers visited the location complained of but failed to find an automobile such as described. However, upon talking to one of the residents of the building, they were informed that said resident had owned an automobile of the make mentioned, but had sold same for junk about two weeks ago. Several further visits were made to this location, but no law violations were found.

LIFE SAVERS.

Chicago, June 5.—As the school term comes to a close we wish to take this opportunity to thank the police department for their splendid work in coöperation with the school.

The Goudy school is located on Foster avenue, one of the busiest automobile highways in the city. The police of the Summerdale station have been untiring, efficient, and consistently faithful in attendance at their crossings—Winthrop and Foster and Kenmore and Foster. We feel that such devotion to duty should be acknowledged.

BUT WOULD THE SCOTS GIVE A QUARTER?

Chicago, June 3.—As an American of Welsh ancestry, mixed with Irish, I wish to arouse Welsh sentiment throughout the entire British empire as well as in the United States to subscribe for the expense attendant upon having the Welsh red dragon placed upon the British coat of arms. The English lion has one quarter, the Irish harp another, and the three Scottish lions the other two quarters. How come?

I am told that considerable expense will be attached to altering consular seals and other British seals and insignia. But will the original Britons, the Welsh, allow a few hundred dollars, or pounds, to prevent them from being represented on the proud, historic British coat of arms? I trow not.

I suggest that Charles Evans Hughes, chief Supreme court justice, be made custodian of such a fund and see to it that it carries through to the finish.

The Welsh distinguished themselves at Crecy, Poitiers, Agincourt, Waterloo, and in the world war battles, so why should they not be represented on the British coat of arms?

The Scots are a brave, chivalrous, and poetic people, but the Welsh are good Britons, too; so please, Scotties, let us Welsh have at least one quarter upon Britain's coat of arms. Thanks.

HARRISON T. HUGHES.

WPA.

Chicago, June 2.—Chartering a bus to deliver a herring is a nonsensical way of doing a sensible thing. The WPA attainments appear similarly vehicled. With many a citizen attempting to convert the meaning of the placarded initials WPA into sentences indicative of his own opinion, the following assortment may prove of some assistance:

We Play Around.
Wasting Public Assets.
We Putter About.
Without Productive Aims.
Witless Political Antics.
Warning Prosperity Away.
Watch Piffling Action.
With Pendant Arms.
Waiting Pillows' Arrival.
Works' Parody Assembly.
Wasters' Paradise Attained.

The keeper of the "bees" that are expected to supply the "honey" at the coming election should consider the hazard connected with the WPA occupation and institute a system of calisthenics for the rank and file to keep atrophy of the muscles to a minimum. As for those in charge, the malady won't affect their brain cells; their evident diligence in inventing harder ways to do easy things prevents it.

H. C. OF L.

Chicago, June 4.—On account of the high and ever higher prices of plain food one-half of the population is living on half rations. If you are not a member of the one-half you are not aware of it. Let no one dispute Franklin D. Roosevelt's place in history as the man who raised the price of the ham sandwich to 15 cents.

JOHN W. BOOBLIC.

JUDGES IN POLITICS.

Chicago, June 2.—The public relations committee of the Illinois Bar association is reported as urging that all judges be appointed for life terms by the governor upon recommendation of various bar associations and the Supreme court, subject to the approval of the state senate, for the purpose of removing judges from politics.

This gives rise to the following questions: 1. While the governor himself is not removed from politics, how could he be expected to appoint judges free of political influence? 2. Is it not a fact that the various bar associations themselves have leading members actively engaged in politics? 3. If such appointments should be subject to the approval of the state senate in order to remove judges from politics, it would indeed be interesting to know since when have the state senators stopped playing politics?

The gentlemen of the committee can make no mistake in conceding that it is of much importance to have an improved bar association before making any attempt to improve the bench. As a matter of fact, it cannot be denied that the great majority of lawyers in Illinois are not duly represented by any bar association, and are therefore powerless to exercise their rights, that is, if they have any rights, in the matter of improving their own house as they may deem just and proper.

What is really needed in this state is a bar association created by law, making it compulsory for all lawyers to automatically become its members five years after admission to the Illinois bar. It should have local branches in all counties and function strictly as a representative form of bar association, with the right and duty on the part of its members to participate in all matters discussed at its meetings concerning the improvement of the bench and bar. In each county throughout the state the local branch of said bar association should assume the responsibility of nominating two or more candidates for election [by the people] for each judicial office there. In brief, the members of the bar should have as much right to improve their own house as they are presumed to be duty bound to do so.

NIPPED AND SQUEEZED.

Chicago, June 2.—I would like to advise Americans wishing to travel for pleasure to stay in their own land. I was born in Austria. My family came over 58 years ago, when I was 12. In 1927 I took the family across to see relatives still there. Train and hotel accommodations do not compare with ours. You get nipped and squeezed wherever you turn. Paying my bill in Carlsbad I was reminded by the cashier that he was entitled to a generous tip like the rest. Ours is rightfully God's country, lacking only the right leadership.

WE STAND PAT.

Fort Atkinson, Wis., June 2.—Your editorial yesterday concludes: "Mr. Zioncheck is probably the most sensible Democrat in the house of representatives." A news story in the June 2 edition reports that Mr. Zioncheck is being held for mental examination. Either THE TRIBUNE carries party prejudice to absurd extremes or it has a perverted idea of what constitutes being "sensible." Both avenues of approach on this matter bear merit.

GANG BULLETS TEAR CLOTHING OF MINE CHIEF

Renewal of Union War Is Feared by Officials.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—Authorities feared a renewal of the bitter warfare between rival mine unions in the wake of the attempted assassination today of Ray Edmundson, Illinois president of the United Mine Workers of America.

This attack was the latest in the bloody feud between Edmundson's organization and the Progressive Miners of America for control of mine workers in southern Illinois. Within the past year two men have been killed, the last murder but eleven days ago.

Bullets Rip Clothing.

As Edmundson's wife and mother left his car and entered their home at Lincoln and Lawrence avenues a carload of gunmen drew up to the curb and opened fire. The union president flung himself to the ground as a hail of twenty bullets passed over him. Two pierced his clothing.

The gun car sped away and circled the block, but before its return Edmundson had taken shelter in his garage. He refused the offer of Chief of Detectives C. W. Jesberg for protection, saying he could take care of himself.

Organizer First Slain.

Edris Mabie, organizer for the Progressive Miners, was slain on April 23, 1935, in a gun battle before the union headquarters. Edmundson and two other men were tried for the murder and acquitted.

Edmundson's subsequent appointment to the state coal board to administer the now defunct Guffey coal act in Illinois was bitterly opposed by the opposition union.

Eleven days ago Fred Gramlich, Springfield saloonkeeper, was shot to death. The gunmen apparently mistook him for his son, Arthur, a leader in the progressive union.

NAPS IN HIS AUTO; FINDS BAD DREAM IS REAL ARTICLE

While Thomas Newman, 24 years old, 3224 Maypole avenue, was waiting for Miss Jean Valencia, 20 years old, 1450 Noble street, to finish work in a tavern at North avenue and Wood street early yesterday, he fell asleep in the rear seat of his car. When he awakened a stranger was driving the machine away.

Newman protested and the stranger threatened him with a gun. At Higgins and River roads the gunman stopped the car, forced Newman to disrobe, and took $4 and his $25 watch.

"I'll get cold," Newman objected.

"This will keep you warm," said the gunman. He bound Newman's hands with a necktie, his feet with a shirt, and slipped a sack over his head. Then he drove away, leaving Newman by the roadside.

A cruising squad from the Morton Grove police station found Newman and began a search for the robber.

Luncheon Today Will Fete 'American Mother of 1936'

A luncheon will be given at the La Salle hotel today in honor of Mrs. James Richard Smith of Claremont, Cal., who was selected a month ago as "The American Mother of 1936" by the Golden Rule Foundation of New York City. Mrs. Smith, who went to New York to speak over a national radio hookup on Mother's day, arrived here yesterday on her return to California. The luncheon is sponsored by the Chicago Committee for Religion and Welfare Recovery.

MORTALITY RATE AMONG MOTHERS TWICE TOO HIGH

New York, June 7.—(AP)—The Maternity Center association, reporting on its activities for the years 1930 to 1935, said today this country's maternal mortality rate is "more than twice as high as it should be."

"We stand today as a nation where we stood 20 years ago," the association said, but it added that in the five year period thousands had learned "at least the simple facts that more than half, probably two-thirds" of mothers who die in childbirth could be saved by "good care."

U. S. COMMISSION PREPARES RULES FOR TELEVISION

Visual Trademarks to Go on Air in Future.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—(AP)—The family's radio of tomorrow may feed out trade marks instead of signature songs.

New regulations governing television broadcasts, whipped into shape today by the federal communications commission, govern televised commercial programs. Although designed to keep television on an experimental basis for a time, the regulations permit a wider latitude in testing such transmission under commercial operating conditions.

Saling that synchronized oral broadcasting "is considered an essential phase of television broadcasting," the rules provide that one license will be issued for both types of transmission.

Must Show Contribution.

To obtain a license an applicant must show it has a program "of research and experimentation which indicates reasonable promise of substantial contribution to the development of the visual broadcast art." Licensees may not transmit any programs "for which they receive, directly or indirectly, any form of compensation."

When a regular commercial program is "televised," the rules provide, all commercial announcements not a part of the entertainment continuity must be eliminated from the television broadcast except the mere statement of the name of the sponsor.

The station, however, may transmit an image of the slogan, trade mark, or product of the sponsor.

Three Bands Set Aside.

Broadcasters are prohibited by the regulations from soliciting advertising accounts upon the representation that the program will be transmitted both orally and visually.

Three high-frequency bands are set aside for television and the rules provide that a license for a television station will authorize the use of two adjacent frequencies in one band. The lower frequency will be for visual broadcast and the higher for oral.

Frequencies must be chosen so that no interference will result to other services operating on nearby bands.

FATHER STRICKEN VISITING STUDENT ON N. U. CAMPUS

Lawrence Gary Mathias, 47 years old, of Harrisburg, Pa., died suddenly early yesterday in Chapin hall, on the Northwestern university campus, where his daughter, Elizabeth, is a freshman student. Mr. Mathias and his wife, Florence, came to Evanston to visit their daughter, who lives in Chapin hall. Mrs. Mathias remained with her daughter Saturday night, and her husband took a room at 1838 Chicago avenue. He became ill during the night and went to Chapin hal, were Miss Frances Yearly, the matron, summoned his wife and daughter. Dr. J. D. Croft, of 636 Church street, Evanston, was summoned, and a few minutes after he arrived, Mr. Mathias died.

His father, who died in 1933, was city treasurer during the régime of Mayor Carter Harrison Jr. Mr. Hummel is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Marie Fisher, three grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. H. P. McLaughlin. The funeral will be held at 1:30 p. m. from the chapel at 10240 Ewing avenue, with burial in Graceland cemetery.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Contrary to earlier announcements from the White House two addresses by President Roosevelt have been scheduled for broadcast over nation-wide networks this week despite the fact that the Republican national convention will be in session. At 7 p. m. Wednesday the President will speak in connection with the celebration of the Arkansas Centennial from Little Rock with both NBC and CBS outletting the proceedings through local stations. It is on this evening that Herbert Hoover is scheduled to address the Republicans at Cleveland, the exact hour not yet having been announced.

The President is scheduled to make a second address from Dallas, Tex., at 11:30 a. m. Friday.

◆

Several preconvention broadcasts are scheduled for today. WBBM-CBS will present a speaker from the convention hall at 11 a. m. and again at 9:45 tonight describing last minute activity. From 1:30 to 2:30 p. m. the "Man in the Street" in Chicago, New York, and a half dozen other cities will be asked "Who's Going to Win the Republican Nomination?" and H. V. Kaltenborn and Bob Trout will question convention leaders. Boake Carter will speak from the convention hall at 6:45 p. m. and the March of Time at 9:30 will give highlights of the day at Cleveland.

W-G-N and Mutual carried a preview broadcast last night and expect to make no further broadcasts from Cleveland until tomorrow morning.

A round table discussion of NBC's commentators and analysts is scheduled for 9:30 tonight over WENR. Walter Lippman, Dorothy Thompson, Lowell Thomas, William Hard, and Edwin C. Hill are scheduled to participate.

The broadcast of an address by Gov. Landon before the graduating class of Kansas university, which had been set for 9 tonight over NBC, has been canceled.

HALF MILLION LEFT TO HIS FAMILY BY WM. BUTTERWORTH

Moline, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—Personal property left by William Butterworth, chairman of the board of Deere & Co., and three times president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who fell dead when watching a golf game near Atlantic City, N. J., a week ago, is valued at $500,000, according to papers filed in connection with his will in Rock Island County Probate court.

Substantially all of it is invested in Deere & Co. stock and other Moline enterprises.

A brother, Frank S. Butterworth of New Haven, Conn., and a sister, Mary Butterworth Hazelton of Washington, D. C., each will receive $12,000 annually in monthly payments from a trust fund.

The widow was left Mr. Butterworth's personal effects. The brother also was left farm lands in Connecticut. A nephew, Ben Butterworth, was left the residential property which he occupies in Moline and its furnishings.

Servants in the Butterworth household and employés on the estate were left from $50 to $100 each for each year of service.

MRS. MARGARET JAEGER IS DEAD; EVANSTON NATIVE

Mrs. Margaret Jaeger, 78 years old, pioneer resident of Evanston, died early yesterday of a heart attack while attending mass at St. Nicholas church in the suburb. Mrs. Jaeger was born on a farm near Asbury avenue and Howard street in Evanston, and after her marriage moved to 809 Monroe street, Evanston, where she lived for fifty years. Her husband, a building contractor, died forty years ago. She is survived by a son, Nicholas, and a sister, Miss Suzanne Theisen. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. from the home, with burial in St. Henry cemetery.

G. F. Douaire Dies in East; Return Body for Funeral

The body of George F. Douaire, 71 years old, 3240 Lake Shore drive, is to arrive here today from Boston, Mass., for funeral services tentatively scheduled for Wednesday. Mr. Douaire, a native of Chicago, died suddenly Saturday of an internal hemorrhage while attending a meeting of officials of Employers' Liability Assurance corporation in Boston. He had been employed by that concern for 33 years and in recent years was manager of the Chicago office at 175 West Jackson boulevard. His widow, a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Douaire Walsh of Glen Ellyn, and a son, George F. Jr., who accompanied his father to Boston, survive.

Frank E. Livengood Dies at 85; Resident Since 1865

Frank E. Livengood, 85 years old, a retired furniture salesman, died Saturday in his home at 6318 Kenwood avenue. Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. today from the chapel at 5203 Lake Park avenue, with burial in Oakwoods cemetery. Born in Whitewater, Wis., Mr. Livengood came to Chicago in 1865. In the Chicago fire of 1871 he saved the books of the Stoll & Barnes Furniture company on West Lake street, and was given a $100 reward. Two sons, Frank W. and Arthur S., and a sister, Mrs. W. J. Anderson of Los Angeles, Cal., survive.

Miss Donnelly Tells You How

J. T. Ryerson Jr. and Boston Girl Are Betrothed

Miss Maria Barroll Ducey Will Be Bride.

BY JUDITH CASS.

YESTERDAY afternoon in a Philadelphia suburb, Gwynedd Valley, an engagement announcement of great interest to Chicago society was made, for the young man is a member of a well known and old Chicago family. He is Joseph T. Ryerson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Turner Ryerson, and the young lady to whom he is engaged is Miss Maria Barroll Ducey, daughter of Mrs. John F. Ducey of Boston. The formal announcement was made at a small tea given by Miss Ducey's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lewis Barroll, at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson and young "Joe" were there, and also Miss Mary Ryerson, who just has finished her first year at St. Timothy's school of Cantonville, Md. Young Mr. Ryerson is being graduated this month from Yale, where he is a member of Wolf's Head and Zeta Psi. He prepared for college at St. Mark's school in Southboro, Mass.

Miss Ducey attended the Lee school in Boston and made her debut during the season of 1934-'35. She is a member of the Junior league and of the Vincent club, having starred in two of the latter organization's annual shows. The wedding is planned for early in August at Northeast Harbor, Me.

Ryersons Will Attend Commencement at Yale.

Mr. Ryerson went east Saturday to join his wife and Mary and will go with them to New Haven for the Yale commencement, which will have a double significance for him, for he not only will see his eldest son graduated but he will attend his own 35th reunion.

Mrs. Ryerson is the former Annie Lawrie McBirney, daughter of Mrs. Hugh Johnston McBirney and the late Mr. McBirney. Mr. Ryerson is a son of Mrs. Edward Larned Ryerson and the late Mr. Ryerson. The Joe Ryersons usually spend the summer at their home in Santa Barbara, Cal., but this year they have made plans to be in the east because of the wedding in the family, and they have taken the Edson house at Bar Harbor for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson and Miss Mary and Mr. Ryerson Jr. will return to Chicago immediately after the Yale commencement on the 15th and then about a week later they will leave for Bar Harbor, taking the whole family with them. They have two younger daughters, Ellen and Annie Lawrie.

Invitations Sent for Two of Season's Largest Weddings.

Invitations to two of the largest weddings of the summer were received Saturday, the Kirkland-Kemper one on June 25, and the Ely-Fairman one on July 1. Miss Eleanor Louise Kirkland and James Scott Kemper Jr. are to be married at 4:30 o'clock in the Fourth Presbyterian church, with a reception following at the Casino, and Miss Josephine Carolyn Ely and Fred Wilson Fairman Jr. will be married at 5 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest. Mrs. Jay Morse Ely, the bride's mother, is giving a reception following the ceremony at 620 Lake avenue, Lake Forest.

Miss Ely and Mrs. Fairman Sr. are leaving Thursday to drive east to see Mr. Fairman Jr. receive his sheepskin at the Yale commencement, and when they return a week later the round of parties for the popular young couple will start. The bridegroom-to-be has asked five Yale classmates and five Winnetka friends to usher at the wedding, and his father will be his best man. The ushers will be John Bersbach, William B. Elliott, Malcolm J. Odell, Joseph Rich and Edward F. Hamm Jr., all of Winnetka; Robert Train of Savannah, Ga.; Charles S. Woolsey of Aiken, S. C.; Joseph Lord of Newark, N. J.; Adrian M. Farley of Greenwich, Conn., and Robert G. Anderson of Hinsdale. Miss Ely's attendants were announced several weeks ago.

Miss Kirkland has asked Miss Barbara Fortune to be her maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be the Misses Rosemary and Mildred Kemper, the bridegroom's sisters; Miss Josephine Fleming, Miss Joan Sutter, Miss Betty Babson, Miss Harriet Fidler of Reading, Pa., and Mrs. William Alden Little. John F. Taylor will come from West Newton, Mass., to be Mr. Kemper's best man, and ushering will be Weymouth S. Kirkland, PEGGY HAMBLETON went to Ann Arbor recently to attend Ray Henderson's theater festival and to see her friend, Margalo Gillmore, who is appearing in "Parnell," "The Distaff Side," and other plays in the repertoire. Miss Gillmore's bridegroom, Bob Ross, New York theatrical director, also is in the cast, and they had a little story to tell connected with their engagement by Mr. Henderson. It seems Mr. Henderson offered Miss Gillmore a smaller salary than she wanted to come to Ann Arbor. There was some discussion and finally Mr. Henderson agreed to pay the sum she asked if Mr. Ross would throw in his services as second grave digger in "Hamlet." This idea pleased both Miss Gillmore and Mr. Ross. So now, in addition to playing the lead in "Parnell" and other important rôles, Mr. Ross comes on as second grave digger in the Shakespeare play.

* *

UPON hearing this little tale, we asked Miss Hambleton if she thought Miss Gillmore or Mr. Ross would mind if the story were printed. "You don't suppose it would embarrass Mr. Ross, do you?" we inquired. Miss Hambleton said she didn't think so, as they were telling the story freely, with much chuckling.

"Anyway, to be sure it sounds flattering," spoke up another member of the group, "you might say that Mr. Ross turned out to be such a good grave digger in "Hamlet" that they gave him the lead in "Parnell."

FIRST encounters. A woman with a small red haired boy at her side were walking on State street in the loop the other day when he suddenly tugged frantically at her coat and, indicating a small colored boy, exclaimed, "Mother, mother, look at that boy with his face dirty all over!" At that moment the little colored boy was pulling at his mother, speechless with excitement, and pointing to the other child's flaming hair.

A GIRL named Virginia Moe had the unique experience of witnessing a deaf mute talking to himself. It was in an eye doctor's consultation room, and he had shut his eyes and leaned back in his chair to await the effects of the bella donna the doctor had administered. Meanwhile he muttered, or rather, fingered to himself rapidly. Was he, perhaps, scanning some verses he was composing, or rehersing the lines of a play, Miss Moe wondered. It is possible he was going over what he was going to say to the doctor if he didn't prescribe the right glasses this time. Or, awful thought, perhaps he was saying the things he wished he had said in a recent argument.

Good Morning!

Here's one of the peppiest murder mysteries that's emerged from Hollywood for a long, long time!

The heroine, perfectly innocent of course, finds her lovely, hapless self accused of two killings.

She is acquitted in court of the murder of her father. . . . While hiding from reporters, whose papers seek to publish her "memoirs," another death occurs—in the home of the charitably inclined people who have taken her in. It is a murder identical in many respects with the one of which she has just been declared innocent. . . . Again Allison Lang finds herself in the toils of a cruel fate. BUT——

Fighting for her and believing in her is that hard-boiled, whole-souled quick-thinking newspaper reporter, Duffy Giles—a Duffy who is able to secure the coöperation of the district attorney by reason of a certain snapshot in his possession, showing that gentleman dictating in most unconventional fashion to his pretty secretary. . . .

Developments are speedy, exciting, unexpected, and colored with humor.

Frances Dee is mighty appealing as the "Half Angel"—a title that doesn't mean a thing. Brian Donlevy proves himself quite as convincing a right guy as the wrong ones he usually impersonates. Etienne Girardot plays a rhyming lunatic with "glass hips" in interest compelling fashion, and Helen Westley and Henry Stephenson are great as the Hargraves in whose house Allison meets with tragedy for the second time.

The picture has been expertly directed and snaps from start to finish.

See you tomorrow.

Ronald Colman Cast as Brutus in New Film

Hollywood, Cal., June 7.—(AP)—Selznick International pictures announced today it would make a talking film of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," with Ronald Colman starred as Brutus.

David O. Selznick, president, said he had not decided whether the film would be made in color.

Maier Is Soloist at U. S. Music Project Concert

Guy Maier, who became famous many years ago for the pioneering work which he and Lee Pattison did in the field of two piano recitals, and who is now assistant to the national director of the federal music project, appeared as soloist yesterday afternoon with the Illinois Symphony orchestra. Conducting this 85 piece group, a unit of the federal music project, was Jerzy Bojanowski, the Polish-American musician who directed the recent production of "Halka" here. The Great Northern theater held a large audience.

The soloist chose the little known C major concerto of Mozart as his vehicle. The purely orchestral parts of the program consisted of MacDowell's "The Saracens" and "The Beautiful Alda," Sir Hamilton Harty's arrangement of the Handel "Water Music," "The Moldau" of Smetana, a Rozycki Scherzo, and Glière's "Sailors' Dance." In the second last number, Bojanowski paid tribute to a contemporary Polish conductor and composer, Ludomir von Rozycki.—E. B.

Adviser Tells About Lotions and Their Uses

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"I am confused about certain of the cosmetic items about which I read. The difference between astringents and skin tonics, for one. The resultant difference between liquid powder and the kind ordinarily used. Suntan lotions to gather a tan and suntan lotions to prevent burn or tan. Please enlighten an ignoramus."

I. G.

Skin tonics are fresheners, toning lotions. They are recommended for use after the face has been cleansed with cold cream. They remove excess cream so that there is no appearance of oiliness to the face. Also, the skin tonics serve to aid stimulation, an important skin need. This is why you are told to pat and slap them on face and neck.

Astringents are a stronger form of tonic lotion than the product labeled skin tonic. Ordinarily the young person is argued out of their use, with the request to use a mild skin tonic instead. Some of the astringent liquids are quite strong and recommended only for coarse pores and oily skins, also for the flabby skin in which the muscles are relaxed. When you use a strong astringent it is advisable always to follow its use with some good skin food to keep the skin from becoming too dry. Those strong astringents that give an uncomfortably burning sensation had better be used only on the advice of the practitioner who is familiar with the condition of your skin.

As for liquid powder, it is simply a face powder liquified, recommended generally for evening wear because it is easier to apply over large areas of skin, although there is no reason why it can't be used for daytime if one is careful not to apply it too heavily, which is the common charge against this type of powdering. You can thin this liquid powder out with skin tonic and be certain of getting only a nice film. The liquid in which the powder is liquified often is slightly astringent, so it makes it ideal for use by the oily skinned person.

The suntan lotions usually are identified on the bottles. There are products that help produce a tan, and there are others that prevent burning of the skin.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We heard the other day of another perfectly grand idea for brides, particularly those beset with the problem of choosing the ideal gift and souvenir for their attendants. It's a beauty treatment and a makeup, to be given just before the ceremony.

A Chicago beauty shop will give this service with great enthusiasm; as a matter of fact they're arranging it with several brides around town. The plan is an original one and a good one for several reasons. In the first place every woman, bridesmaid or not, adores a luxurious beauty treatment, especially when said treatment is a gift; in the second place it is canny forethought on the part of the bride. She can be certain that those charming creatures preceding her up the aile, who have been massaged and made up to perfection, are doing their picturesque part to make her wedding a beautiful occasion.

The salon referred to can make arrangements to take care of every one in the wedding party before the ceremony. As the bride's guest each bridesmaid can go through the soothing and beautifying ritual of one of the town's most delightful facials, one that leaves the most sallow complexion radiant. What's more, the tender efforts of the expert masseuse wipe away all traces of the wear and tear that is the bridesmaid's lot if the wedding is preceded by a slew of gay celebrations, as most weddings are.

Each girl in the party will have the dewey, fresh look that gives a bridal party its important atmosphere and makes the onlookers weep. The makeup, given afterward, does not dim this radiance; rather it enhances it in a mysterious, well bred fashion.

It's a swell idea, brides, as a gift for your attendants.

New Fight to Share Film Profits Opened by John Barrymore

Los Angeles, Cal., June 7.—(AP)—John Barrymore has filed an amended complaint in his $30,000 suit against Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., Superior court records showed today.

Barrymore's first complaint was ruled invalid on a technicality.

His new action declares that six years ago the studio paid him $150,000 each for five pictures and promised him 10 per cent of the profits. The actor contends $30,000 in percentage profits is now due him.

Barrymore has been in a Santa Barbara hospital since last Thursday night. His physician, Dr. Franklyn Nuzum, said his disability was not serious, but would not discuss it further.

There's Shade of Hosiery for Every Sun Tan

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Fashion footnotes that will make history this summer in all the wardrobes of the knowing! First, the colored toe stockings that simply shriek to be worn with all the air-conditioned street pumps, and sandals.

Buy them in good strong sun tan shades with the toes to match the soft perforated suede straps of your pet sandals, sun tan with gay, green heels and toes, the same trick with red, or blue, and sun tan gleaming beauties with snowy white heels and toes. You've no idea how much fun it is to spend money for stockings these days!

A new arrival, the white chiffon with colored toes and heels—a nice golden glint ivory white, not a dead white, like the lisles of your sports socks. These hose are knockouts over the first sun tans, and the colored accents are just flippant enough to provide good summer gayety. You'll find them with green, blue, red, and British tan heels and toes—in fact the entire foot is of contrasting color. These stockings have the most exciting back streamlines you ever wore, these back seams are sewed together with a fine thread of the same color as the heel and toe. If these don't stop trafic on the boulevard, nothing ever will.

And for the impatient sun tanners the seamless sun tan stockings called bare leg numbers are the find of the year. They are of stunning dull crêpe texture, without even a shadow of a back seam, they fit smoother than your skin, the closest effect of being without benefit of hosiery you've ever seen. You'll startle yourself when you look vainly down to see if a bothersome seam is perpendicular. These are inexpensive and wear with sensational records.

Fashion photograph . . . navy blue knitted beach culottes accented with a white belt. . . . These are snug fitted and warm as well as highly decorative for beach lounging and active sportswear for the first few early hours of a chill day. Also ideal for bicycling, golf, or hiking in the country. With white or high colored accessories, floppy sun hat, sneakers, and neck scarf, you'll have one of the newest and smartest of summer sports knits. The model is available in a Chicago shop.

Film Fan Clubs Disclosed as Petty Rackets

Organizers Benefit from Dues, Photos.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 7.—[Special.]—One of the unusual by-products of the movie business is that of synthetic fan club promotion. Large cities of the country, New York and Chicago especially, seem to be forever popping out with new clubs of fans, generally for new, young, promising male stars.

These clubs often blossom forth all of a sudden with ardent feminine members, most of them girls from high school groups, neighborhood sororities, or co-workers in stores or industrial establishments. Generally some promotive minded man is in the background. This gentleman customarily gets a split on the initial dues paid in by each girl and retains certain prerequisites, for instance the right to purvey photographs of the young man star to club members.

The club members generally pay their organizer fifty cents apiece for the photos. He may pay ten or twenty-five cents for the same, and sometimes he may get them free.

There are all kinds of variations of fan club promotion. Some of the organizers are able to tackle successive cities in behalf of some young actor, such as Gene Raymond, Henry Fonda, Nelson Eddy, Robert Young, Donald Woods, or Robert Taylor, entirely unknown to the actors who are beneficiaries of his interest.

Because the movie studios like to have their young men gushed over and made the secret object of boudoir adoration, there never has been any effective effort to curb this independent exploitation, but the day probably will come when some fan club row arises and the racket probably will receive delayed belaboring.

Ernst Lubitsch, who has been playing off again, on again, Finnegan as Paramount producer for the last year, is back at the studio where he had charge of production activities for several months. He is organizing his individual unit to direct and produce Marlene Dietrich's future pictures. Besides personally directing Dietrich, Lubitsch will supervise three or four films featuring other stars in the coming year.

Johnny Downs, juvenile actor, has sold a song to Boris Morros, heading Paramount's music department. Morros didn't say what the song was titled, confining his comment to "Johnny wrote a good song and I took it."

Bob Burns, the bazooka player, is to draw $5,000 a week for his new contract to do comedy in the "Big Broadcast of 1937." Others in the production are Jack Benny, Leopold Stokowski and his Philadelphia orchestra; Martha Raye, the comedienne, George Burns, and Gracie Allen.

King Vidor, directing "The Texas Ranger" for Paramount is sending a camera unit to Austin, Tex., to shoot a scene of Gov. James A. Allred of that state, playing a ranger. Gov. Clyde Tingley of New Mexico already has appeared as an actor in a similar rôle.

Cecil De Mille has cast Jean Arthur as "Calamity Jane" for his film "This Breed of Men" in which Gary Cooper plays Wild Bill Hickok. . . . Betty Compson and Maurice Costello are playing bits as themselves in "Hollywood Boulevard." . . . RKO-Radio is casting Jim Gleason and Helen Broderick as a team in "Take A Number," a romantic action story of the race tracks which Huston Branch is adapting from Richard Macaulay's magazine story.

Lupe Velez's birthday present to Johnny Weissmuller was a new automobile. . . . Henry Fonda and James Stewart who room together have enlarged the basement of their home so that they can convert it into a laboratory and dark room for their new venture with the sixteen millimeter camera.

Her Husband's Past

By Elizabeth York Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Nell Martin elopes to London with Eric Cameron, an older divorced man, who had been visiting in Wellsport, her home town, ignoring her parents' pleas to marry Dick Holmes, her childhood sweetheart. Eric has two children, Meg, 17, and Robin, 15. Mrs. Beaumont, the mother of Hilda, his first wife, lives with them. Hilda has married again. Granny tortures Nell with constant reminders of Hilda. The family move to Wellsport where Eric has an engineering job. A solicitor's clerk, Shyner, calls and tells Nell that Hilda's husband had died and she is in London destitute. Nell arranges to send her a weekly sum secretly. Meg receives a string of pearls from her mother from London. Eric suggests looking up Hilda. Nell threatens to leave him. Granny arouses Eric to jealousy of Dick Holmes, but that is ended when Dick elopes with Meg. When granny hears that Nell is expecting a baby she prophesies Hilda's return.

INSTALMENT XLIII.
GRANNY DEPARTS.

A dry little chuckle rattled in the old woman's throat. Eric had been moved at last. She could tell it by the expression of his face.

"Hilda can't do that," he said quickly.

"Robin is old enough to choose for himself now. And she's his mother, after all. When Hilda finds out this woman you've set in her place is going to have a baby, she won't allow you to keep Robin. She'll come here, herself, and take him away."

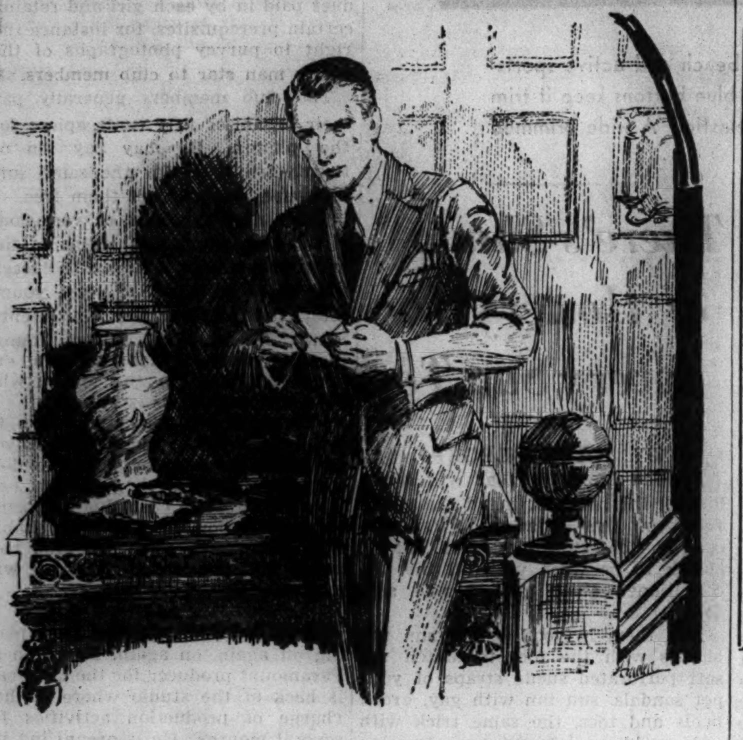
Eric made no answer. He heard a step outside and thought it was Robin. He did not know what granny had been saying about Hilda to Robin behind his back, but he didn't want the boy dragged into the present discussion.

It wasn't Robin, however, it was the postman, and he had only one letter, which was for Nell.

Eric glanced at the envelope at first indifferently, but after laying it on the hall table he picked it up again for a closer scrutiny.

Nell's name, Mrs. Eric Cameron, and the address were typewritten, and in the upper left-hand corner was stamped the senders' name and address, that of a solicitor's firm, Messrs. Troop & Gunny of 28 Pearl Court, London, E. C. 4.

It was very much like the envelope enclosing the letter Nell had purported to receive from a Mr. Shyner concerning an overdue account. Granny had tried to make a mystery of it—and so had Nell.



Eric picked up the letter for Nell for a closer scrutiny.

There was a shuffling sound which indicated that granny was getting up from the breakfast table. Eric dropped the envelope into his pocket. He'd give it to Nell later and try to get a clear statement of fact from her about that man Shyner, if it was the same man who was connected with these solicitors. However foolishly into debt she had got herself, he wasn't going to have her worrying secretly about it.

It seemed strange, however, to think of Nell running up bills that she would have difficulty in meeting. Perhaps association with the Camerons had infected her with their carelessness in that respect.

It seemed too good to be true that really they were going to get rid of granny at last.

Eric hardly believed it himself until the train had steamed out taking her and Polly and her assorted collection of luggage with it.

At the end she had "gone quietly," upheld by that sense of dignity which could at times be over-powering.

She said: "Tell Nell I bear her no hard feelings. She'll need all the sympathy anybody can give her."

A dark hint, that.

"I'll be seeing you, gran," said Robin.

He had reluctantly offered to accompany her to her destination, but she had refused.

"Somebody is going to meet me," she said, throwing a knowing look at Eric.

Did she mean Hilda?

She was such an old liar, you couldn't really tell what she did mean.

Eric felt ten years younger when he and Robin turned back towards home.

"Dad, is Nell going out to the farm?" the boy asked.

"I don't think so. She'll be all right, now. We'll make her take things quietly for a few days."

"Would you mind if I went, then? Gram Martin said she'd like me to come for a little visit before I go off to school."

"Sure, you can go if you like," Eric replied.

His hand dropped into his pocket, and came into contact with that letter.

He'd wait until after Robin had gone before he gave it to her.

When Eric and Robin got back to The Port House the midday meal was waiting for them, and they went into the dining room at once.

Nell had come down. Eric thought he had never seen his young wife looking so lovely. However, he was always thinking that about her. The rest in bed had done her good.

She was contrite about granny—mostly on Robin's account. She might have spared herself. Robin had been and very likely still was very fond of his grandmother, but he had discovered in the Martins a pair of ideal grandparents from a boy's point of view. Robin was as normally selfish as most boys but he could be otherwise if the spirit moved him. He would run his legs off for anyone he liked, but his inner man was important to him and he also enjoyed being made a fuss over.

Now that there was no likelihood of Nell being overworked, he was anxious to get off.

Tomorrow, Sunday, was chicken dinner day at the farm, and this morning Mrs. Martin would have done her cake baking.

"You'd better ring up first and find out if it's convenient for Gran Martin to have you," said Eric.

Nell and Robin exchanged smiles. In an apple-pie house like Mrs. Martin's it was always convenient, especially if one had a standing invitation.

Robin asked to be excused from the table before he had quite finished his last mouthful.

Inside of five minutes he had collected his toilet requisites and bicycle, and whistling to Towser was off.

"How empty the house seems!" said Nell.

"And how very pleasant," added Eric. "Now that granny's gone—and of her own accord, almost—I feel I can draw a full breath."

"Did she always live with you?" Nell asked.

His face clouded a little.

"Since the last six months before Hilda left. She had a little money at one time—a small capital that brought her in about a hundred-and-fifty a year—but Hilda got it away from her. That's one reason why I felt I had to look after her, poor soul. But, O, my sweet, it's been a trial!"

"And worse since I came, I expect," said Nell. "I'm sorry I let her upset me so last night. It was the way she spoke. She looked like an old fury and as tall as houses! It was almost as—as though she was invoking a presence. I expected Hilda to glide in through the doorway any moment."

Eric was struck by a teasing thought. He remembered something that had happened the night before last—the night that Meg ran away. How the reference to Hilda brought it into his mind he did not know, but suddenly it was there, urging him to question his wife. It was the same thought which impelled him to put off giving her Messrs. Troop & Gunny's letter a little longer.

He said: "You remember when we were having that row about young Holmes in the bedroom the other night—when I was indulging in an orgy of jealousy?"

Nell nodded in an apprehensive sort of way.

"I think you must have got it into your head that I was annoyed about something else," Eric added.

"Did I?"

"Well, didn't you? You asked me to forgive you and said you hadn't meant to deceive me, but what you had done you thought was for the best. Something like that. I don't remember the exact words you used. In fact, I forgot all about it until just now."

"Parties for the Bride-to-Be," a booklet containing menus and accompanying recipes for announcement parties and "showers," is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. BY MARY MEADE.

Why is a cucumber cool? Perhaps because it is green, and green gives an impression of coolness. But more than that. Remember how you arrived at that midsummer tea last year, fairly sweltering in your organdy dress? And how every one groaned enviously: "O, you look so cool!"

Crispness. That's what does it. And if it weren't for this quality of crispness the cucumber wouldn't be good for much, for its crispness makes it appetizing as well as cooling.

More and more home makers will find a place for cucumbers in their menus as warmer weather approaches. Thinly sliced cucumbers with fluted edges will creep into many a summer salad. Sliced tomatoes and sliced egg probably will be combined most often with crisp cucumbers. And French dressing seems most appropriate.

Try scooping out the seeds of a cucumber, crisping it in cold water, then stuffing the hollow with cream cheese to which a few chopped stuffed olives have been added. This makes a summery combination with tomato wedges and French dressing on a bed of lettuce.

But let's leave salads. There are other ways to include cucumbers in the menu. In sandwiches, for instance. Pare a cucumber and slice it into cold, salted water. Drain, after an hour, and pour vinegar over the slices. Let stand five minutes, then drain and serve between thin slices of buttered bread, with or without salad dressing.

BAKED STUFFED CUCUMBERS.

Pare cucumbers and halve them lengthwise. Scoop out seeds with a spoon. Cook for five minutes in boiling, salted water to which a little vinegar has been added. Remove, dip in cold water, and drain. Fill the cucumber halves with this stuffing:

1 cup ground veal or chicken
1 cup bread crumbs
1 beaten egg
3 tablespoons melted butter
Seasoning to taste

Fill the halves, allowing room for the stuffing to expand, and place two halves together with woodpins. Place in baking pan with enough veal or chicken stock to cover the cucumbers halfway, and bake slowly until tender. Use a temperature of about 300 degrees F. When nearly done, season with salt, pepper, and butter. Serve on a hot platter. Thicken the liquid slightly and serve it as a sauce.

J. T. Ryerson Jr. and Boston Girl Are Betrothed

Miss Maria Barroll Ducey Will Be Bride.

who is being graduated from Hotchkiss just a few days before the wedding; George A. Hopkins Jr. of New York, Warren Black Jr. of Bridgeport, Conn.; Clarence T. Seipp Jr., F. Strother Cary Jr., Frederic Macfarlane, and one other.

A great many parties have been planned for Miss Kirkland and her fiancé, who just has finished his second year at the Harvard law school. Next Sunday Miss Margery Preston, who will be married the following Saturday to Harry M. Nacey Jr., will give a luncheon and sports party for Miss Kirkland in Wheaton; on Tuesday, the 16th, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ellis will give a cocktail party; on the 17th, Mrs. Harry De Clerque will give a shower; on the 18th, Miss Mary Harrington will be hostess at a kitchen shower; on the 19th, Miss Fortune, who is engaged to Mr. Cary Jr., will give a dinner for Miss Kirkland and Miss Preston.

On Saturday, June 20, Mr. Macfarlane will take the Kirkland-Kemper bridal party to the dinner-dance at the Onwentsia, and the next day Miss Fleming will give a luncheon and swimming party at the Onwentsia. That evening the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kemper Sr., are giving a party aboard their yacht, the Geromi, which is anchored in the Belmont harbor.

Miss Sutter will entertain at a swimming party at the Indian Hill club on June 22, and on Tuesday Miss Kirkland will have her spinster dinner while Mr. Kemper Jr. has his bachelor dinner. The next night the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weymouth Kirkland, will give the bridal dinner at the Casino. Miss Frances Jeffery is giving a cocktail party, too, but the date is not set.

Evanston Church Wedding Is Announced for June.

Miss Ruth Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt D. Stevens, is to be married to Thomas H. Anderson Jr. of San Francisco at noon on Saturday, the 20th of June, at St. Mary's church in Evanston, the Rev. Father Magner officiating. Following the ceremony there will be a small reception at the cottage on the Glen View club grounds, in which Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are living this summer.

Mrs. Robert Gerlicher of Baton Rouge, La., is coming to be her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. John Haas [the former Ann Stevens], Mrs. Don Petty and Miss Marianna McCabe. F. S. Chambers Jr. of Harrisburg, Pa., will be best man for Mr. Anderson, and ushering will be Leonard B. Christie of Bridgeport, Conn.; Stuart Ashley of Paterson, N. J., and Robert Gale of Evanston.

Members of the Evanston Junior league will meet today at the Glen View club for the last time this season. Plans will be discussed for the Follies, to be given by the league Nov. 5, 6, and 7.

Mrs. Sidney S. Gorham Jr. will be a luncheon hostess today to members of the board of the North Avenue Day nursery, who will meet to discuss plans and set a date for their annual fall benefit.

The University of Chicago Press is giving a tea Saturday from 4:30 until 6 o'clock at the Quadrange club as a feature of the university's homecoming week. The especial guests will be 26 University of Chicago authors, including Percy H. Boynton, Samuel N. Harper, Robert Morss Lovett, Robert Redfield, and Thornton Wilder.

Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw sailed the end of last week from Chicago for London on a freighter which is expected to dock about the Fourth of July. One of her daughters, Mrs. Clay Judson, and Mr. Judson and their son and daughter will meet her in London. Her eldest daughter, Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, and Mr. McCutcheon and their three sons will spend the summer at Mrs. Shaw's Lake Forest home, Ragdale, and the youngest daughter, Mrs. John L. King, and her husband will divide their time between Lake Forest and Charlevoix, Mich., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. King, have a summer home.

Willard N. Boydens Home from Arizona.

The Willard N. Boydens, whose month in Arizona might be called a late winter vacation or an early summer one, have returned to Lake Forest. They will be at home for the rest of the summer, enjoying the warm weather, as they usually do, with numerous members of their family in town. Mrs. Boyden's parents, the Morris Leidy Johnstons, are moving out on June 15 to occupy the same house they had last summer.

Mrs. Robert B. Gregory and her granddaughter, Miss Betty Durham, are sailing on the Bremen June 14 for Europe, to be away until October. Mrs. Gregory and Miss Durham will go first to England to visit friends for a week. From England Miss Durham will go by plane to Switzerland, where she is to have the same position with the American committee of the League of Nations association that she held last summer. Her grandmother will follow Miss Durham to open her chalet near Geneva, where the two will spend the summer.

Miss Durham will be crossing the ocean on the same boat with her "boss," John Doren Tomlinson, and his bride, for Mr. Tomlinson, director of the American committee, will take as his bride Miss Jean Duncan-Clark in Evanston Wednesday. Miss Duncan-Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. John Duncan-Clark of Wilmette, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Horace Tomlinson of Evanston, will be married at 4:30 o'clock in the chapel of the First Methodist church. The Rev. Ernest F. Tittle will officiate.

Immediately following a reception Mr. Tomlinson and his bride will leave by motor for New York, where they will be entertained by friends before sailing. They will be entertained again by relatives and friends in London and Paris, where they will make flying visits before settling down in Geneva for the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Pardee Erdman, the former Eleanor Donnelley, are arriving today to spend a few days with Mrs. Erdman's uncle, Thomas E. Donnelley, in Lake Forest. They are on their way east for a few weeks, and probably will stop off again in Chicago on their way back to their ranch in Wyoming about the first of July.

Leeds Mitchells Return from Commencement in East.

Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell have returned from a trip east for the graduation of Mr. Mitchell's daughter, Miss Margaret Mitchell, from Dobbs Ferry. Miss Mitchell remained east to visit friends, but will join the Mitchells on Nantucket for the summer when they return east June 15. Mr. Mitchell is planning to devote most of the summer to work on his symphony.

The Mitchells are coming home early in September in time for Miss Mitchell to participate in the first of the debutante festivities. She is to be presented at a dinner-dance in December.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Leddy of 6620 South Justine street, announce the marriage on May 30 of their daughter, Frances Jane, to John O'Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. O'Shea of 6616 South Justine street, at St. Brendan's church. A wedding breakfast followed at the Windermere East.

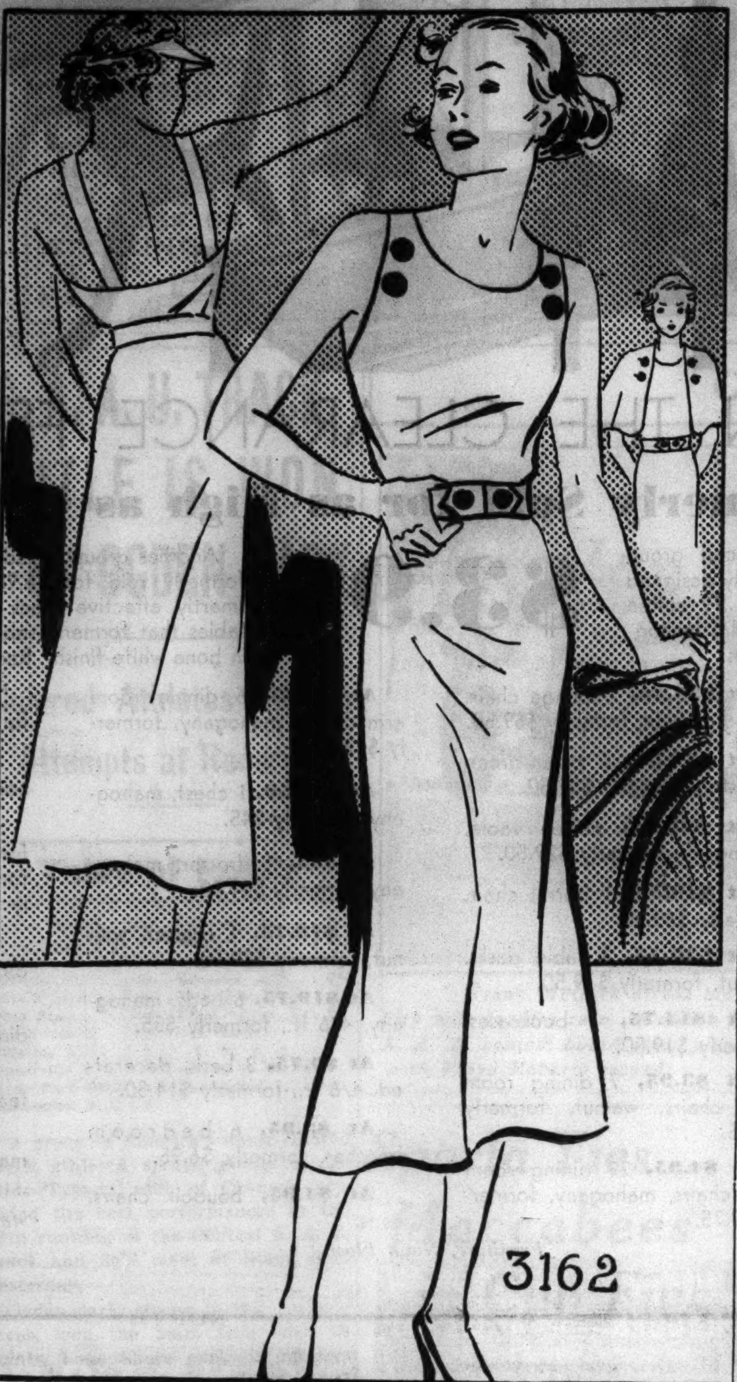
Versatile Frock Has Cape



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

The cape dress seems to have become a popular mode for summer because of its versatility. The version illustrated today has an especially lovely sunback. The neckline in front is round and unembellished with a collar. Four buttons afford the only trimming, and that is decidedly smart. The skirt is simply styled, without plaits, and has generous width for active sports.

The simple dress is ideal for resort wear, sun-tanning, beach wear, and tennis or golf. It is converted into a spectator sports frock by the simple process of attaching the cape to the buttons which trim the neckline. The cape is brief enough to be smart, and yet long enough to conceal the sunback.

The original of this attractive summer ensemble is colorful in sail blue with white button trim. White tub silk with Kelly green cape and belt also is a dashing color scheme.

Piqué, challis prints, flower-splashed linen, cotton crash prints, glazed chintz, linen, and the aforementioned tub silks all are lovely mediums for this cape ensemble or for the frock alone, should you decide to use this pattern again for separate frocks.

Style No. 3162 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for both dress and cape.

Nervous Child Often Bites His Fingernails

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Just recently my eye has seemed to fall on so many stubby little finger tips, with ragged finger nails, some still normal in shape, but bitten short, others showing the probably permanent effect of years of biting.

Children vary in the degree in which they have this habit, which means that some hands are not disfigured and some are. And although I have made no study of it, according to my observation many more boys than girls bite their nails.

"My boy," writes a mother, "is rather a nervous, restless child. He bites his finger nails, and they never get a chance to grow. His father promised him a pocket knife if he would let his nails get long enough to open it."

In curing this habit it has been found that indirect methods work best. Conscious self-control is not often possible, and to attempt it often centers a child's attention on habit.

In our indirect approach we try to get at causes—deep underlying ones—like unhappiness, ill health, nervousness, malnutrition, or more superficial ones like aimlessness, inactivity, or lack of childish interests and companionship. Consider each point carefully. All of them have been found responsible for nail biting. Praise and encouragement is more effective medicine than constant nagging.

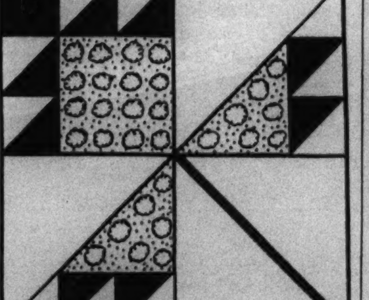
The finger nails need care. In the case of a little girl, miniature manicure sets appeal. With boy, to whom this might appear effeminate, use olive oil, orange wood stick, and emery boards.

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Further directions for curing this habit will be sent on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. We have in line with this a leaflet, "Helping the Nervous Child." This also requires a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

"Autumn Leaves" Quilt Is Based on Four Patch Block

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Autumn Leaves.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Autumn Leaves" is based on the fundamental four patch quilt block recreated with a few embellishments. It is difficult to trace its origin, since it is found in every locality and in every conceivable color combination. Brown, white, and brown printed material formed one of the favorite schemes of years back. Today the same combination is as popular with the young quilt makers as it was with our grandmothers.

Cardinal O'Connell Denounces Women's Fashions as Indecent

Boston, Mass., June 7.—(AP)—Present day women's fashions, William Cardinal O'Connell told a feminine congregation today, are "shameful and a positive disgrace."

The dean of Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States delivered a stinging sermon on indecency in dress and entertainment before 750 women converts in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

"Summer is coming on," he asserted, "and the indecency of the costumes of women is something to be ashamed of. Young girls at the beaches, on the streets, everywhere, act as though there were no such thing as decency."

According to CULBERTSON

RESPONDING TO OPENING TWO NO TRUMP BIDS.

A two no trump bid shows five and one-half honor tricks, and sometimes more. Therefore, according to the 4-5-6 scale of expectancies, you may raise your partner to three no trump with as little as one-half an honor trick, or may take out in a five card or longer biddable suit with one-half an honor trick. With less you should pass, unless you have a long major suit.

When your partner bids three no trump, you may look forward to a slam when your hand contains a five card biddable suit and as much as one-half an honor trick, or a six card suit. You simply bid your suit, for any suit-bid is a slam-try.

Gauging the Distribution.

In many cases, brilliant opening leads are based on precisely one point: the leader's correct assumption of the way a certain suit will be divided. Consider the imaginative but sound reasoning back of the opening lead in the hand shown below.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 dimds.	Pass
2 no trp.	Pass	3 spades	Pass
3 no trp.	Pass	4 dimds.	Pass
5 dimds. [final bid]

West, on lead, gave the most careful consideration to the bidding. He reflected that North's repeated shying away from his own suit strongly implied shortness. It was almost inconceivable that North, with a five card suit, and after a raise on the second round by his partner, would have preferred [first] to play for a no trump game and [second] to reach for a minor suit game rather than contract for only ten tricks in spades.

South's spade length was easy to read. With less than three spades he would not have given even a delayed raise, and with more than three he would have gone back to spades over three no trump, rather than try for a minor suit game. Thus, it was virtually certain that North-South had a combined spade length of seven cards, leaving two in East's hand.

This point established, West next considered the other suits. Of all the trick possibilities in East's hand, a trump trick appeared most likely. West's singleton trump, and the fact that North-South probably would have stayed in no trump with a solid diamond suit were testimony to this assumption.

On this reasoning, West decided to lead his fourth highest spade, and the eventual result was gratifying. East used his ace of trump at the first opportunity, and returned his remaining spade. West took the ace and played a third round which East ruffed for the setting trick.

Obviously, no other lead, no other defense could have defeated the contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My partner, first hand vulnerable, bid one no trump. Second hand, also vulnerable, bid two hearts. I held:

♠ 10 8 7 5 4 ♥ J 8 ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ 10 4 3.

NOW IS THE BEST TIME TO START KELPAMALT

WHAT TO DO IF YOU ARE Weak, Rundown Nervous AND Skinny!

Get Kelpamalt's Natural Iodine into Your Blood and Glands—Then . . . These Results Quick or Your Money Back!

1. Improved Appetite.
2. Add at least 5 lbs. of Good Solid Flesh.
3. Strengthen Nerves.
4. Ordinary Stomach Trouble Banished.
5. Sounder Sleep.
6. New Strength, Energy and Endurance.

If you are weak, skinny and run down—if you go around always tired, nervous irritable, easily upset, the chances are your blood is thin, pale and watery and lacks the nourishment needed to build up your strength, endurance and the solid pounds of new flesh you need to feel right. Science has at last got right down to one of the real causes of these conditions and explains a new, quick way to correct them.

Food and medicines can't help you much. The average person usually eats enough of the right kind of food to sustain the body. The real trouble is assimilation, the body's process of converting digested food into firm flesh, pep and energy. Tiny hidden glands control this body building process—glands which require a regular ration of NATURAL IODINE (not the ordinary toxic chemical iodine, but the iodine that is found in tiny quantities, in spinach, lettuce, etc.) The simplest and quickest way to get this precious needed substance is Seedol Kelpamalt, the astonishing new mineral concentrate from the sea. Seedol Kelpamalt is 1300 times richer in iodine than oysters, hitherto considered the best source. With Seedol Kelpamalt's iodine you quickly normalize your weight and strength-building glands, promote assimiliation, enrich the blood and build up a source of enduring strength. Seedol Kelpamalt, too, contains twelve other precious, vitally needed body minerals without which good digestion is impossible.

Try Seedol Kelpamalt for a single week. Notice how much better you feel, how well you sleep, how your appetite improves, color comes back into your cheeks. And if it doesn't add 5 lbs. of good solid flesh the first week, if it doesn't relieve ordinary stomach trouble, and give you calm nerves, the trial is free. Your own doctor will approve this way. Ask for Seedol Kelpamalt, it costs but little.

Personal Angle Is Prominent in Love Quarrels

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Handel" offers a question that probably has occurred to us all at one time or another.

"Why is it," Handel asks, "that two friends can have different opinions? They can have arguments. But they remain friends throughout and after the argument. Their arguments, while each may feel his point strongly, are not punctuated with the sharp, stinging words that a pair of sweethearts or a married pair inject into their arguments. Can you explain just exactly why two persons, obviously in love, can muster up for arguments' sake heartbreaking, stinging, unforgivable words? If you can answer that, you can tell me what is wrong with me and my sweetheart."

The answer probably lies in the fact that friends have discussions generally. Although they may be heated arguments, the strong emotional current that moves people in love is absent. Then there is the other fact that friends generally observe the convention of good taste in their discussions. They avoid the personal angle of attack. When discussions are conducted on this scale, the arguers may emerge refreshed from the exchange of ideas.

An argument is a different thing. Neither combatant emerges triumphant when personal blows have been aimed. The one who thinks he emerges triumphant never is bolstered by his victory. His conscience gnaws. The defeated one believes that he or she has been browbeaten, defeated on unfair grounds. So there doesn't seem to be any advantage in arguing.

The one who argues incessantly and argues with savagery feels insecure. And because there are no sporting rules and no sportsmanship in an argument, as there are in discussions, it's no game for self respecting people.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Twins Need Baby Bed.

"Dear Miss Brown: I wonder if any reader has a large baby bed I could have? It would be a great help to me, because my twin babies, now a year old, must occupy the same bed and are most uncomfortable. My husband's present wages are extremely small."—Mrs. D. S.

KREEVICH HITS HOME RUN WITH BASES LOADED

Eight Game Red Sox Jinx Ends.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 7.—Little Mike Kreevich, who has clung to his White Sox job through willingness to hustle even while his bat failed him day after day, came into his own today as his team ended the spell the Boston Red Sox had held over them through eight straight victories this year. The White Sox won their ninth try before 26,500 today, 13 to 5. Tiny Mike, among several other heroic maneuvers, broke a 5 to 5 tie by socking a homer with the bases full off the great Wes Ferrell and from then on Ted Lyons quit fluttering and the Chicago Sox breezed to their easy victory.

In addition to his homer Kreevich drove in the fifth Chicago run with a single and in the eighth doubled to launch a three run rally which blasted Ferrell from the arena. He made all three putouts in the first inning to bring Lyons down from one of two balloon rides and he saved Lyons' hide in the fourth with the first of two assists he made following singles when Lyons was on the ropes.

Sox Defense Helps Lyons.

Lyons yielded twelve hits. He blew a 3 to 0 lead in the first inning and he blew a 5 to 3 lead in the third, but the Sox defense was as alert as the offense was powerful and the wabbly veteran was in there at the finish pitching the kind of ball that once ranked him as one of the game's great performers. It was Ted's third victory of the season. Ferrell was after his eighth victory of the year, but was a very bad pitcher in every inning except the third.

Radcliff opened the game with a single off Wes Ferrell's knee, the ball bouncing almost to the Boston dugout. Piet doubled to left, Radcliff stopping at third. Haas walked, filling the bases. After Bonura flied to Cooke, Radcliff scored to put the White Sox ahead for the first time in the series. Kreevich walked, again loading the bases, and Hayes, after running the count to three balls and two strikes, singled to left center, scoring Piet and Haas. Werber threw out Dykes and Sewell was given an intentional pass to fill the bases. Lyons ran the count to three and two, then flied to Cramer.

Red Sox Get Busy.

The Red Sox lost no time in hopping on Lyons in their end of the first inning. Cooke walked on four pitches and stopped at second on Cramer's line single to center. Manush also lined a single to center, scoring Cooke. Foxx doubled off the wall in deep left center, Cramer scoring and Manush stopping at third. The runners held their bases on McNair's liner to Kreevich, but Manush scored and Foxx took third on Cronin's long fly to Kreevich. Werber walked, and R. Ferrell flied to Kreevich.

The White Sox went ahead again on a couple of gift runs in the second. With one out Piet registered his second single. McNair threw out Haas, then Bonura's grounder went between Cronin's heels, Piet scoring and Zeke reaching second. Kreevich dropped a single in front of Cooke. Bonura, thinking the third out had been accomplished, rounded third and started for his fielding position at first base. A committee rushed out of the Chicago dugout and escorted nonplussed Zeke to the plate as he argued every step of the way there were three outs. McNair threw out Hayes to end the inning.

Lucky to Escape with Tie.

The White Sox were fortunate to escape the Boston third with a tie. Manush lined a single to right and went to third when Foxx smashed a single to right. McNair banged a single to center, Manush scoring and Foxx stopping at second. Cronin attempted to sacrifice, but popped a foul to Sewell. Werber then drove the ball to the wall in left center,

C. A. A. U. TRACK TITLE IS WON BY OGDEN PARK

Colored Athletes Fail in Attempts at Records.

Table of Points

Ogden Park	28	Colorado	5
Lake Shore Park	17	Purdue	4
Chicago	13	York High	3
Illinois	13	Kenesaw club	2½
Olde Tymers'	11	New Trier High	2
Ohio State	10	Great Lakes A.C.	2
Northwestern	8	Oak Park Y. M. C. A.	1
Palatine A. C.	8	Mouses A. C.	1
Naperville A. C.	7	Unattached	40
Hyde Park High	7½
Barrington A. C.	6

A group of America's finest colored track athletes, special guests of the Olde Tymers' club of Chicago, provided the best performances in the 35th running of the Central A. A. U. track and field meet at Stagg field yesterday.

Ogden park, strong in the distance races, won the team title with 28 points, Lake Shore park taking second with 17. A crowd of 2,500 watched the proceedings. No Central A. A. U. records were broken, but the district mark in the high jump was bettered by two men not representing the Central region.

Record Attempt Fails.

The latter feat was the high point of the meet, literally, as well as figuratively. Cornelius Johnson, lanky colored youth from Compton Junior college, California, competing unattached, and Dave Albritton, colored athlete from Ohio State, cleared 6 feet 8⅛ inches. Albritton withdrew at that point to save his energies for a meet next week. Johnson went on, but failed to equal the world's record of 6 feet 9⅛ inches in three tries.

The high jump field was one of the strongest that has been assembled. In addition to Johnson and Albritton, Clay Chisum, who plans to enter the University of Wisconsin this autumn, Melvin Walker of Ohio State, and Gilbert Cruter of the University of Colorado, were in the competition. Walker, Chisum, and Ted Leonis of Lake park, the only white boy who competed, tied for third at 6 feet 4 inches. Leonis was awarded the district title, the other jumpers being from outside the region.

Owens Performs Twice.

Jesse Owens performed in two events. He won the broad jump at 25 feet 3 inches, one of his efforts, over 26 feet, being adjudged a foul by a fraction of an inch.

Jesse's other effort was with a quartet of colored sprinters who attempted to break the world's record for the 400 meter relay, which is 40 seconds, established by the American team in the last Olympics. Ben Johnson of Columbia university ran first, John Brooks, former University of Chicago star, ran second, Owens third and Ralph Metcalfe, former Marquette ace, fourth. They were paced by Bob Grieve of Illinois, Siebert of Naperville, Heg of Northwestern and Phillips of Marquette, the latter group having a ten yard start. Owens' team overcame the handicap on the second runner but was timed at :41.4.

Other colored stars who won their events were Fritz Pollard, who took the high hurdles; Cal Beckett, first in the 800 meters run, and Metcalfe in the 200 meters run.

Siebert Wins Pole Vault.

Among the better performances in the 18 events were Siebert's 13 feet pinch triumph in the pole vault, and the :48.8 race of Winslow Heg of Northwestern in the 400 meters. Three high school boys took points. Clark Shaughnessy Jr., son of the Maroon football coach and a senior at Hyde Park high, won the hop, step and jump and tied for second in the pole vault. James Lightbody Jr., son of a former Maroon track star, a senior at New Trier, was third in the 400 meters race, and Cash of York High was second in the javelin throw.

Jay Berwanger of the University of Chicago won the shot put, took third in the discus throw and the javelin

COMING HOME UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Frank McGurk drives his racer across the finish line at the Roby speedway yesterday with only three wheels to finish third in the fifty mile feature race. McGurk lost his left rear wheel on the forty-eighth lap and ran the last two miles on his axle. A recheck by the A. A. A. contest board later placed him eighth because of several laps lost in a spin earlier in the race. The race was won by Rex Mays, with Floyd Roberts second.

Sparta Ties Maccabees in Cup Final

BY OFFSIDE.

A goal scored when the ball, kicked out by the Maccabees' goalkeeper, struck the chest of a Sparta player and bounded back into the net gave Sparta a 1 to 1 tie with the Maccabees in the Peel cup soccer final at Sparta stadium yesterday. The goal was scored eight minutes before the close of regulation time, and though a 30 minute overtime period was played neither team was able to break the deadlock.

The outcome makes necessary a replay of the game, the date of which will be determined this week by the Peel Cup commission.

Game Is Hard Fought.

The game was one of the hardest fought this year. Two players, Scott of Sparta and Cuthburt of the Maccabees, were ejected for fighting, and when time was called several players were so exhausted they had to be assisted in leaving the field.

Sparta, having a wind advantage, threatened the Maccabees' goal throughout the first half, but Henney and Davidson set up a strong defense in front of Goalkeeper Fisher to prevent a score. The Maccabees played with the wind behind them in the second half and Molvie scored within five minutes on a long drive.

Sparta Ties Score.

Sparta rallied toward the close of the half, but missed a wide open try when Vlcek drove over the bar. A minute later Monroe of Sparta booted the ball at Fisher, but Fisher saved. On the rebound the ball struck the chest of Wolf, who had come in fast and was falling over Fisher, and then bounded into the net.

The Wanderers defeated Mooseheart, 2 to 0, in the Junior Peel cup match. Lineup:

JOHN M'DIARMID CAPTURES CITY TENNIS CROWN

John McDiarmid of Ft. Worth, Tex., won the Chicago city tennis championship yesterday by defeating Thane Halsted of River Forest, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1, at the Oak Park Tennis club.

Katherine Wolf of Elkhart, Ind., won the women's title for the third time in convincing fashion from Helen Fulton of Winnetka, 6-0, 6-3.

McDiarmid and Max Davidson won the doubles title by taking a spectacular five-set match from Norman Bickel and Norbert Burgess, University of Chicago pair, 1-6, 5-7, 6-2, 8-6, 8-6.

It was easily the best exhibition of the entire tournament. The losers had the victory almost within their grasp twice in the fifth set. They led 5-4 and again at 6-5 but were unable to stave off brilliant rallies.

JOE DI MAGGIO LOSES PLACE IN BIG SIX BATTING

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Young Joe Di Maggio, the New York Yankees' sensational rookie, slid all the way out of baseball's Big Six in hitting today by failing to get a hit in seven trips to the plate. His place as second in the American league batting leadership was taken by Rip Radcliff of the White Sox, who cracked out three hits in six times up to boost his average six points to .371.

The leader, Billy Sullivan, of the Cleveland Indians, sank 18 points to .402 by getting only one hit in seven trips to the plate.

Here's Outline of Joe Louis' Financial Rise

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lakewood, N. J., June 7.—On July 4, 1934, Joe Louis, then a young colored boy 20 years old, just graduated from the Chicago Tribune's Golden Gloves amateur tourneys, fought his first professional engagement in Chicago. It resulted in the knockout of Jack Kracken in one round. Louis received $50 for his services.

Today, this same Joe Louis, grown nearly an inch in height and with 25 pounds additional fighting weight, has a personal fortune of approximately $150,000, net proceeds from $400,000 ring earnings. In addition, he has placed at the disposal of his mother and family over $40,000 in cash and property.

Louis to Get 30 Per Cent.

On June 18 Louis will meet ex-Heavyweight Champion Max Schmeling of Germany at Yankee stadium in a bout of 15 rounds or less which will determine the next official challenger for the title of Champion James J. Braddock. For this effort, Louis will receive between $200,000 and $300,000, according to the gate receipts, of which Louis is supposed to receive 30 per cent.

Within this short span of less than two years, Louis made 27 official ring appearances resulting in 23 knockouts and four decisions in his favor. Louis is the greatest box office attraction since Jack Dempsey.

Now how has Louis, or his managers, invested his savings? To begin with, there is $22,000 cash in the bank. He has a 6 apartment building in Chicago, bought at "distress" sale during the depression and valued considerably higher than the original cost, also various smaller holdings. But the bulk of Louis' money has gone into annuities, beginning to pay returns when the boxer is 31 years old.

Forty thousand dollars worth of annuities are paid in full. Toward a $100,000 annuity, $20,000 is paid with the balance to follow after the Schmeling bout. These annuities will yield $632 per month for life. It is the intention of the Louis party to continue adding to these annuities during Joe's fighting career.

Provides for Mother.

Louis' provisions for his mother's future welfare included $25,000 in cash, an $11,000 home in Detroit, a two acre farm plot near Detroit, and the remainder miscellaneous.

This correspondent expected to find heavy life insurance as a part of the colored boy's savings. Such insurance is light in view of his earnings. He has a $10,000 ten year endowment policy on which the premium is over $900 per year. Two $500 industrial policies complete the list. In explanation, his managers cite high rates because of his occupation. So the annuity plan was substituted.

Louis today put in the fullest day's work of his entire training campaign. Almost 4,000 saw the drill.

The Brown Bomber went eight full rounds in the ring against an assortment of sparring partners. The sparmates—Bud Schild-Krecht, Frankie Simms, Young George Godfrey, Frank Wotanski, and Tiger Boy Williams—gave Louis a good workout.

REX MAYS WINS 50 MILE RACE AT ROBY SPEEDWAY

17,000 See Californian Lead All the Way.

Rex Mays, California, who won the pole position in the recent 500 mile race at Indianapolis by qualifying in the fastest time, yesterday showed the same kind of speed at the Roby speedway when he captured first place in the feature 50 mile event. The Californian shot to the front at the start and never was headed.

The appearance of Mays and other stars of the Memorial day race, including Louis Meyer, Ted Horn, Doc Mackenzie, and Babe Stapp, drew a crowd of 17,000, the largest gathering since the new Roby speedway was opened last year.

Stone Breaks Roberts' Goggles.

The 50 mile feature was a two car race from the start, with Floyd Roberts, another Indianapolis driver, pressing Mays all the way. For the first 15 miles they roared around only a few lengths apart, and then a stone broke Roberts' goggles. Without protection for his eyes, Roberts was forced to keep a quarter of a lap back to avoid the dust of the speeding Mays. A particle of glass was removed from Roberts' eye at the finish.

Mays' time for the fifty miles was 37 minutes 36.71 seconds, two minutes faster than the drivers made last year on the same track. His average speed was 78.9 miles per hour.

Finishes on Three Wheels.

Frank McGurk was the third driver across the finish line, completing the race on three wheels and his axle after having lost his left rear wheel on the 48th lap, but was placed eighth when a recheck of the time tape showed that he had lost several laps earlier in the race when his car went into a spin. The contest board of the A. A. A. completed its recheck early this morning and placed Walter Brown third; Emil Andres, fourth; Louis Tomei, fifth, and John Sawyer, sixth.

Sharing interest with the 50 mile event, was the match race between Lou Meyer, three times winner of the Indianapolis race, and Babe Stapp, midwestern champion. Meyer won both five mile heats, taking the first by half a length and the second by two lengths. They drove the two seaters in which they raced at Indianapolis Memorial day.

Only one accident marred the program. During the morning time trials Fred Winnai turned over, but escaped with cuts and bruises.

Summaries:

FIRST TEN MILE RACE—Won by Ted Horn; Jimmy Snyder, second; Wilbur Shaw, third; Rex Mays, fourth. Time, 7:33.18.

SECOND TEN MILE RACE—Won by Floyd Roberts; Doc MacKenzie, second; Frank McGurk, third; Louis Tomei, fourth. Time, 7:39.60.

THIRD TEN MILE RACE—Won by Ken Fowler; Emil Andres, second; John Sawyer, third; Henry Banks, fourth. Time, 7:40.60.

SPECIAL MATCH RACE—[Best two out of three five mile heats]. First heat—won by Lou Meyer; Babe Stapp, second. Time, 3.57.83. Second heat—Won by Lou Meyer; Babe Stapp, second. Time, 4:03.47.

FIFTY MILE RACE—Won by Rex Mays; Floyd Roberts, second; Walter Brown, third; Emil Andres, fourth; Louis Tomei, fifth; John Sawyer, sixth. Time, 37:36.71.

BAKER WALKS O'DEA TO FORCE IN WINNING RUN

Dodgers Get Nine Hits Off Davis.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The usually funny Brooklyn Dodgers turned up in a serious vein yesterday but this merely occasioned the Cubs some delay in concluding the business at hand. They were forced to wait until the ninth inning when a lad named Tom Baker who previously had caused considerable concern among 11,076 spectators as well as among the champions, fell apart under pressure and forced in the winning run with a base on balls to give the league monarchs a sweep of the series as well as their fourth straight victory. The score was 4 to 3.

The flop of Baker, precipitated by the bats of Capt. Woody English and Billy Herman, put an end to a slightly torrid struggle involving the services of Curt Davis, the ex-Philly. Davis, thus attaining his third victory of the season and his second as a Cub, had his troubles but despite bunched hits might have breezed through easily if Ken O'Dea, subbing for Gabby Hartnett, hadn't slipped up on a play that assisted the Dodgers to a two run lead in the sixth.

English Leads Off with a Hit.

The winning ninth opened with English aiming his first hit of the day into center. Herman duplicated the hit, also his only contribution, and English tore to third. On orders from his boss Baker slipped an intentional pass to Galan to fill the bases. Then the young fellow who had skilfully pitched himself out of jams in the two previous innings couldn't get the ball over for O'Dea and gave him a base on balls, too. This gift forced English across the plate with the winning run, but it didn't become official until O'Dea, who had started for the dugout, was informed by some of his mates that he would have to trot down to first base to avoid complications.

Although beaten, Baker didn't permit the champions many liberties except in the sixth and at that time there was a crying need for action. Because of O'Dea's fielding slip on a perfectly bouncing throw at the plate the Dodgers had taken on a two run lead. The Cubs retrieved the two runs almost immediately, the potent items in this maneuver being singles by Galan, O'Dea, Allen, and Cavarretta.

Cubs Take Early Lead.

The Cubs scored a run in the first inning because Baker experienced a slight touch of the generosity that caused his downfall in the ninth. He started his day's work by passing English who was promoted to the lead off post because of the absence of Stanley Hack. Herman bounced to Hassett who touched the bag after fumbling long enough to lose his chance to force English at second. Galan then bounced a single past Baker and English scooted home. Galan tried to steal after O'Dea had popped out but the scheme didn't work.

The Dodgers struck a piece of good fortune in the fifth and this enabled them to compile the tying run. Bucher started the inning with a tall fly to right and it dropped just inside the foul line. Demaree had to turn around and chase it, Bucher meanwhile sprinting to third. Frey bounced to Cavarretta but Bucher hugged third. He was still there when English made a snappy pickup of a grounder to toss out Geraghty. But Berres refused to be subdued. He slapped a single over Herman's head and Bucher counted. Davis took Baker's tap for the third out.

Dodgers Score Again.

The sixth, when the Dodgers stepped into a temporary two run lead, didn't develop into a disturbance until after Bordagaray and Watkins had been effaced. Stripp caromed a single off Cavarretta's glove and Hassett beat out a hit to deep short. Bucher banged a double down the left field line. Stripp skipped across the plate, and Hassett, as he neared third, refused to respect the coach's signal. Hassett decided to keep going and he made it with the help of O'Dea who failed to hold English's relay of the throw. Bucher went to third on the error and died there when Frey fanned.

Galan singled over short with one out in the home sixth and this brought on the rumpus that put the Cubs back into a tie. O'Dea furnished a single to right, Galan taking third. Three strikes removed Demaree but Allen pasted the first pitch for a single to left, Galan scoring. Cavaretta drilled a single into center field territory, O'Dea counting and Allen moving to third. Baker halted the activity by fanning Lillard.

NELLIE FLAG HAS TOUGH SPOT FOR COMEBACK RACE

She'll Meet Myrtlewood in $5,000 Handicap.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Let it never be said that Trainer Bert Williams picked a soft spot for the comeback of Warren Wright's great mare, Nellie Flag, if he goes ahead with his plans to start her in the $5,000 Hawthorne Spring handicap next Saturday afternoon.

It may be Nellie's own fault that she finds herself in this spot, because her training drills during the last fortnight have been so sensational that Trainer Williams could do nothing else but give her a chance, and this was the first stake engagement to come up.

Myrtlewood at Top of Form.

Had she postponed her sizzling spurts of speed just another week she would not have had to meet in this first engagement Myrtlewood, world record breaking mare from Kentucky, and other seasoned sprinters that are campaigning in the west. To make the situation even more alarming, Myrtlewood is coming here at the top of condition, fresh from a victory she scored in the Quickstep handicap at Latonia.

In the Quickstep Myrtlewood showed the same lightning speed that caused world records to fall last year.

At that, Myrtlewood may find Nellie Flag no bargain even if the latter has been away from the races for more than a year. At Hawthorne the other morning Nellie Flag caused more than one railbird to topple off his perch when she reeled off five-eighths of a mile in 59 seconds. She then went on to round out three-quarters of a mile in 1:13.

Nellie Can Go Faster.

That was in a workout mind you, and horses of Nellie Flag's type run faster in actual competition than they do in their training drills. Such speed likely will cause much dizziness among the horses who attempt to keep step with her.

It is a painstaking job for the trainer to bring a horse as valuable as Nellie Flag back to the races after a layoff of a year. She is all but worth her weight in gold as a brood mare, but, of course, will be much more valuable if she makes a successful comeback and again shows the brilliant form she did earlier in her career.

The real nerve wracking part comes at this stage of the ordeal. The horse has demonstrated she is as fleet as ever. To all appearances she is sound. But will that anxiousness to win a hard battle bring back the old ailments? That's what the owners and trainers would like to know.

Wiater Faces Lomski in Ten Round Battle

Shows Tonight

At Marigold Gardens—Adolph Wiater vs. Leo Lomski [10], heavyweights.

At White City—Jack [Bad Boy] Brown vs. Frank Malcewicz, one fall, 60 minute time limit [wrestling].

At Johnny Coulon club—Eight amateur boxing matches.

Leo Lomski will resume his comeback campaign tonight in a ten round bout with Adolph Wiater, 1933 Green Bay, Wis., Golden Gloves semi-finalist, at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

Sy Vester, Milwaukee, Wis., light heavyweight, will oppose Floyd McNulty, Chicago, in a four round preliminary match. Ritchie Howell, former Danville, Ill., sectional Golden Gloves bantamweight champion, will make his professional debut in four rounds against Sonny Batson. Other contests at four rounds involve Ambrose Geohagen and Chet Le Vere, light heavyweights, and Willie Davies and Ralph [Moose] Davis, heavyweights.

Jack [Bay Boy] Brown, Shreveport, La., and Frank Malcewicz, Utica, N. Y., two of the best showmen in the light heavyweight wrestling ranks, tonight will meet in the main bout at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. They will wrestle for 60 minutes or one fall. Paul Shikat will encounter Jack Ross in the semi-windup. Preliminary matches include one between Whitey Walberg and Bill Brooks. . . .

Bob Wiley, popular south side bantamweight, and Joe Daughton will head the amateur show tonight at the Johnny Coulon club, 1154 East 63d street. One of seven preliminary contests will bring together George Van and Lewis Campbell, rival heavyweights. . . .

Black Bass Run on Schedule in Lake Geneva, Wis.

BY BOB BECKER.

The black bass in Lake Geneva, Wis., one of the best close-in lakes for northern Illinois fishermen, are running right on schedule. According to information just received from F. M., an experienced Lake Geneva angler who lives on the lake, it's a sight to see the big fellows on their spawning beds, swimming around the piers and in close to the shore. If anglers who think there are no bass in Lake Geneva could see the old bronze backs in shallow water they soon would be convinced that this big lake has some real fish.

So far this season Lake Geneva hasn't produced any considerable amount of sport with pickerel or northern pike. But there never is a great deal of activity around the lake until the bass season opens up. [The date is June 20.] The pike or pickerel haven't been hitting well, and strong winds have hampered the boys in prospecting for fish and in actual fishing, too. F. M. informs us that the white bass run hasn't been as good as those of former years, although we can't understand why, since reports from Oshkosh tell of a heavy run of white bass continuing through the end of May.

If the small mouth bass started to spawn in Lake Geneva some days ago, conditions should be right for fishing the latter part of the month. We have hit Lake Geneva the end of June, when on quiet evenings we could follow the shore line and cast it to get some fine fish. This means going to the lake before the bass have moved out into deep water. It also means more sport as far as our fishing is concerned, since when the bass are along the shore in fairly shallow water we can cast either with a bait casting or fly rod and get fish, instead of dropping a lure way down deep to the bars—a practice that must be followed when the hot weather comes.

Pansy's First to Run Today at Hawthorne

Named as a starter in the Lake Forest purse fashioned for 2 year old fillies this afternoon is Pansy's First, the first daughter of Pansy Walker, great racing mare of a few years back. Pansy's First, like her mother, is owned by the Waggoner Brothers Three D's stock farm of Texas.

Chicagoans will get another glimpse of Morris Vehon's good 3 year old filly Threadneedle today in the Flossmore purse. The daughter of Reigh Count-Mally Jane will go against older horses in the mile and a sixteenth dash.

Several big shipments of horses will reach Arlington Park this week. They will come from Belmont Park in New York. Belmont's meeting ended on Saturday.

Challite, the sensational Chicago 2 year old, owned by H. H. Cross' Tranquility farm stable, will be returned from Detroit today. She ran a spectacular race there Saturday to win the St. Clair stakes, and some who witnessed the race are picking her as the best 2 year old in the west.

Howard Wells, well known Kentucky trainer and graduate of Princeton, is to be the speaker at the Horsemen's Social and Education college session at Hawthorne this morning. Wells trains the extensive string owned by Howard Oots of Kentucky.

NATIONAL CLAY COURTS TOURNEY TO OPEN SUNDAY

Frankie Parker, former Milwaukee schoolboy, will be seeking his second title when he competes in the national clay court tournament at the River Forest Tennis club which starts Sunday and continues for a week. Parker was winner in 1933, beating George Lott in the final.

Bryan Grant is the only star of recent years who has been able to win the championship more than once. Grant won in 1930, 1934, and 1935. Grant will be in Europe with the Davis cup squad and loses his chance for a fourth victory.

Delaine Farm Wins 8 Events at Horse Show

Settling of stake championships featured the second and final day of the Hinsdale Horse show yesterday at the Oak Brook Polo club before an overflow crowd.

A real battle developed for the five gaited saddle horse title, which found the pick of the middle western performers in the ring. The winner's trophy finally went to Dicky Dhu, Delaine farm brown gelding from Glenview, which was given the edge over The Rotarian from Mills Brothers' stables at St. Charles.

Indiana scored twice when Safe Home, owned and entered by Dr. P. O. Bonham, Indianapolis, took the blue in the bareback jumping class and came back to capture second in the open jumpers event. The Niece, owned by Floyd Rudecker, Wauwatosa, Wis., was awarded first place.

Delaine farm repeated with Gay Highway in taking the title for three gaited saddle horses to give this stable the distinction of landing eight firsts and top honors at the show.

Mrs. F. M. Huebner's Provost was the individual star. This bay gelding was undefeated in four events it entered and climaxed its show record by winning the championship Hunters' stake. Pandora, a post entry, upset calculations in annexing the open stake championship for jumpers, the final event on the program. Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., Lake Forest, who rode the winner, drew cheers from the crowd upon returning to competition after suffering a spill Saturday.

COOPER'S DEFEAT ATTRIBUTED TO USUAL BAD LUCK

Golfers Praise Chicago Star's Play.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Short Hills, N. J., June 7.—The name of Anthony [Tony] Manero of the Greensboro, N. C., Maneros today was officially inscribed on the roll of national open golf champions, following his record smashing victory of yesterday at the Baltusrol club, and simultaneously another name was being set down in the unwritten tome of those who knock at the big door year after year, but are never admitted.

The name is that of Harry Cooper of Chicago, but a revision is being made today. No longer is it Light Horse Harry Cooper. It's now Hard Luck Harry, and none said nay when the Chicagoan this morning was unanimously elected president of golf's jinx guild. Other distinguished officials of this unhappy fraternity are MacDonald Smith, Bobby Cruickshank, Craig Wood, Wiffy Cox, Joe Turnesa, and Ralph Guldahl.

Eleven Years of Trying.

While the stragglers leaving Baltusrol this morning were convinced that the dapper Manero's final round of 67 for a new 72 hole record of 282 will stand up as the most courageous finish the open has seen in years, they were not overlooking the all too obvious fact that if ever a man deserved to win on the golf he played, it was Cooper.

Manero's four foot putt on the last green cut another notch in Cooper's jinx record. Eleven years of fighting for the national open have rewarded Harry with nothing more than two second places. Tommy Armour tied him in the 1927 meet and then defeated him in the play-off. Two years ago at Merion he came out of nowhere to tie for third place. Two months ago he had the prized Masters' title in his hands until the 70th hole, but Horton Smith took it from him there. It was on this same hole yesterday that Manero won the crown that he himself has striven after for ten consecutive years.

Deny Cooper Cracked.

Why did Cooper lose? Was it the three shots on which he overreached par on the last five holes? And were those three missed strokes the result of the pressure hammering against his brain and limbs? Those who would suggest that Harry faltered on his finishing five can get an argument from now on from two gents who have been to the wars themselves—Walter Hagen and Tom Armour. Hagen and Armour last night were both incensed by the suggestion that Cooper had cracked, and made their praises of his golf and his finish fulsome and plain.

Gallery Out of Control.

If Cooper should want to lay the blame for the lost three strokes that would have beaten Manero to any one source [and he made no effort to do so after it was over last night], it would be the most uncontrolled gallery that the open has seen in years. While he was coming down the stretch, Harry received no help whatsoever from the marshals in fighting his way through the crowd. His only aid came from Eddie Gayer, pro of Chicago's Twin Orchards club, Mrs. Tommy Armour, and Mrs. Bobby Cruickshank. By the time he reached the last three holes, he had taken one of the worst physical buffetings any tournament golfer ever received.

The only other mishap that might have overtaken Cooper would have been to have his pocket picked in the teeming thousands who shoved him about as though he were a spectator instead of the leader of the field. Some thoughtful soul in the gallery spared Harry that misfortune, and chose instead to relieve Cooper's playing partner, Leslie Madison of Hollywood, Cal., of his wallet and watch at the 17th hole.

Marshals Come to Life.

Without detracting from Manero's victory, he received all of the attention that both he and Cooper deserved from the police corps of the course. The marshals who had lolled in the crowd while Cooper fought his way through the crush suddenly realized when Manero stood on the last tee that there was a function attached to the gaudy badges on their sleeves and lapels. They performed excellently, clearing a lane so wide that if Tony had hooked or sliced his drive, the ball would not have struck a spectator. But the marshal's swinging and shouting efficiency was too tardy to help Cooper then.

Six Chicagoans qualified automatically for next year's open at Detroit by shooting or bettering the qualifying limit of 296 for the first thirty and ties in the tournament. They were Cooper, Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Tommy Armour of Medinah, Horton Smith of Oak Park, and Dick Metz of the Mill Road Farm course.

Some idea of the scoring in the event, which enabled both Manero and Cooper to crack the old record, may be gleaned from the fact that during the three days' siege of Baltusrol, thirty-eight players broke par, and twenty-four tied it.

HA! YOU SEEM TO FORGET WHERE HECTOR'S BEEN FOR THE PAST SIX MONTHS.
HE'S BEEN IN JAIL.
YAS, FOR WHAT HE DONE TO ANOTHER WRESTLER FOR THROWING HIM OUT OF THE RING. THEY HAD TO USE A SEWING MACHINE TO STITCH UP THE POOR FELLOW'S HEAD.
BUT IF YOU WANT TO THROW HIM OUT, THAT'S YOUR BUSINESS.
THROW WHO OUT?
NOBODY. I WAS JUST LYING A LITTLE TO MAMIE.

DIZZY DEAN WINS 11TH AS CARDS BEAT GIANTS, 6-3

Three Runs in Seventh Whip Schumacher.

St. Louis, Mo., June 7.—(AP)—With only a day's rest Dizzy Dean returned to the mound today and pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6 to 3 victory over the New York Giants. Dizzy routed the Giants, 9 to 2, Friday in the first of a four game series and his victory today increased the Red Birds' first place margin over New York to three full games.

Dean was given good support in the field today and his mates pounded Hal Schumacher for ten hits, finally driving him to cover in the seventh, during which they broke a 3 to 3 tie with a three run rally. Fitzsimmons replaced him. The victory was Dean's 11th triumph of the season. Score:

YANKS WIN FROM INDIANS ON HOME RUN IN 16TH, 5-4

New York, June 7.—(AP)—Charley Ruffing and George Selkirk combined today to beat the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 4, in a 16 inning struggle, and stretch the Yankees' American league lead to two and a half games.

Ruffing, pitching ten hit ball, hit a homer with one on in the third to give the Yanks an early lead, which Cleveland wiped out with three runs in the fourth.

Selkirk stepped up to the plate with two out in the 16th and smashed out a home run to break up the game. Oral Hildebrand pitched all the way for the Indians.

Three Army Officers Win Olympic Pentathlon Places

Rye, N. Y., June 7.—(AP)—Three regular army officers, Lieuts. Charles A. Leonard and Frederick A. Weber of the infantry, and Alfred D. Starbird of the engineers, won places on the United States Olympic modern pentathlon team today as the three day tryout was concluded with the riding test in connection with the Westchester Horse show. An artilleryman, Lieut. Charles Symroski, was named as alternate.

French to Face Chuck Klein and Phillies Today

The Phillies, who include in their ensemble a fellow named Chuck Klein, will be present today for the opener of a three game set with the Cubs. Larry French will endeavor to handle the pitching this afternoon and probably will be opposed by Buck Walter.

Stanley Hack, plunked in the right eye by a practice grounder Saturday, may be forced to rest for a couple more days. Bill Jurges, the other cripple, was back yesterday after two days away from the field, but his ailing right elbow has shown only slight improvement.

Galan came close to giving Geraghty an extra base drive in the seventh and none was out at the time. Galan came racing in for a liner and it started to sail over his head, but he leaped, threw his gloved hand into the air and made the catch.

scoring Foxx, but was out, Kreevich to Piet, trying to reach second. Haas made a nice catch of Rick Ferrell's liner.

Gets Homer with Bases Full.

There was no more scoring until Kreevich's big act in the sixth. Radcliff opened with his second single and stopped at second on Piet's third hit, a single to center. The runners moved up on Haas' sacrifice, and Bonura was given an intentional pass, to fill the bases. Kreevich ran the count to two balls and two strikes, then knocked his second homer of the series and the fourth of the season over the left field wall, scoring behind Radcliff, Piet and Bonura. W. Ferrell threw out Sewell.

With two out in the seventh Piet beat out a single for his fourth hit in as many times at bat and stole second. Tony scored on Haas' single to left. McNair made a fine play to get Bonura.

Mr. Ferrell Is Annoyed.

Kreevich opened the eighth with a double off the wall in left center, his third hit. Hayes walked and Wes Ferrell retired from duty. Cascarella went in to pitch and Dykes popped to McNair. Sewell singled to left, scoring Kreevich and when the ball got past Manush, Hayes took third and Sewell second. Lyons was called out on strikes, but Radcliff tripled to center, scoring Hayes and Sewell. Piet supplied his first out of the day with a smash to Cascarella.

M'QUINN BREAKS AUTO RECORDS AT RIVERVIEW

Four track records were lowered last night at the Riverview Auto speedway. Three of them were set by Harry McQuinn of Los Angeles, who won the thirty lap feature race in the record time of 9:54.

Fourteen cars started in the main event. McQuinn led from the start to finish, though he was challenged repeatedly by Carl Peterson, Jimmy Snyder and Marshall Lewis. Lewis took second money and Snyder third.

Summaries:

FIRST RACE [8 laps]—Won by Harry Macquinn; Art Hartsfeld, second; Jimmy Snyder, third; Carl Peterson, fourth. Time, 2:24.

SECOND RACE [8 laps]—Won by Ralph McDaniels; Chuck Niesel, second; Pat Warren, third; Ted Johnson, fourth. Time, 2:29.

THIRD RACE [8 laps]—Won by Marshall Lewis; Johnny Wasem, second; Jimmy Blitz, third; Johnny Sawyer, fourth. Time, 2:41.

FOURTH RACE [8 laps], handicap—Won by Carl Peterson; Ralph McDaniels, second; Jimmy Snyder, third; Harry Macquinn, fourth. Time, 2:25.

FIFTH RACE [6 laps]—Won by Harry Macquinn; Jimmy Snyder, second; Shorty Sorenson, third; Art Hartsfeld, fourth. Time, 1:53.

SIXTH RACE [City team match]—Chicago won 5 heats to 4.

SEVENTH RACE [4 laps]—Won by Carl Peterson; Jimmy Snyder, second; Ralph McDaniels, third; Shorty Sorenson, fourth. Time, 1:48.

EIGHTH RACE [30 laps]—Won by Harry Macquinn; Marshall Lewis, second; Chuck Niesel, third; Jimmy Snyder, fourth; Johnny Sawyer, fifth. Time, 9:54.

Everett Rice of Chicago last night won the feature race at the Chicago Midget speedway, Lincoln and Devon. Rice qualified on the pole, won the first elimination heat, and captured the thirty lap feature after a tussle with Ray Richards of Highland Park and Ted Tetterton. Results:

FIRST RACE [10 laps]—Won by Rice; O'Rourke, second. Time, 3:11.

SECOND RACE [10 laps]—Won by Richards; Tetterton, second. Time, 3:20.

THIRD RACE [10 laps]—Won by Bruce; Hoyt, second. Time, 3:21.

FOURTH RACE [10 laps]—Won by McClory; Al Sherman, second. Time, 3:26.

FIFTH RACE—[10 laps]—Won by Rice; Richards, second. Time, 3:5.

SIXTH RACE [39 laps]—Won by Rice; Richards, second; Tetterton, third. Time, 9:21.

Japanese Olympic Track Team Leaves for Europe

TOKIO, June 7.—(AP)—Japan's Olympic track and field team departed for Europe tonight after worshipping at the Meiji shrine, where they asked divine aid, and paying homage to Emperor Hirohito from the plaza in front of the palace. They will arrive at Helsingfords, Finland, June 23.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

THREE YEAR OLD CHAMPION.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 17.—[Special.]—By virtue of victory in the Belmont stakes Saturday, Granville, son of Gallant Fox, takes rank as leading candidate for 3 year old honors of 1936 despite three hard luck seconds and a riderless Kentucky Derby in previous efforts.

It's strange, of course, to count out Bold Venture which has beaten Granville but how may one include a colt which has retired? If Bold Venture must be taken into title consideration, it would be as champion emeritus.

Nor is Granville's primacy lashed to the mast. This Belmont was 1½ miles. Arlington's classic, next on the major stake list, is 1¼ miles. As they raced Saturday Mr. Bones, which ran such a creditable second to Granville, would have won. One could not help admiring his courage in setting the pace for nearly the whole route, with time bordering on a stake record, and still having enough left to require camera proof to show whether or not Granville has overhauled him.

Brevity is out of the reckoning unless the unexpected happens and the unexpected frequently does happen on the turf. Perhaps Brevity has had too much. Perhaps he was overrated because the opposition to him in Florida was so futile. The Wake liked this handsome fellow for the Kentucky Derby which we still think he would have won with an even break with Bold Venture in luck. But perhaps you recall the Wake was not at all sure a second meeting would reverse the result, feeling that Brevity was at his peak in Louisville, and that opportunity went into the discard.

So far as the Belmont was concerned, there was not much to be said of those which finished behind the first two, Granville and Mr. Bones.

Betting in New York.

Pari-mutuel betting is agin the law in New York so speculation is with bookmakers who by some legal fiction are allowed to quote prices and accept wagers.

But you do not get a ticket for your money. Here's the operation: bookies have stands as in the old days of open bookmaking with slates posted showing the odds. Betters hand in their money and the wager is recorded by the sheet writer. Either the block man or the chap taking the money notes the number of the better's admission badge—all admission badges have individual numbers. If his Gee Gee wins, the speculator identifies himself for the payoff with the cashier by his badge number.

Back in the days of old Washington Park when wagering was tolerated but not legal, a somewhat different plan prevailed. Odds were posted on a program held by a bookie on a stool, center of a little cluster of his fellows. Betters after posting their money received a ticket, but it didn't tell anything. It was numbered, however, and the number identified it with the notation on the sheet writer's record.

This Wake is conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff. Help! Help!

* *

Is Booking Profitable?

Considering their expenses, the Wake wondered whether bookmaking at metropolitan tracks is profitable. Inquiry drew conflicting statements with moans in the majority.

Cut-ins, which must be approved as to the reliability of the layer, usually are for a week. Price is $75 per day, with $15 extra if a seventh race is offered, as well as fees for scratch and entry information, stationery, etc., so the total charges on this score run about $100 per day. In addition, six admission tickets for the crew must be purchased for cash.

With a crew of six receiving salaries, the expense roughly may be placed at $200 per day although the amount varies, of course, according to whether the bookie is a large or small operator. We were told that some of them operate with their help on the "hot" and "cold" basis—generous compensation when winner and small compensation or nothing when loser.

* *

These Big Tracks.

Perhaps it's because we're from the middle west, but we cannot become enthusiastic about Belmont Park from a spectator's viewpoint. It has a large stand, apparently larger than Arlington Park, it is beautifully landscaped with shrubbery and an infield lake—BUT the racing oval is 1½ miles around. That makes the horses farther away on their journeys and harder to see even with glasses.

The straightaway traverses the infield diagonally. At the start of the National Stallion stakes, Saturday, 5 furlongs, the juveniles were farther from the stand than at any point of the track proper.

Perhaps we're old-fashioned but for observation purposes we like that old mile oval on which the Kentucky Derby is contested. Such choice does not take into consideration technical advantages, if any, of the larger ovals, such as wider turns, therefore less chance for interference which has spoiled so many races within the year.

KENOSHA RIDER WINS MAIN EVENT OF BICYCLE MEET

Jerry Guttormsen of Kenosha, Wis., won the 22 mile race, feature of a program of 10 events sponsored by the Henry playground wheelmen at the Humboldt park road course yesterday. Guttormsen defeated Al Byrd in a fast finish. A field of more than 50 was entered.

Harold and George Marks, brothers of the North American A. A. finished first and second in the Class A and Class B race, while Lou Porterfield of the Henry playground Wheelmen won the girls' race.

The Henry playground Wheelmen scored nine points to win the meet, one more than the North American Cycle club and Kenosha, which tied for second.

BONDS STRONG DESPITE VAST U. S. FINANCING

Existing Obligations Are Not Disturbed.

New York, June 7.—(AP)—The bond market demonstrated its underlying strength anew last week by absorbing the largest peace-time government offering in history without material disturbance to existing obligations.

Oversubscribing by several times the treasury's cash offering of $1,000,000,000 at record low interest rates, investors were forced to go back into the listed market to round out portfolios toward the end of the week, when it was announced that allotments of the new bonds and notes would be only around 14 to 15 per cent on amounts over $5,000.

At the same time the treasury revealed that all but about $100,000,000 of the maturing obligations, totaling $1,050,754,400, had been exchanged for the new securities involved in the June 15 financing.

Treasury in Strong Position.

This relatively small amount of cash required to pay off those who elected to receive it left the treasury with an excellent cash position to meet whatever exigency might arise in dealing with the somewhat unknown quantity of veterans' bonus bonds that will be converted immediately upon distribuiton.

A threatening economic and political situation in several European countries, particularly France, and a sudden lowering of war clouds in the orient brought modest liquidation and sharp declines in a number of foreign dollar bonds. This had an unsettling effect on domestic corporate issues of a speculative character, but high grade investment ratings held their own and even advanced, some to new high levels.

Lull in Corporate Financing.

Formal offerings of new bonds amounted to around $50,000,000 during the week, exclusive of government offerings. This compared with new offerings of $116,532,000 the previous week, and $75,854,000 in the same week last year. Utility issues comprised the chief group.

If developments in Europe and elsewhere abroad show signs of improving in the coming week investment quarters expect a rather sizable total of new securities to reach the market in the period. Foremost among projected items of financing is the $83,000,000 Federal Land Bank 3s scheduled for Thursday. Also, if all is well, an issue of $60,000,000 Southern Pacific 3¾s probably will be brought out.

ASSERTS RELIEF PAY CAUSES JOBS TO GO BEGGING

Contractor Says Workers Prefer WPA Loafing.

Baltimore, Md., June 7.—(AP)—W. A. Klinger of Sioux City, Ia., president of the Associated General Contractors of America, complained today of a continuation of "attractive" government relief wages is causing workmen to refuse other jobs and blocking recovery.

"Once again," Klinger asserted in an article in the Manufacturers Record, "the government makes it impossible for private industry to recover."

He said a year ago "wide publicity" was given assurances by the President that relief wages would be lowered so the work would not be made attractive but "not so wide has been the publicity concerning the retraction of that statement."

He contended the relief pay scale gives the workman his choice of "working" under a contractor or "actually loafing under WPA with steady time."

"The workman is not a fool," he said. "He makes the choice you and I would make. The private contractor cannot stand government WPA competition for the services of the workman and the situation becomes unbearable."

He said if the men were put to work under contractors, "their self respect will be returned to them by competition with their fellow men, and the result will be a building up of the morale or a severance from the payroll."

Klinger said the "most serious development" of the last year was the setting up of a government bureau to handle Public Works with day labor instead of letting the jobs out through contractors. He called upon the contractors to "deny responsibility for, or association with, that part of the Public Works program not being put through the regularly organized channels by the contract system."

U. S. MAY RAISE SURPLUS WHEAT TO SELL ABROAD

Problem Will Be to Find Buyers.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Many weeks remain before it can be definitly determined whether the United States will be in a position to export wheat this season. The prospect at the present time, however, is more favorable than it has been for some weeks. The crop situation suggests that the harvest may produce a moderate surplus for sale abroad if the buyers can be found.

The world wheat outlook is not particularly promising from a marketing viewpoint. Although poor crop conditions in some countries suggest the possibility of greater demand in the world market, exisiting international trade restrictions and the crippled financial condition of many nations, normally importers, do not make a promising picture.

European Trade Controled.

The foreign trade of a majority of the European nations is under rigid governmental control. The emphasis is placed on the need for expanding exports and cutting down on foreign purchases. This condition has obtained for several years and up to this time no corrective steps have been taken.

Government authorities, concerned over unfavorable trade balances, are still tightening the national belts. Export subsidies, tarifs, and other trade restrictions have been employed.

The international wheat advisory committee, with headquarters in London, estimates the world export demand for the crop year beginning next August will be about 525 million bushels. The average for the period 1927-'31 was 800 millions annually and for the period 1922-'27 it was 770 millions.

May Revive Wheat Pact.

There is some talk of reviving the international wheat treaty, which suffered a premature death in 1934 when Argentina repudiated the pact. The frame work of the treaty is still in existence and might conceivably be used as the basis for a new agreement.

But there appears to be no more reason why the signatory nations of the old pact should now be able to remain in agreement than two years ago. An agreement may be beneficial to a majority of the nations but there is always some country which feels that it will be better off acting on its own. With one important country playing a lone hand an international agreement is a futile gesture.

Problem in Finding Market.

Even if the United States does produce sufficient wheat to have an export surplus, there will remain the problem of finding a market. Last year the United States was an importing country, bringing in 30 million bushels of Canadian wheat for consumption. If this is reversed and the United States has 30 million bushels to sell, it will mean that the world market will have 60 million more bushels to absorb than in 1935.

The price of wheat in Chicago last week underwent slight change but the market had a firmer tone because of the unfavorable crop reports from the northwestern states.

Range of Prices for Week.

The following table shows the week's range in prices:

Business Man Takes Eccles for a Mild Ride

R. W. MORRISON.
[Acme Photo.]

During the two months of his association with the federal reserve board, from which he has just resigned as governor, Ralph W. Morrison, Texas utility operator and number one contributor to the 1932 Democratic campaign fund, all but destroyed the august and dignified character of that body, according to insiders.

The other governors of the reserve board like to regard it as a "supreme court of finance" and pattern their conversation and attitudinize accordingly. Not so with Mr. Morrison. He viewed it as a job to be done like any other business proposition. Away with the fol-de-rol, and cut to the heart of the matter. If a little profanity be required to emphasize a point, well, what of it?

His more formal associates were jarred and chagrined, according to word from Washington, when Morrison, in reply to Chairman Marriner S. Eccles' question as to what he thought of a proposal Eccles had just made, replied, "I think it's a lot of damn nonsense."

The statement of Chester Davis, former AAA administrator, that the United States cannot regain her foreign markets for some commodities regardless of government action is winning applause from those who have been critical in the past of Davis' diagnoses of farm problems.

The following is the comment of Thomas Y. Wickham, Chicago grain man, on the Davis declaration. "Confession should be good for the soul. I have contended for 15 years that all this farm relief legislation was for the benefit of politicians and farm leaders and that its only effect on agriculture is to destroy foreign demands for its products. . . . If Davis' European survey results in lifting farm laws from the back of the farmer he will have performed a great service to his country."

Economic adversity seemingly holds no fears for one Pullman porter, working a run between Chicago and the Pacific coast. Pulling into Los Angeles recently, a passenger asked his porter if he weren't planning a pretty good time during his lay over, inasmuch as his home was in Chicago.

"Ah cert'nly am," the porter replide, "but dat boy up ahead ain't. He got a wife and three children in Chicago and a wife and four children here. No mattah which way he goin' he goin' home."

An inexperienced stereopticon machine operator turned several active workmen into flat-on-their-back Works Progress administration "workers" at a recent meeting of the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Benjamin F. Betts of the Purdue research foundation of Purdue university was giving an illustrated talk on housing experiments at Lafayette. A picture showing several men busy with shovels was by mistake put into the stereopticon sideways. The workmen were shown resting comfortably on their spinal columns.

"WPA workers hard at work" shouted an architect, and while other architects yelled approval of the comment, the flustered Purdue professor ordered the operator to turn the film and put the loafers on their feet.

'Depression Behind Us,' Head of Credit Men Says

Richmond, Va., June 7.—(AP)—P. M. Haight of New York, president of the National Association of Credit Men here to attend the association's annual convention, expressed the view today that "the depression is behind us and recovery promises to continue through the year. The clearest indication," he said, "is in the continually improving failure record."

Remington-Rand Strike at Marietta Ends Today

Marietta, O., June 7.—(AP)—Walter E. Gerhart, general superintendent of the Remington-Rand plant here, announced tonight the 125 workers out on strike for two weeks had voted unanimously to return to their jobs tomorrow morning.

STOCK TRADING SLOWS ALMOST TO STANDSTILL

Political Situation Serves as Brake.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 7.—Bewildered by political trends, both at home and abroad, the share market has all but come to a standstill. On no day of the last week did trading volume approximate as much as 800,000 shares, and Saturday's turnover of 253,710 shares was the lightest since last June 29.

Except on Thursday, when the "averages" sold off a little more than a point, prices have hardly moved since the first of the month. The net change in the index on fifty representative issues swung only 29 cents on Monday, 33 cents on Thursday, 14 on Wednesday, 29 on Friday, and 50 yesterday. The net effect of the week's give-and-take operations was a decline of barely one-half point in the general market levels.

"Red Ink" for Brokers.

This admittedly means "red ink" for brokerage concerns, and market letter comment reflects considerable discouragement over the market's failure to continue its recovery from the April-May setback, which was diagnosed in many quarters as nothing more than a technical readjustment after the prolonged advance of neary thirteen months.

Especially have many observers been disappointed over the failure of the trading fraternity to take appreciable notice of the continued favorable tone to the business statistics on such lines as steel, railroad transportation, electricity output, and car sales. While the figures have reflected the regular seasonal letdown in some measure, there has been no marked recession in any industry, it is pointed out, and week-end comment indicates a general opinion that next month's "slackness" will not be so pronounced as some earlier forecasts had indicated.

Situation in France.

The main concern as the week went out was with the critical situation in France, including the general strike crippling industry and threatening the nation's peace and the renewed heavy flight of gold and capital from the country. Sentiment in the street seemed to be that whatever solution the new Blum government might have for its problems, it will involve at least a partial brake on the gold standard.

On the home front the threat of another four years of the "New Deal," with its antagonism to big business, continued to raise misgivings of this country's future. Congress' failure to wind up the long pending tax legislation and make a move to shut down and go home was a disappointment and was credited with some measure of the selling in the stock market.

Seen Bullish Factor.

Heading into the new week, the market will have the Republican convention to contend with, but commission house opinion seems to be that this will be a bullish factor in the situation, if it has any effect at all. Soldier bonus money will begin to find its way into trade channels within the next few days also.

The new week's calendar is crowded with important board meetings for dividend action, which may have some appreciable effect on trading sentiment. Monday is the probable date for Detroit Edison, Industrial Rayon, United Fruit, and White Rock; Tuesday, American Brake Shoe, Carriers and General, Howe Sound, Lambert, and Universal Leaf; Wednesday, Air Reduction [on the new stock], Midland Steel Products, Pacific Gas and Electric, Pond Creek; Thursday, Devoe & Raynolds; Friday, General Electric and Westinghouse Air Brake.

BUSINESS OF ROBBING BANKS SO POOR RISK RATES ARE REDUCED

New York, June 7.—(AP)—So uneconomic has the bank robber's business become, the National Bureau of Casualty and Survey Underwriters announced today, that tomorrow rates of insurance against such criminals are coming down by 20 per cent in thirty-five states. The reduction, said the bureau, will mean a saving of nearly $250,000 annually to insured banks.

The improvement in the situation was attributed by the bureau to two factors: First, a rule, promulgated two years ago, requiring banks to keep 85 per cent of their insured money under delayed time lock; and second, the "increased activities of the various law enforcement agencies, particularly those of the United States department of justice, which have made bank robbery "an increasingly undesirable business."

Not sharing in the rate reduction are New York, the New England states—Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia—because, said the announcement, they already get the lowest available rate and have had continued "favorable experience" with thugs.

WESTERN ROADS TO SPEND $300,000 IN NEWSPAPERS

The Western Association of Railway Executives yesterday announced that railroads of the western world spend $300,000 on newspaper advertising from July to September. Advertisments will be placed in 851 daily and 6,036 weekly papers "in the western area," Harry G. Taylor, chairman of the association, said. Every newspaper in the region will be used in the campaign.

The money will be spent, Taylor said, in continuance of "the joint newspaper advertising campaign which last year was credited, in a large measure, with the unprecedented increase in passenger trafic throughout the west."

"With an increase of nearly 50 per cent in the air conditioned equipment of the western railroads, with low fares an outstanding attraction to travel, and with the appearance, almost weekly, of new streamlined speed trains throughout the west, the western railroads have a very definite story of progress to tell the people of America," Taylor declared.

Ship Arrives from France with $21,000,000 Gold

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—The Cunard White Star liner Georgic arrived today from Europe bringing from France 385 boxes of gold valued at about $21,000,000. The specie was landed at West 14th street and taken to the New York Federal Reserve bank.

LOUISIANA AND ARKANSAS RAIL BONDS ARE SOLD

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—The first Boston corporation and Riter & Co. each have bought and sold privately a block of first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series A, due in 1969, of the Louisiana and Arkansas Railway company. These bonds have been held in the railway company's treasury and are part of an issue traded in on the New York Stock exchange.

The company's main line extends from New Orleans to Hope, Ark. Operating revenue for the first four months of this year amounted to $1,791,536, compared wwith $1,425,848 for the corresponding period of 1935. Net income after all interest and rents for the first four months of 1936 amounted to $173,086, against $42,778 the year before.

Dr. John Lee Coulter Made Adviser to Manufacturers

Washington, D. C., June 7.—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers announced today the appointment of Dr. John Lee Coulter, former tarif commission member, as economic adviser to its committee on agricultural coöperation. He will make a study of farm buying power, labor and population trends, and other agricultural problems, the association said.

DEMAND FOR SUMMER APPAREL INCREASES BUSINESS IN CHICAGO

Retail business in Chicago continued to improve last week, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Heavy demands for summer apparel, special sales by several large department stores and further replacement of obsolete house furnishings combined to boost sales volume.

Wholesale houses and mail order firms also shared in the activity. Despite reports of crop damage in the southwest, rural areas continued to buy.

Early payment of the bonus is also said to be helping commercial houses.

25,000 Persons Go Through Streamliner City of Denver

About 15,000 persons yesterday visited the City of Denver, twelve car streamlined passenger train, which the North Western and Union Pacific railroads are exhibiting at the North Western's Madison street station. About 10,000 persons went through the train on Saturday. The streamliner, which will be placed in service on a 16 hour schedule between Chicago and Denver on June 18, will be on exhibition again today.

Biscuit Firms Merged; Rank Fourth in U. S.

Merger of Thinshell Products, Inc., of Chicago, with the Consolidated Biscuit company, forming the fourth largest biscuit company in the United States, was announced yesterday by W. L. Hampton, president of Consolidated Biscuit. This corporation was formed in March through merger of the Davidson Biscuit company, Mount Vernon, Ill., and the Hampton Cracker company, Louisville, Ky.

Hampton will head the new consolidation as president, and J. E. Davidson and Gross T. Williams, who has headed Thinshell company, will be vice presidents. Directors will be Hampton and L. O. Haskins, Louisville, Ky.; Davidson and Ray W. Bundy, Mount Vernon, Ill.; Williams, Martin Cassell, and Grant Gillam, Chicago, and Arthur S. Dewing, Boston.

Merger of Mutual Benefit.

"This merger, creating the fourth largest biscuit organization in the country, will be of mutual benefit to the three units participating," Hampton asserted. "The lines of each supplement those of the others and more unified and efficient operation and distribution will result. The outlook in the biscuit field has not been more promising in many years than it is today."

A financing program in connection with the merger will be undertaken shortly, it was indicated, and will consist of an additional offering of $340,000 of first mortgage bonds and approximately 112,000 shares of common stock of Consolidated Biscuit company. The underwriting group will be headed by F. S. Yantis & Co. of Chicago.

Will List Common Stock.

Directors of the company recently voted to list the common stock on the New York Curb exchange and the Chicago Stock exchange, with trading expected to begin within the next ten days or two weeks.

Combined net sales of the three units, which will now form the enlarged Consolidated Biscuit company, in 1935 amounted to $7,600,000 and net income was $393,000 before charges and taxes. After charges and taxes earnings were equivalent to 92 cents a share on the common stock. In the first three months of 1936 these three units had net sales of $1,800,000 and net income of $140,000, or 34 cents a share.

U. S. Securities Maturing in Year Total 5 Billion

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Obligations of the United States government in the hands of the public which will mature within twelve months amount to $5,057,173,200. They consist of treasury bonds, notes, and noninterest bearing discount bills.

STEEL OUTPUT UP; SHIPMENTS AT HIGH LEVEL

Rate Now 67 Pct. of Plant Capacity.

With shipments of finished steel holding at an unusually high average and most of the current purchasing for immediate consumption, the steelworks operatin rate last week advanced 1 point to 67 per cent of plant capacity, the magazine Steel said yesterday.

"Demand has held up without the impetus of heavy speculative buying following the general price advance for the third quarter," Steel said. "Orders for cold rolled strip, wire rods, plain wire, and merchant wire products are being accepted for next quarter at unchanged prices."

Tool Steel Prices Advance.

The magazine pointed out that tool steel makers have announced increases of 5 to 6 per cent, and increases of about 5 per cent have been scheduled for bolts and nuts. The present price on standard rails, according to the journal, has been extended to the third quarter.

Railroad, structural, agricultural, and miscellaneous specifications served to offset the slow recession in shipments of automotive steel, Steel said. Automobile assemblies dropped to 101,896 units last week, or 6,404 under the preceding week.

Contemplated railroad car orders in the east include one lot of 35,000 tons of plates. The Missouri Pacific placed 10,000 tons of rails and fittings.

Expect Rise in Pig Iron.

"Although pig iron prices are reaffirmed, makers at present have little occasion for quoting," the magazine said. "They are confident of improvement this month, however, as consumer stocks are low. For the first time in several years pig iron is being produced in New England."

Steel works operations in the Chicago district last week rose 2 points to 70 per cent; Youngstown, 1 point to 77 per cent; Buffalo, 3 points to 84 per cent; Cleveland, 6½ points to 82 per cent; Cincinnati, 8 points to 80 per cent. Pittsburgh was down 1 point to 62 per cent; New England, 7 points to 70 per cent; Wheeling, 2 points to 68 per cent. Other districts were unchanged.

Scrap prices continued to decline, dropping 25 cents to $12.79. Steel's iron and steel price composite is off 2 cents to $32.81 because of the change in scrap. The finished steel index remained unchanged at $52.20.

YOUR WILL

THE FEDERAL ESTATE TAX DUE ON A NET ESTATE OF $500,000

Laws in Effect	Tax Due
June 6, 1932 to May 10, 1934	$32,500
May 11, 1934 to Aug. 30, 1935	$49,100
Since Aug. 30, 1935	$70,400

STEADILY, estate taxes have grown during the past five years. Today they are two, four, six times as great as they may have been when your Will was drawn. For example, as shown above, on a $500,000 estate, the taxes now are $70,400 or more than twice those of 1932.

These taxes are due and payable in cash within fifteen months after date of death. They therefore place additional emphasis on two important elements in estate planning.

The first of these elements is liquidity. The need for a large portion of liquid assets is clearly indicated if an estate is to be transferred without sacrifice of holdings. The second element is economy. Substantial savings can often be achieved in probate and other expenses by the establishment of trusts. If your Will was made before the Revenue Act of 1935 became operative, The Northern Trust Company urges you to examine it carefully now, with special attention to these two factors.

The actual re-drawing of your Will is a legal matter requiring the services of your attorney. But The Northern Trust Company will welcome an opportunity to place at your disposal its years of experience as executor-trustee. The officers of this institution are always available for consultation with you and your attorney.

The Northern Trust Company has recently prepared a booklet which you will find of interest. It is entitled, "An Example of Estate Planning." A copy will be sent upon request.

RETAIL GROUP TO OPEN MIDYEAR MEETING TODAY

Expect More than 1,000 Merchants to Attend.

A four day joint midyear conference of the various departments of the National Retail Dry Goods association will be opened in the Palmer house today. More than 1,000 merchant store executives from every part of the country will gather at the annual meeting to discuss problems of store management and merchandising.

Executives of Chicago retail stores and business organizations will take a prominent part in the conferences. Elmer T. Stevens, president of the Charles A. Stevens company will welcome the group to the city and preside as chairman at the opening session this morning.

W. S. Martens, Carson Pirie Scott & Co. credit manager and chairman of the credit management division of the association, will be in charge of the division meeting Tuesday and will serve as co-chairman of the joint session Wednesday.

Madigan to Preside.

George P. Madigan, president of Madigan Brothers, will preside at a smaller store session Tuesday evening; C. G. Hobart, director of service of the Wieboldt Stores, Inc., will be in charge of a joint session of the store management group and the Retail Delivery association the same day.

Archibald MacLeish, controller, Carson Pirie Scott & Co., will talk Thursday morning on the complex problems of taxation. K. E. Armstrong, assistant controller, Marshall Field & Co., will talk on the same problem.

Prof. James Palmer of the Chicago university and A. P. Williams, controller, Mandel Brothers, will be the principal speakers on today's program.

Others to Speak.

Other speakers during the four day session will be Earle Harrison, credit department staf, Marshall Field & Co.; F. J. Lama, manager of receiving and trafic, Mandel Brothers; Martha Douglas, training director, Carson Pirie Scott & Co.; J. P. Toole, general merchandising manager, Wieboldt Stores, Inc.; Paul A. Mertz, training director, Sears Roebuck & Co.; C. E. Eerkes, superintendent, the Davis Stores; R. H. Fogler, vice president, Montgomery Ward & Co., and E. W. Marcellus, personnel director, Wieboldt Stores, Inc.

The newest devices and equipment in accounting and other phases of the operation of retail stores will be displayed at the hotel during the convention.

Compania Swift Internacional.

Investors' Guide: I would like information on Swift International stock.—C. R.

Answer: Compania Swift Internacional [Swift International] was incorporated under laws of the Argentine republic in 1918 to take over the South American and Australian business formerly operated by Swift & Co.

Most of the hides, skins, wool, and fertilizer produced are shipped to the United States. Europe and Great Britain constitute the principal market for beef, mutton, oil, canned meats, and extracts.

Earnings have been relatively stable in recent years, though dropping in 1935 to the smallest figure since 1928. European business was hurt by quota restrictions and low prices. The recent opening up of German markets, however, is expected to be an offsetting influence, according to C. H. Swift, president.

Net income was $5,008,000, or $3.34 a share, in 1935; $6,200,000, or $4.13 a share, in 1934; $5,026,000, or $3.47 a share, in 1933; $5,819,000, or $3.88 a share, in 1932, and $6,611,000, or $4.41 a share, in 1931. These figures are computed on the basis of Argentine gold and do not take foreign exchange into account.

There is no funded debt, and sole capitalization consists of 1,500,000 shares of $15 par stock, which pays dividends of $1 a share semi-annually. It deserves a fairly good rating.

Wisconsin Bankshares.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me some information on Wisconsin Bankshares?—O. T.

Answer: Wisconsin Bankshares corporation was incorporated in 1929 to acquire control of banks, trusts, and other financial institutions in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. At the end of 1935 it controled 11 national and 14 state banks, 3 trust companies, and five other financial institutions.

By a plan of refinancing in 1935, the Reconstruction Finance corporation loaned $4,547,000 to a subsidiary and purchased $13,020,000 preferred stock and capital debentures in subsidiary banks. The loan was cut to $2,971,500 at the end of 1935.

Earnings, as in most banking institutions during recent years, have not been impressive. The record follows:

	Gross income.	Net income.	Income per share.
1935	....$ 7,753,000	$ 536,000	$0.27
1934	 8,691,000	723,000	.37
1933	 9,474,000	713,000	.36
1932	 12,373,000	1,199,000	.61
1931	 14,764,000	2,031,000	1.03

There are 2,000,000 shares of no par stock outstanding.

MORE ORDERS FOR FLOOR COVERING.

Hard surface floor covering is reported moving in better volume on liberal reorders from retailers. Jobbing circles estimate stocks of roll goods and rugs have been depleted by the past month's active retail buying.

BUILDING LOANS IN APRIL TOUCH 6 MONTH PEAK

Associations and Federal Agencies Active.

BY AL CHASE.

New peaks in home loans were reported yesterday for April by federal and other building and loan associations from all over the country. Placing $25,000,000 at the disposal of families building new homes in April, the savings, building and loan associations reached the highest level in six months in their total volume of disbursements for home buying, building, modernization, and refinancing.

MORTON BODFISH.
[Kaufman & Fabry

During the same month new home loans amounting to $16,521,242 were made by federal savings and loan associations. This exceeded the total for any month since federally supervised thrift and home financing institutions were authorized by congress in 1933, according to a monthly statement of 980 reporting associations. This total was 18.9 per cent over March.

More Construction in Prospect.

Morton Bodfish, executive vice president of the United States Building and Loan league, reported that April loans for all purposes were $109,691,000, made to 52,600 families. This was the highest volume of credit extended since last October.

Construction loans in April were 39 per cent higher than in March. Bodfish said that expanding mortgage business by the associations brought about a 15.6 per cent increase in employment in building construction from March to April and a 20.3 per cent gain in pay rolls for the same period. This referred only to privately financed activities and in this field residential building accounted for 44 per cent of the April contracts awarded.

Realty Sales Improve.

The reports also indicated better conditions with regard to available mortgage money and the demand for it. Total loans were 57 per cent higher this April than in April of last year and 23 per cent of the total volume this year went into construction loans, compared with 20 per cent last year.

Y-O-U-R O-W-N B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without one cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shop workers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constant, increasing demand.

Now here are our requirements: You must be under 50, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side of Chicago, northern Indiana, and northeastern Illinois.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and, if selected, will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to this offer as we even pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise, and finance your accounts.

Apply Monday only, between 1 and 3 p. m.

Ask for Mr. Leonard, suite 400, 841 E. 63d-street [1 block east of Cottage Grove].

REGISTRAR

REAL ESTATE—AUCTION.

RECEIVERS' SALE INDIANA FARMS.

The undersigned receivers will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on the premises at 2:00 p. m., central standard time, on Friday, June 12, 1936, the tract of land known as the Homer Cable farm, located one [1] mile east and two miles south of Lowell, Indiana, on what is known as the Nomanson road, which said farm contains approximately 157 acres.

The bidder whose bid is accepted will be required to deposit with the receivers on the day of said sale an amount equal to twenty per cent [20%] of their bid in cash or by certified check, the balance of the bid to be paid in cash within fifteen [15] days on delivery of deed and abstract of title.

The said land will be sold for not less than two-thirds [2-3] of the appraised value thereof, which said appraisal is on file in the Marion Circuit Court, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Receivers reserve the right to reject any and all bids and continue the sale from day to day until the said land is sold, and said sale will be made subject to the approval of the Circuit Court of Marion County, Indiana.

The undersigned receivers will also sell at public auction to the highest bidder at 10 o'clock a. m., central standard time, on the premises the farm known as the Strickland or Van Til farm, located on State Road 2, five miles southwest of Lowell, Indiana, and/or two [2] miles west of State Road 41 on State Road 2, consisting of approximately 273 acres. The farm buildings on said farm are one-half [½] miles north of State Road 2.

The said Strickland or Van Til farm will be sold under the same terms and conditions as the aforesaid Cable farm.

How You Can BORROW at HOUSEHOLD

1. Whether or not you have furniture or a car you can borrow here if you can make regular monthly payments.
2. Payments are small. For example, the first payment on $100 is $8—the last payment is $5.15 on a twenty month schedule. Other amounts in proportion.
3. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
4. You can secure the money quickly—the same day if you apply before 9 o'clock.
5. Rate on loans above $100 is less than the lawful maximum.
6. Repay at any time and reduce the cost.
7. Private offices. Your problem will have our sympathetic attention.
